On the same day, Fray Floris Devotion was begun at St. Mary's, His Grace the Archbishop presiding. The congregation was favored also by a sermon from His Grace, given with his accustomed power of delivery and clearness and beauty of language.

March - The Month of St. Joseph.

The great Saint Joseph having had the singular happiness of being chosen to have the care and guardianship of the Son of God in His infancy and youth, it must needs follow that he will be favorable to young persons, and cherish them tenderly in that age which he saw sanctified by the Son of God.

He served Him in all the necessities of life, to which He was pleased to submit Himself for the love of us; he freed Him from the persecution of His enemies; he cherished Him in His infancy, governed Him in His youth; he saw Him submit to his commands; he was a continual witness and admirer of the graces and virtues appearing from day to day in His tender years, as the sun discovers its light, the nearer it approaches the meridian.

Ought we not, then, to believe that this Saint, who had so much familiarity with Jesus Christ when a child, loves with a singular tenderness the children of Jesus Christ, and particularly those who endeavor to conform themselves to that divine youth by the imitation of His virtues, and that he will be their protector and intercessor before Jesus Christ.

Place, then, your affection upon this great Saint, and honor him with particular respect; take him for your patron and for the protector of your innocence. Daily seek his intercession with great confidence, and above all in your necessities, and you will receive great assistance.

Begin, of him, by the care which he had of the divine infancy of Jesus Christ, that he would persevere your youth from every obstacle that might endanger your salvation, and that he would aid you to retain in your soul that divine Saviour, as he was employed in taking care of Him whilst he was in the world.

CATHOLIC PRESS.

N. Y. Catholic Review.

In devout Catholic homes the Rosary is said at night in common during Lent and a chapter from some pious book like Father Faber's "At the Foot of the Cross" is read aloud. Twice a week the members of the family take turns in attending the public devotional exercises in church.

And here is Lord Dunraven even strongly opposing the Home Rule Bill. But, after all, when did an Irish lord do anything for his country but side with her enemies and, as a rule, rack-rent the poor of his territory?

After the dedication of the new cathedral, solemn High Mass was sung by Rev. M. J. Gearin, the pastor of the new church, assisted by Dean Egan and Father W. Phillips and Canon.

Rev. Father F. Ryan took his text from the 22nd Psalm, "Holiness becometh the house of the Lord." He said there are two religions on earth, and only two—the religion of God and the religion of man.

The religion of Revelation and the religion of evolution, the religion of dogmas and the religion of doubt; the religion that is organized and the religion that is disorganized.

The religion of man might have meeting houses and prayer halls, but only the religion of God had churches. The houses in which men met to pray might have pulpits and platforms; only the Church of God had altars. These altars were consecrated by sacraments; only the Catholic Church has altars.

Without sacrifice no religion was divine. The house of God should be holy. Holiness was purity by the religion of God by sacrifice and sacrament. Only a Catholic church could be so consecrated, because only a Catholic Bishop could consecrate. This house had been so consecrated to-day. The sacrifice had been offered on its altar; it is no longer secular; it was sacred; it was holy.

The Archbishop made a most impressive and touching address to the congregation. He congratulated the zealous pastor in highest terms on the splendid success of his efforts. He thanked the many who had so ably seconded the good priest's labors, and complimented the architect, Mr. Kennedy, on the artistic beauty of his work.

The church is built of red brick, tuck-pointed, with a central tower, 120 feet high, and a spire, 210 feet high. The tower is 120 feet high, and the spire is 210 feet high.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. McINTOSH, TORONTO. We wish to extend our special sympathy to Mr. H. McIntosh on the death of his wife last week. It is all the sadder as two very young children are left to mourn a mother who has left no other heirs.

The funeral Mass was sung last Thursday in St. Basil's Church, by Father Brennan, the Rev. Mr. Carberry as sub-deacon. The burial took place in the cemetery of St. Basil's, where the late Mrs. McIntosh was buried.

We extend to Mr. McIntosh our most heartfelt sympathy in the great and irreparable loss he has sustained. May the Author of all good bring him comfort and resignation in his affliction.—Ed. RECORD.
