SCHOOL AGAIN.

What blissful peace the city holds,

And thankful mothers say
Once more that school (and safety)
folds
Each little flock away;
To flying cars no anxious looks
Turn now; there's comfort when
Those daring boys with lunch and books Have gone to school again.

No Indian warwhoops pierce the air, No tortured shrieks have led

Distracted women to declare
Some child is nearly dead;
Ring in, ye blessed bells of nine,
A reign of quiet, then
Those noisy boys with sign and whine
Have gone to school again.

The neighborhood cats bask in the sun A feathered chorus sings "Birds, aren't you glad that school's

A LAWYER'S GAME

He is Alleged to Have Forged Several Large Checks

On His Dead Client-The Mas Ar rested-Millionaire Leaves No Will.

New York, Oct. 5.-Capt. McCluskey chief of the detective bureau, announced last night that his men had arrested Lawyer Albert T. Patrick and the valet, Jones, for forgery, in connection with the case of William M. Rice, the Texas millionaire, who died suddenly in this city a week ago

The exact charge against Patrick and Jones is that they forged signatures to checks and assignments drawn by the late

The day following the death of Mr. The day following the death of Mr. Rice, Mr. Patrick took to the banking house of S. M. Swanson & Sons, a check drawn in his favor and signed by Mr. Rice for $25,000; another for $65,000, and two checks on the Fifth Ave, Trust Co. for $25,000 and $135,000 respectively. All of these checks were submitted separately to handwriting experts Wm. McKinsley, David Carvalbo and Mr. Hagen, of Troy, N.Y. They ho and Mr. Hagen, of Troy, N.Y. They all examined the checks separately

Signatures were forged.

The strong box of Mr. Rice was opened yesterday. In the vauits of the safe deposit company of New York, where the box was located, were present at the time, Capt. James 'A. Baker of Texas, who is one of the executors of the estate of the dead mi lonaire, James W. Gerard, his legal representative. N. S. Motdrum, a high epresentative, N. S, Moldrum, a high official of a Texan railroad in which the late Mr. Rice was interested, and Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer who has figured so largely in the case. Mr. Moldrum was there in his capacity of a friend of Capt. Baker. George H. Vose, secretary of the Safe Deposit company was present as a representative of the latter. No will was found, but there were securities estimated to be worth about $1,000,000. The property will remain in the custody of the Safe Deposit Co., untill such time as the company shall till such time as the company shall feel authorized to deliver them to someone beyond doubt entitled to re-

Take Issue as to the Treatment of Catholics in the United States.

New York, Oct. 5 .- Rev. Thomas H. Malone, member of the Colorado state board of charities and corrections, in this month's North American Review, takes issue with the R. Rev. James McFaul, bishop of Trenton, for his article in the September number of the Review, entitled "Catholics and American Citizenship." Father Malone thinks the bishop's article unfortunate and says that even if the grievances of which the bishop complains had existence in fact they would be less likely to receive due attention during the excitement of a presidential canvass than at a period when men's minds would be more prone to fair and conservative judgment on the question under discussion. But Father Malone asks: "Are Catholic inmates of state institutions denied their rights?" He thinks not, but says that from the trend of the bishop's article one would infer that the privileges asked by the bishop of Trenton are in most instances refused to Roman Catholics. After mentioning his opportunities for being in touch with such subjects, Father Malone says:

with such subjects, Father handle says:

"In America, more than in any other country in the world, Catholics are permitted to enjoy, without interference or molestation, their full constitutional rights, while they are guaranteed the freest exercise of their religion in every state in the union. This is true, even in the Philippines, where, were it not for the protection of the American flag, our co-religionists would be hunted to death by those whose shibboleth is: 'Death to the friars!'

As to the charge that Catholics are denied their spiritual privileges in penal institutions, Father Malone says he has formed directly opposite con-
