The passenger train was running 50 miles an hour, and consisted of a combination coach, three sleeping cars and a Big Four private car, occupied by Mrs. C. E. Schaff, wife of the vice-president of the railroad. The vice-president of the famous. The train was destroyed by fire, except the private car and one sleeping car. Seven of the dead have been identi-Seven of the dead have been identified. Eleven of the victims were burned to death in the combination coach, and only two of these have been identified.

With but one exception, every member of the passenger train crew perished. None of the passengers in the sleepers suffered serious injury.

There were many instances of presence of mind and rare heroism among the passengers who were uninjured.

Yesterday afternoon enough frag-ments to make eight bodies were re-covered. It is probable the exact num-ber of victims will never be known.

the river.

The damage to shipping in Buffalo harbor alone is $1,500,000. Five leviathans of the great lakes, torn from their moorings and run aground, tell that part of the story. Thirteen others, making brave attempts to ride out the storm may add to it. Wreck and devastation of everything along the whole waterfront is the relic of the storm.

Niagara Falls power was cut off when the cables snapped, and the city was in partial darkness last night. Damage to homes and buildings is widespread throughout the city, but no one case is of particular serious nature.

Estimates of Dead Too Moderate.
The original estimates of killed were too moderate. Over five hundred victims have been buried, and scores of half-burned bodies have been taken from the ruins of collapsed buildings and cremated at the crossings of thoroughfares, with the view of avoiding the outbreak of an epidemic.

ings of thoroughfares, with the view of avoiding the outbreak of an epidemic.

Fully one thousand persons have been maimed for life, their legs or arms having been amputated, and those who sustained lesser wounds are counted by thousands.

Nothing has been done as yet toward the reconstruction of shattered buildings, or even to repair the damaged residences in the northern and eastern parts of the city and in the suburb of St. Andrew. Indeed, it is impossible to do anything to this end.

Vultures Reveal Dead.

Last night the streets of the burned district still reeked with the stench of decaying bodies. The burned ruins were illuminated only by the baleful glow of the corpse fires lining the roadways.

To-day many bodies were recovered through the aid of vultures, which perch in flocks on the ruins. As fast as they are uncovered the bodies are thrown on the funeral pyres and slowly consumed.

The total number of known dead is about 750, and it is believed there are at least 150 persons who have not been accounted for.

Food is coming into the city from the country districts, but a famine is greatly feared.

AN EXPRESS IS WRECKED

Rails Spreading The Cause Of Disaster To Winnipeg Train

FOUR OR FIVE WERE HURT

Minneapolis, Jam. 21.—The Winnipeg flyer, or Great Northern Express, was wrecked half a mile east of Osslo at 9 a.m. Saturday owing to the apreading of the rails. Three passengers were injured, and while railway officials positively decline to give cut their names or any particulars, it was learned that the list of injured will not exceed probably four or five, and that none were killed.

The known injured are Mrs. A. E. Blow, Fort Frances, Ont.; E. H. Lewis, Chicage, and A. H. Corelli, Clerk of the Manitoba Legislature, Winnipeg. Mrs. Blow is in a dangerous condition in the hospital here suffering from severe body bruises.

Mr. Levi hes a deep out on the head, but will recover. Corelli has a bad scalp wound, two ribs broken and other injuries, but his recovery is anticipated.

It is possible a deliberate attempt was made to wreck the hospital train returning here from the scene. An employee of the railroad, M. Schnider, found every bolt in the fish plates of the rails for a quarter of a mile east of Robbinsdale cut and removed, and many of the spikes partially withdrawn. The train was due in a few moments when he made the discovery. He was able to communicate with sectionmen, who flagged the train within a few reds of the damaged tracks. Railroad officials say this may have been done by a damaged wheel on another train, but will institute a most rigid inquiry.
