

MIRACULOUS CURE OF ASTHMA

Suffered Terribly for 15 Years Until He Tried "Fruit-a-Lives"

D. A. WHITE, Esq.
21 WALLACE AVE., TORONTO,
Dec. 22nd, 1913.

"Having been a great sufferer from Asthma for a period of fifteen years (sometimes having to sit up at night for weeks at a time) I began the use of 'Fruit-a-lives'. These wonderful tablets relieved me of Indigestion, and through the continued use of same, I am no longer distressed with that terrible disease, Asthma, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives' which are worth their weight in gold to anyone suffering as I did. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers from Asthma, which I believe is caused or aggravated by Indigestion."

A Temperance Dog.

A farmer was one day standing beside his wagon in a market town. Many who passed noticed his honest, cheery face, his well fed horses, and the fresh green vegetables with which his wagon was loaded.
They also noticed the farmer's dog, a fine large Newfoundland, with a jet black coat, and a big white patch on his breast. There were a few white hairs about his muzzle, and anyone could see that the dog was no longer young.
He seemed quiet and gentle, and let the children stroke his curly hair, but when a tipsy man came along the street, he showed his white teeth with a growl, and kept close to his master.
A gentleman who saw this, said to the farmer, "Your dog has no love for strong drink, my friend, though he is in the water. I suppose he is a temperance dog," he added, with a smile.
"That he is, and no mistake," said the farmer, "and a temperance preacher as well. I could tell you some thing of old Nell's preaching if you cared to listen," he went on, patting the dog's head.
"Please do, I should like to hear it," was the answer.
"Well, a good many years ago this dog belonged to a young farm laborer called Jim Snow. Jim bought him cheap from a tinker, who was often tipsy, and at such times was very cruel to him. That, no doubt, explains Nell's distaste of drunken people.
Some weeks later Jim was in town one day, and, as usual, he was pretty nearly drunk when he got home. Nell went to meet him, but as soon as his master came near the dog ran back growling, as you saw him do just now.
"Jim followed him, and put out his hand to take hold of the dog; but he got a pretty sharp bite from those long white teeth, so Jim was glad to leave him alone.
"Next day the dog was as good as dead, and as food of his master's liver, and all was right again until Jim's next visit to town.
"When he came home the dog went up and sniffed at him. This small dog the drink, he ran away growling, and hid himself. This time Nell kept away from his master for two or three days, and spent the time lying in an out-house.
"Jim began to think over this, and at last it came into his head that the dog was ashamed of him when he had been drinking. The end of it all was that Jim began to lead a sober life, and he was a good man for the rest of his life.
"What because of Jim then and how do you come to own the dog," asked the stranger, who had listened with much interest.
"Oh, well, you see, Jim was a good man. And then he said, 'I have my good dog to thank for it, and I will never drink again.'"

ORIGIN OF ENTENTE

Scotchman Residing in Paris Was Means of Bringing It About

Great Britain's stand from the very beginning of the present European situation has been so aggressively pro-French largely because during the closing years of the last century there resided in Paris a Scotchman with an idea. The man was Thomas Barclay, and the idea was the desirability of an entente between the monarchy and the republic.

Opium Reform Movement.

News from China as to the opium reform movement is encouraging. It is stated that since the movement began the number of users in many places have been lessened twenty per cent. The law prohibiting the growth of the poppy plant is being enforced. In Canton, where certain foreigners are trying to assist the Chinese to retail within the foreign lease territory, the British Consul General and the French Consul have agreed to cooperate with the city police and suppress the traffic. While of course there will be efforts to cultivate the poppy and evade the law, it is very gratifying to hear that there is such a widespread respect for the law, and it is hoped that in a few years to see the entire elimination of opium smoking in China. A recent despatch from London says the government has announced that no more opium will be sent from India to China this year. It says it is probable that the traffic in opium between India and China will never be renewed.

PREVAILING MODES ALWAYS BEAUTIFUL

Fashion is a Matter of Custom and if Women Wore Beards Men Would Like Them

A man who claims to know more about the past of the present modes of fifty or a hundred thousand years ago all the women were bearded ladies, and suggests that the velvet checked and the any could have secured positions in the side-shows of that remote period as freaks.

But, he says, the men gave the ladies a racial shave by selecting those with the least facial hair as wives. Thus the girls grew smooth-skinned and smoother of face, and finally became as we see them now.
This may be a subtle attempt to placate the women under obligation to the men for their most precious possession, their beauty. But a hair service in the bringing about of the understanding while France made him an officer of the Legion of Honor for the same reason. After the signing of the Anglo-French treaty of arbitration in October, 1903, Lord Lansdowne, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Lord Alverstone, Chief Justice of England, gave to Barclay chief credit for the bringing together of the nations, while Paul Cambon, French Ambassador to London, did so at a later date. Lord Alverstone wrote that "no one knows better than I that the signing of the Anglo-French treaty is entirely due to you."

Important Decision.

A decision of profound importance to the Provinces of Canada was handed down recently by the Privy Council in London.

The case arose in British Columbia in this way: The John Deere Plow Company secured a charter covering Canada, British Columbia a license to this Company to operate the same, where upon it used for the right. The Canadian Courts held that the Province was acting within its rights under the British North America Act. The Company appealed to the Privy Council which reversed the judgment of the Canadian Courts and held that a Dominion Act of Incorporation had the right to operate in any of the Provinces. This will affect the taxation powers of the Provinces, for Company incorporated and taxed heavily as they are by securing a Dominion Charter. It may even go further by interfering with the civil property rights of the provinces. The end is not reached for it affects a half million dollars of revenue in Ontario, and certain amounts in other provinces as well.

Table Linen Economy
Darning Tablecloths Makes Them Spin Out For Another Period
The successful business man always looks ahead and plans accordingly to what he sees. A successful housekeeper also looks ahead to spy out the rocks on which the good ship household economy may split.
A good beginning in household economy may be made in the linen closet. Let us look over our stock of linens, napkins, tablecloths and towels, look for the thin places in them and the small holes. Darn them carefully. If they are too useless of many of the pieces that would otherwise have to be replaced. To do this nicely use the linen thread that is unravelled from a piece of old tablecloth. Put the extra over-embroidery hoops and run with the warp in the place that are torn. Darn the tiny holes carefully. The work is as dainty as embroidery and certainly it is more useful.
Towels, napkins and tablecloths can be gone over in this way and the housewife will be surprised to find that her stock, which she thought needed replenishing, will last another year.

Man of New Ideas
Pioneer of Advertising, Mr. S. H. Benson, a Victim of Bus Accident
Illness due to complications following on a street accident carried off Mr. S. H. Benson, governing director of the famous advertising contractors of Kingsway Hall, London. Mr. Benson was run over by a motor-bus in Fleet street eight months ago. His arm was broken and he suffered internal injuries, and at the age of sixty he failed to get over the shock.
Before beginning the career which created the business of Messrs. S. H. Benson, Ltd., Mr. Benson was for some years in the Royal Navy, and served during the Ashanti war, and the blockade of the coast of Dahomey, being eventually invalided from the Navy. He started the Express Courier Corps, the first boy messenger corps organized in London. The Post Office took exception at that time to any such scheme, and the venture had to be terminated. He started in the advertising business in 1882. Up till that time the main duty of an advertising agent had been the buying and selling of space, but Mr. Benson realized there was room for development, and he offered the advertiser serious service and advice in the conduct of his campaign.
Soon he became entrusted with the advertising of some of the largest houses in England, and from that day the business steadily increased, following closely the lines on which it was founded. An interesting scheme of his was the cocoa bus scheme. All the London buses were decorated with cocoa pods, and every lady passenger presented with a sample of cocoa. The plan, however, to stop the scheme, and a reward was offered to anyone who could find a bus without cocoa pods. The scheme should not be repeated.
Although most of the cities in Japan have good sidewalks modern street paving is practically unknown in the empire.

Washing Cut Glass in the usual way in soap and water rinses in water it which a little washing blue has been dissolved. After drying polish with this solution. This imparts a fine brilliance, which quite repays one for the little extra trouble taken.
Coloring Boots
To make brown boots black take a piece of washing soda the size of a walnut and dissolve it in boiling water. When cold rub well over the boots. This will darken them. Then take a little shoe-maker's ink and give the boots two coats. Polish in the usual way to finish.
When a Tooth Aches
To relieve toothache, rub baking soda around the tooth and rinse the mouth with hot water.
Cleaning Black Marble

A Neighbor Told Him To Take Gin Pills
FOR THE KIDNEYS
If you want to know what Gin Pills will do for you, just drop a line to Mr. D. A. Verdes, at 141, York St. He will tell you what Gin Pills did for him, after he had suffered with kidney trouble for 15 years. Here is his letter:
"I suffered for 15 years with my kidneys. I could not eat, sleep, or help me. The pain went all through my back and shoulders, and down the inside of my legs. When I would sit down for a while, I could not straighten up again until I would walk a few steps. The pain was so great, I thought I would never be cured. I tried all kinds of medicine, but nothing would do for me. It is about two and a half years ago that I got Gin Pills. My back is all right, I sleep and eat like a man, and I feel like a new man. In all, they are worth their weight in gold."

The Fortune of the Rothschilds.
A statistician has just completed figures which he asserts show the fortunes of the famous house of Rothschilds. The entire fortune is estimated at ten millions of francs. A milliard is a billion so that in dollars the Rothschilds' fortune equals $2,000,000,000.
I need a per cent. The Rothschilds' fortune would produce an annual revenue of $10,000,000. But this sum is far from being a reality, as the great part of the Rothschilds' riches is in property. In Lancashire they own immense tracts of land, while in Germany they possess numerous coal mines with a capacity of millions of tons per annum. In Brazil the Rothschilds own immense rubber forests, and in Paris factories own the most beautiful carpets in the world are made.

Note the Color of your flour—And the Bread it makes for you. Delicately creamy is FIVE ROSES flour. Because it is not bleached, don't you see. Clear—Immaculate—Desirable. A pure Manitoba wheat flour—FIVE ROSES. And the healthy sun-ripened spring wheat berries are naturally of a golden glow. And the meaty heart of the polished kernels is creamy. Milled from this wheat, FIVE ROSES is definitely "creamier." The only natural flour from Manitoba's prime wheat. Which goes white and whiter as you knead it. And your bread is most appetizing, unusually sturdier in appearance. Looks good. And is good. Make this your established brand.

Fancy Names are not Appreciated.
In every camp where Britain's new armies are being trained, the regular drill instructors are sweating over their company's roll at night, desperately trying to remember the pronunciation of the names of aristocratic recruits who do not recognize Commonly when pronounced as spelled.
A sergeant calling the roll for a company of the new 'sportsman' battalion for the first time had a terrible experience recently. Having disappeared successfully of a few Harpers, Mitchell, etc., he came to the name Montagu.
"Private Montagu!" shouted the sergeant.
There was no reply, but when the name was repeated a half hearted "Here, sir," came from the ranks.
"Why didn't you answer before?" demanded the sergeant.
"Because my name is Mont-a-gue," replied the recruit.
"Well," snapped the sergeant, "you will do seven days' fatigue."
The next name on the list, Majorbanks, brought no response, for the sergeant pronounced it 'Maporeybanks.'
A second call brought a mild response: "I expect you mean me, sir, my name is Marshbanks."
The sergeant almost recoiled, but proceeded bravely with Colquhoun, "Private Colquhoun," he called.
"Colquhon, sir, that's me," came a brisk reply from the front rank.
The drill instructor gave up, and closing his book he wearily gave the order 'number.' When this was completed he said:
"One hundred and twenty-one. That's right. Now, if there are any more of you with fancy names, just come to me after drill and tell me how you would like to be called."
