

The Union Advertiser.

A WEEKLY JOURNAL

W. C. ANSTON

Vol. XXVI—No. 25.

Our Country with its United Interests.

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

Newcastle, Wednesday, March 29, 1893.

WHOLE No. 1335

Gröder's SYRUP will cure SICK HEADACHE

Charles J. Thomson
Solicitor for Bank Notes & a Barrister, Pater for Estate, Agent for the Manufacturers Accident & Life Insurance Company.

Notary Public, &c.
OFFICE
Engine House, Newcastle, 21, Market St., N. B.

O. J. MacGILLIVRAY, M. A. M. D.
M.D., F.R.C.S., LOND.
SPECIALIST.
DISEASES OF EYE, EAR, THROAT
Office: Cor. Westland and Main Street
Newcastle, Nov. 17, 1892.

Dr. R. Nicholson.
Office and Residence,
McGILLIVRAY ST.,
Jan. 22, 1893.

Dr. H. A. FISH,
Newcastle, N. B.
Dec. 29, 1891.

W. A. Wilson, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon,
DERBY, N. B.
Derby Nov. 15, 1890.

J. R. LAWLOR,
Auctioneer and Commission merchant,
Newcastle, New Brunswick
Presents returns made on commission merchandise. Acts on all matters in town and country.

Clifton House.
Princes and 13 Gains Street,
ST. JOHN'S, N. B.

A. N. Peters, Prop'r.
Hosted by Stone throughout. Prompt attention and moderate charges. Telephone on main staircase with all parts of the city.
April 6th, 1892.

CANADA HOUSE
Chatham, New Brunswick.
Wm. JOHNSTON, Proprietor.

Considerable stock of goods made on this house to make it a first-class hotel and travel first. It is a desirable temporary residence with its separate location and comfort. It is situated within five minutes walk of Steamboat landing and Telephone and Post Office.
The proprietor returns thanks to the Public for the encouragement from the past and will endeavor by every means to attract and retain the same in the future.

GOOD SAMPLE ROOMS.
Commercial Travellers, and Staying on the premises.
Chatham Jan. 1.

S. R. Foster & Son,
MANUFACTURERS OF

WIRE NAILS,
WIRE BRADS,
Steel and Iron cut
NAILS.

Also SPIKES, TACKS, BRADS, SHOE NAILS, and all kinds of IRON and STEEL WORK.

JOHN N. B.

REMOVED.

The subscriber has removed his MILLINERY ESTABLISHMENT from the corner store to the store fronting the square next that of Messrs. H. W. Wilson & & Co., and has on hand a large assortment of Millinery and Trimmings etc., to which the attention of customers and the public is called.

SPRING GOODS
slightly reduced, of which one notice will be given.

JENNIE E. WRIGHT.
Newcastle, March 8, 1893.

Ladies' and Misses' Straw and Felt Hats Made over into present styles.

MRS. S. McLEOD.

Newcastle, March 20th, 1893.

TAILORING.

I wish to tailor my trousers and the public generally that I am still Carrying on the Tailoring in the old standover, Messrs. Sutherland and Graham's Store, I have a fine LIVE OF SAMPLES
to select from. Parties furnishing their own goods can have them made to order.

GOOD STYLE
and Cheaper than elsewhere. Perfect Satisfaction in all cases. The past and I can guarantee the same in the future.

J. R. McDONALD.

NEWCASTLE, SEPT. 1892.

TUNING AND REPAIRING
J. O. BELMONT, PIANO ORGANO
AND ORGAN TUNER.

Repairing a Specialty.
Specially fitted made to the Northern Counties of which the notice will be given.
Orders for Tuning etc. can be sent to the Adelaide Office, Newcastle.

J. O. HEDDERMAN.

St. John May 6th, 1891.

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Boots & Shoes, &c., &c.

The Subscriber has commenced to sell off his STOCK at reduced prices. Those wanting Bargains in Groceries, Provisions, Boots and Shoes, &c., &c., would find it to their advantage to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere. I also want to purchase 1000 COWHIDES for which I will pay cash. I will also give the highest price for Country Produce.

EDWARD HICKEY.

Newcastle, Nov. 21, 1892.

DR. CATES, DENTIST,
all general dental office, over Thomas Graham's store.

From the 24th to the 30th or 31st of each Month.

and further notice. Having to do with the patients as formerly, for whom Satisfaction Dental work will be done in all cases.

JOHN MORRISON & CO.,
Lumber Dealers,
Elm Tree, Petit Rocher, Glou-cesters, N. B.

Manufacturers of Cedar Shingles, Box Shingles, Dimension Lumber in local and all woods, Spool Wood, etc.

JOHN MORRISON & CO.
Elm Tree, Petit Rocher, Nov. 19, 1892.

THE PEOPLE'S HOME-GUARD!
The EMULSION
ON SENTRY DUTY

It will guard you securely from disease

YOU
Have a Very Bad Cough,
Are Suffering from Lung Troubles, Have Lost Much Through Illness, Are Wretched Thin and Consumptive.

IT WILL
Cure That Cough,
Heal Your Lungs,
Put Flesh On Your Bones, Prevent Consumption.

SMALL & LARGE BOTTLES 50c & $1.00.

IT IS VERY PLEASANT TO TAKE.

Ask for one and you get the "D. & L. Emulsion."

THIS PAPER may be had at the Newspaper Advertising Bureau (20 Spruce Street) or at the NEW YORK

IT PAYS

To buy a ticket in the Lottery of the State of Louisiana to estimate the extent of evil brought upon it by the legalized gambling known as the Louisiana Lottery Company.

To Use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which it is reported, widely, by the J. C. Ayer Co. from the experience when this medicine is used in the treatment of various diseases, though not always harmless, it is not always "cheap," but in the end, they are the most reliable medicines exist, and can be obtained at the lowest prices only when the manufacturing chemist handles the raw materials in large quantities. It is economy, therefore.

Sarsaparilla

It stands at the head of all similar preparations. "Mark A. Jones, 30 years a druggist, 60 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass., has paid by Dr. J. C. Ayer Co. Lowell, Mass.
$1100 for Druggists. Price $1.50 per bottle.
Cures others, will cure you."

Several years rolled on and two children came to the Armstrong household. Tom had one or two attacks of illness and was not as strong as he used to be. The doctor said there was vicious trouble with his heart, and by providing him with a good old age, so he would live to a good old age. So he worked on steadily, and continued to live to a good old age. Neither he nor his wife had any confidence in banks or investments, so the money accumulated and was kept in the house.

They had enough to buy a modest cottage, but that did not suit Linda's ambition. "Well, now on, Tom, till we can buy real valuable property," she said to him when Mary and Edward were grown, they'll have a home to be proud of. I don't want any half-way house, but a roomy, nice home, with gardens back, and flowers in front.

So she worked on cheerfully till her eighty-fourth birthday. "Oh, Tom!" she cried to him one day. "I have a good luck! I'm not sure of it being good luck. I've won five dollars, and the ticket he bought the fourth of the ticket that drew $100,000! Now he is worth $25,000! Just think of it. Poor shameless Harry Edridge, that never could make both ends meet, and his wife too lazy to mend her children's clothes, or get a decent meal for them.
She ran in here to tell me the good luck, and they are going to buy Shirley's handsome house, and she says they're looking round for a homestead. Oh, dear! to think how we've talked and talked for thirty years, and never did anything to help ourselves or anybody else, having so much money!"

"What are you crying over Edridge's good luck? I'm not sure of it being good luck either. I've never seen real good come to those who win money by gambling. If they gain in one thing they lose in another, and I'm opposed on principle to lotteries, as I've always told you. Wait and see if Edridge is the better for that money."

"I wish I had it," she cried defiantly.
"I'd take the risk. If you want so full of ridiculous old-fashioned notions, we would have a chance of getting rich." Tom sick to death of this life.

She hung out of the room, leaving her husband too stunned to answer her.
Early before through their happy married life had there been a harsh reprimand.

"Poor little woman," thought Tom after a few minutes, "I reckon she's overworked, and it does seem that those people should be so much more favored than we."

From that day a change took place in Linda. She continued to work, but unhappily, and as it were, in protest, and became kind to the children. One night when she and Tom were sitting together, she turned and said to him:

"I'm glad to ask you a favor, Tom," she said, and I don't think I've asked you one before, and you never say no."
"What is it dear? Tom asked, rejoicing at the restoration of harmony."

"I want you to buy a lottery ticket or two for me. I dream of a winning number last night, and I can't rest until I have my chance."

"Then I'm afraid you won't rest," he said sternly, provoked at her insistence.
"Haven't I told you what I think of gambling in every shape or form? And neither you nor any one else will ever win a cent by it."

She turned from him angrily and left the room. It was altogether a miserable state of affairs, and the visit, she paid to the new house of the Edridges only added to her misery.

"Why don't you buy a lottery ticket?" Mrs. Edridge drawled. "You'll have as good a chance as we had."

"Tom won't listen to it," she answered glumly. "I'll, I wouldn't ask him.
You keep the money, and goodness knows it's much more as it's for you've worked hard enough for it. Buy a lottery ticket and don't tell him that you have it. If it turns up a prize I let him fuss about your getting it."

Linda made no answer, but her mind was made up. She thought of the anger of her husband if he ever found out that she had disobeyed him, but her mind was too strong upon her for her to weigh it in the balance. Of course the ticket she bought came up a blank, but the gambling demon had taken possession of her, and from that hour the board was laid out, and she grew feverish to redeem her losses and prevent discovery.

One morning her husband came in smiling and jubilant.

"I've just been paid for Ross's big house I've been building," he cried, laughing. "That $3000 back, little woman, and I want you to come back to your old self, and give up parting. Thought I had forgotten you, dear, but you and I didn't forget to work and plan and give you a surprise!"

"You remember Lawson's beautiful house you used to long for? Well, I bought it this morning, and with this three hundred and the money we've saved up, we've got very nearly enough to pay for it cash down. Get out the pocket-book, dear, I'm in a hurry to give you the good news, and the bill of sale made out. My God! What is the matter with you, Linda?"

White-faced and wild eyed, Linda had thrown off her husband's hand, and stood there trembling in every limb and gasping for breath.

"I've been too stupid with my good news, dear," he said tenderly, trying to take her in his arms. But she struggled from his grasp, and covered her face with her hands. "There's no money left," she cried, wildly. "I spent it all on that lottery ticket. I thought I must win at least I took it and took and took and took every cent."

"At first he did not seem to comprehend the meaning of her words, but as it broke upon him he put his hand to his forehead, and with a gasping sigh he sank into the seat which stood near it.
It was all over in a minute. Tom's hope and despair, but as the miserable wretch man with a piercing scream fell on her knees beside him, and took the dead hand, which had worked so faithfully for her, in her own, she realized the evil which had wrought the evil which was before her by day by the latter in house rule it would be the duty of all loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament
should not be the duty of all
loyal subjects to bow to the inevitable.
Mr. Wallace, who had sworn to uphold
the sovereignty, was found openly aiding
and abetting treason, and his conduct
should not pass unnoticed by this
parliament, and if parliament