

THE POET'S CORNER.

The Boy's Grandmother.
It is always dropping in the everlasting drizzle;
The needles that I've threaded, oh, you couldn't count to-day; I've hunted for the glasses till I thought my head was splitting.

DEATH FROM HYDROPHOBIA.

A Horse Tears Large Pieces from Its Throat.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 21.—A horse owned by P. H. Matzow, a farmer, has died of hydrophobia. In its madness the animal tore its forelegs fearfully with its teeth and had to be bound with chains to prevent its doing injury to people. The horse was bitten a month ago by a strange dog, which was evidently mad and was subsequently killed. The horse did not appear to suffer from the bite until Thursday night.

HIS TONGUE CUT OUT.

Cowardly and Feudish Attack on a Negro in Texas.
PARIS, TEXAS, July 21.—Early Saturday morning, 30 miles southeast of here in Red River county, six or seven men went to the house of Andy Young, a hard-working Negro, and called him a villain. When he came to the door a volley from Winchesters, shotguns and pistols was fired into him. The Winchester balls went through his head in front of his eyes and cut his tongue in two. His body, legs and arms were filled with bullets. He was alive at last accounts, and conscious, but it is hardly possible he can live. It is thought he knows who shot him, but his tongue being cut out he cannot tell. A number of shells picked up in the yard may give a clue.
