By the Way.

Morris's Manifesto contains a lot of figures and statistics. We all know that statistics can lie if they want to. The greatest figure in the Manifesto is E. P. Morris abusing Sir Robert Bond. The greatest cod is Morris trying to persuade himself that he rose the price of fish.

What is faith? Mr. Robinson, of the Daily News, says that Morris got lots of it. Anyone would take an "affidavit" that he does not keep it in the chest, because that is cleaned out long ago. Perhaps it's borrowed for the elections.

No one can read Morris's Manifesto without coming to the conclusion that he possesses more than his share of satirical humour. For instance he says he is the only Premier having "ideals of statesmanship." Verb Sap. as the J.A.R. of the Daily News says. It is enough to excite laughter.

Morris made a contract with the Reids to build railways. He told his People they would cost four million dollars. Did he tell the Reids "what-ever they cost, we've got to pay you?" They're going to cost eight millions sir. Sir Edward Morris's ideals are just twice as big as himself.

1st Man: Was that Bay de Verde mineral prospectus got up in 1911 for fun, or was it to swindle people?

2nd Man: It was got up to swindle innocent people, of course, because the old company abandoned the mine 10 years ago.

1st Man: What? Was Morison had enough to put his name to a fraudulent thing like that after the mine was abandoned?

2nd Man: Ask E. P. Morris. He says that he and Morison have high ideals, and the J.A.R. said verb sap.

Did you ever try to prove the depths of Morris's satire. His whole Manifesto can be boiled down to the following:

"Let wealth and commerce, laws and learning die,
But leave me still my high ideals."

Morison lived up to his ideals when he forgot the law. He got down to them when he told them to steal logs from Crown Lands.

Morris buttered himself up in his own Manifesto so much that it leaves in the mouth a taste just like rancid oil.

Just inside the door of a large building in St. John's is a board "in glass" with the names of those who have offices printed on it. The prospectus of the International Iron Ore Co. of 1911 also had names printed on it—the names of Morison, Cashin, Emerson, who are members of Morris's Government. It is rumored now that Morris has instructed a painter—probably Phil Hanley—to make a board for him. Phil says it will be the "Picnic Party's" "Scut-chum." He is going to hang it close up to the ceiling. It will be headed "High Ideals." Under that will be printed in white letters, some examples:

E.P.—No. I don't want any salary, but give me that $10,000 "on account" on that Herring Arbitration.

J. C. Crosbie—I don't want Boodle! But I want $2,200 for those two spars.

D. Morison—I don't want this to come out, but look here, Strong, if you can get a purchaser for Orange Bay Timber, he can steal logs from Crown Lands.

D. Morison—When you are in a hole crawl into it and out again at the other end quietly, or—Forget the law.

D. MORISON, M. P. CASHIN, C. H. EMERSON, F. J. MORRIS.

Fraudulent Mineral Prospectus.—It is too late to scratch our names off now! What will we do about it?

AY! There's the rub. What will they do?

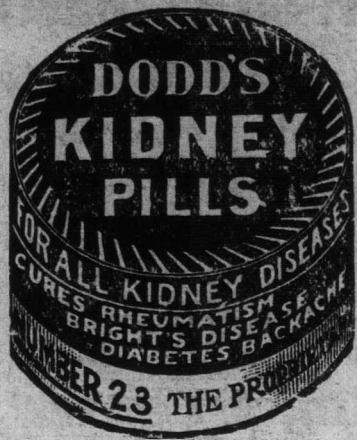

Cured Diseases of the Kidneys

And is Depended On to Right Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Once Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are introduced into the family and their efficiency becomes known they are usually found too valuable to do without. For everyday ailments arising from liver and bowel disorders they bring relief promptly, and when complicated diseases of the kidneys and liver develop they often prove a successful cure after doctors have failed. As an illustration, you may read the following, which was received a few days ago:

Mrs. John Wright, 53 McGee street, Toronto, Ont., states: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for ten years, and would not be without them. My husband suffered from kidney trouble, and after taking treatment from several doctors without receiving any benefit, tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which worked a complete cure. Since that time we have used them for all stomach and liver disorders."

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Daily News says, don't deny it!

A. W. Piccott.—I hate to admit it, but Mark Gibbons scraped all the ideals off me.

"There," says Phil, "what a fine lot of men." "Yes," says E. P. Morris, "I'm proud of them—Scions of a played out party."

The St. George's Lumber Company must have heard that E. P. Morris had "high ideals," because they gave him Forty thousand dollars worth of shares in the company. Yet Morris said in the House of Assembly that he had no interest direct or indirect in any timber lands.

The 1898 Company lost their money in Bay de Verde mine and then the Company abandoned the mine. No work of any account has been done on it since. Morris knew that better than anyone else because he made money out of the Bay de Verde claims. In 1911 we find Morison's name on a new prospectus in London, containing false and fraudulent statements about the mine. Morison and the gang were charged with it. They do not deny it. The Daily News does not deny it. Will T. J. Freeman please tell us how many shares Morison and the gang got? Also if they got them for nothing?

Testimonials.

St. John's,
Oct. 7th, 1913.

Mr. G. M. Barr,

Dear Sir.—In reference to the engine which you sold me this spring, I take great pleasure in recommending the Fairbanks Morse engine as the most reliable on the market. I have used it all the summer and it has given me all the satisfaction one would wish to have. It has never given me any trouble in any way, and I can recommend it as safe and easy to operate for any fisherman who desires to have an engine. I for myself would have no other.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) H. PARDY,
North Battery.

St. John's, Sept. 7, '13.

Geo. M. Barr,

Dear Sir.—The Fairbanks Morse engine purchased from you has turned out most satisfactory, it is fully up to my expectations. I hope to be able to get another from you next year.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) S. RYALL.

St. Bride's Enthusiastic.

Special to The Evening Telegram.

ST. BRIDE'S, To-day.

Sullivan, Summers and Carty arrived here last evening, and were given an enthusiastic welcome. They drove over the road from Placentia, calling at the settlements on the way and were tendered everywhere a most cordial reception. On their arrival scores of their supporters met the carriages and with cheers and shouts of "Bond can't Lose," accompanied the candidates to their boarding house. The meeting opened with Ambrose Conway in the chair. Before closing scenes of unexampled enthusiasm were witnessed in favor of the Liberal candidates; the air was rent repeatedly with cries of "Bond can't lose." Some misguided individuals giving counter cheers were silenced and made leave the building by the strenuous efforts of the opposition stalwarts. St. Bride's will give a big Liberal majority; Cape Shore and Branch will poll the biggest vote for opposition ever given.

BECOMES ILL.—An 11 year old boy named Cowan, of Hamilton Street, was seized with an epileptic fit on Water Street West about 10.30 last night as the result of some slight altercation with a fellow playmate of Prince's St. Young Cowan was attended by Dr. Roberts and later conveyed to his home by the police.

Prisoner Here.

James Hare, of Harbor Grace, who attempted to kill Bishop March by firing two revolver shots at him on Sunday last, arrived by the 12.30 train to-day in charge of Constables Dooley and Power, and was conveyed to the Penitentiary to await the next session of the Supreme Court. The prisoner is of low stature and has a dogged expression. When examined by Dr. Strapp a half hour after the terrible incident took place, he did not seem to realize the seriousness of his act.

Noreign Travel.

Foreign travel is something which people take in order to cure nervous prostration, and a swelled income. Anybody can go abroad nowadays if he has a steamer trunk full of smelling salts and travelers' cheques and he might set along without cheques, on a pinch. The chief attractions of Europe are ivy-clad cathedrals, neat imitations of the old masters, and antique odors, together with a blue vitriol tipping system which raises a large and effulgent blister on the tippee. This system is being copied in America with considerable success, but Europe is still several laps ahead. Most people go abroad in order to be able to throw a little French around at a pink tea, thereby disconcerting guests whose knowledge of the language is confined to pronouncing the word "cafe" with the long a. Another class departs quite hurriedly, in order to escape notoriety and the sheriff, and scatter mustaches and other means of identification all over Europe. Foreign travel has a great attraction for people who have never been west of the Missouri river, and who don't know whether the Yellowstone National Park is a sanatorium or a breakfast food. It affords a considerable amount of scenery, which is not found around home, and a brand of drinking water which tourists never interfere with but once. Nobody ever drank any water in Europe without returning home a changed man. As it is, foreign travel changes people greatly. Some tourists return in English tweeds, and an accent which sounds like a tongue-tied school ma' parsing the Declaration of Independence. However, foreign travel is very instructive and educative, as it enables one to see what a wise thing he did when he made up his mind to be born in the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer.

Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.

The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated.

We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.

The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating.
