The Rose M. Enquiry.

Finding of the Court into the loss of the Schooner "Bose M" at Feteiras in the Island of Fayal Azores, on January 15th, 1922.

The schooner "Rose M", a wooden ship of 169 tons gross and 147 tons net, was built by the Norris Arm Shipbuilding Co., Ltd., at Norris Arm, fid., in 1918, and was registered at Mnd., in 1918, and was registered at the Registry of Shipping at St. John's on the 23rd October, 1919. (Certifi-cate of British Registry is attached ereto). Her crew consisted of seven

The ship was apparently fully equipped and manned, well found with sails and tackle and fitted for the voyage. She carried one large life boat. The record of the voyage appears in the official log annexed to

In neglecting to display distress signals the captain was negligent and dence that the ship, while standing inshore or along the shore on her last tack on Sunday evening. bassing winds the range of vision was lessened. It seems during the bassing winds the ship drifted in towards the land for the space of fifteen or twenty minutes before the anchors were let go.

The evidence shows the master must have observed the ship drawing nearer and nearer to land and should have let go the anchors, with all his chain, in a much less space of time than fifteen or twenty minutes. The captain is again at fault in as much as he did not take the usual precaution of putting his lead over hoard to get the depth of water and find out if the ship was dragging. This in my opinion, shows great lack of seamanship. From the evidence I sather the ship was about 400 or 500 feet from the breakers when the anchors were let go and before the ship brought up she was on the rocks. After the real of the ship was nothing the account of the ship was nothing the account of the sate rought up she was on the rocks. Af-er this there was nothing the capsin could have done to save the sip. This will be seen by the sur-syor's report. Report attached here-
