"How long was Macklin's speech?" asked a gentleman who heard the London Tory orator in East Middlesex the other night. "Can't tell," was the reply, "I didn't have a gas meter with me."

A Winnipeg dispatch says that Premier Greenway, who has just returned home from a visit to Ontario, to-day expressed the belief that Mr. Mowat would be sustained at the general elections in Ontario, which are about to take place. He would not venture an opinion as to what his majority would be, but he said the general impression among independent thinking people in the East is that it will not be far behind his present majority in the House, which is 24. Other opinions, equally independent, are to the effect that Ontario's Grand Old Man will have a majority as large, if not larger, than he has now. Greenway, who has just returned home

Mr. Robt. Bruce, ex-reeve of Markham township, a veteran Liberal and Presby terian, writes as follows to the Markham Economist: "I understand that a report as been widely circulated to the effect that has been widely circulated to the effect that I intend to support the Consorvative candidate for East York at the coming election. I beg leave to state that said report is a lie, manufactured, I suppose, to help a cause requiring even questionable aid to prop it up. As I have already told Mr. Gibson, I would rather lose my right hand than give my vote against Hon. Oliver Mowat, whom I venerate as the best friend Ontario ever enerate as the best friend Ontario ever saw; therefore, if I live till the 5th day of June, my vote will be polled for Mr. Smith, who has my unqualified approbation in the support he has extended to the Mowat Government."

There was a sensation not down on the bills, when the nominations for Center Bruce took place at Pinkerton on Thursday. Mr. Dack (Liberal) and a Walkerton lawyer named Shaw (Tory) were nominated. The latter, for the purposes of this election, has been posing as an "independent" Equal Righter. But he was forced to admit that has been posing as an "independent" Equal Righter. But he was forced to admit that when Col. O'Brien's resolution was under discussion in the House of Commons he had communicated with the member for East Bruce, Mr. Cargill, strongly impressing upon him the necessity of his votting against the resolution. Mr. Shaw's advice was followed, and Mr. Cargill supported the Jesuit Estates Act. The admission was wrung out of him, because Mr. Dack had been openly charging him with having done so, though now, in a most deceitful marner, he was posing as an Equal Righter. He also admitted that he had been helping to support a Roman Catholic convent by sending his daughter there for two years for her education, and adding that he was pleased with the education she there received. Mr. Shaw claimed to be a true Equal Righter and nothing else, even going the length of denouncing the Tories. Great was his confusion and consternation when Mr. Dack produced a poster headed "Conservative meeting," and calling the Conservative meeting," and calling the Conservatives of the town of Kincardine to a meeting for assisting at his (Shaw's) election. The poster was signed by an out-and-out Tory, DeWitt H. Matyn. Houest Equal Righters may well bow their heads with shame and disgust, and no wonder that true Equal Righters are getting back a meeting for assisting at his (Shaw's) election. The poster was signed by an out-and-out Tory, DeWitt H. Matyn. Honest Equal Righters may well bow their heads with shame and disgust, and no wonder that true Equal Righters are getting back to where they ought to be, supporting Mr. Dack and the Hon. Oliver Mcwat. The only remaining consolation to Mr. Shaw is being given by those of his own color, straight, unchangeable Tories. Mr. Dack is making an enormous fight, and completely exposes the Tory lawyer's efforts to mislead.

SACRED MUSIC.

Splendid Programme Given in St. Peters Cathedral—Those Who Took Part,

About 700 persons attended the grand sacred concert given in St. Peter's Cathedral last evening, and it is safe to say that all were thoroughly satisfied with the feast all were thoroughly satisfied with the feast of music presented. A temporary gallery was erected on each side of the large organ for the accommodation of the orchestra, brass and string, which did its portion of the work in a very creditable manner, the members of "D" school band composing the brass and teeds, and Messrs. Roselle Pococke, Berk. Chadwick and J. Johnston first violius. The chorus numbered 120 voices, and tested the capacity of the organ loft to the last square inch. The singing of the large chorus was certainly a great feature, square inch. The singing of the large chorus was certainly a great feature, Handel's Dettingen Te Deum being carried through with spirit and precision. But this was excelled by the rendering of the "Gloria" from Farmer's Mass in B flat, the volume of voice, coupled with full organ and orchestral accompaniment, having a grand effect and making the large edific fairly vibrate with the sound. Dr. Verrinder, who was the conductor of the evening, deserves much credit for the excellent standard to which he has brought this large. deserves much credit for the excellent standard to which he has brought this large chorus, their work last evening being the result of patient and constant rehearsal. Mr. D. J. O'Brien, of St. Mary's Cathedral, Hamilton, presided at the organ, and proved himself a master musician of the first rank. His orchestration was very effective, and the accompaniments to the solos brilliant, vet in full sympathy with the voice.

The solo "Les Rameaux" (Faure), by Mrs. solo "Les Rameaux" (Faure), by Mrs. Egan, was given in splendid voice with care and confidence. Mrs. Ellis sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" from "Theodora," giving a conscientious and careful rendition of that beautiful selection careful rendition of that beautiful selection in such excellent voice as to prove even a surprise to her greatest admirers. Miss Mulligan's solo, "Quoniam" from "Farmer's," was very creditable, being rendered with spirit and correctness. Mr. W. Miller sang "When Thou Tookest Upon Thee," in the "Te Deum." He is a young and promising tenor robusto and is rapidly and promising tenor robusto and is rapidly and promising tenor robusto and is rapidly showing many signs of improvement in voice cultivation. Mr. P. J. Watt sang in good voice and assisted in the quartet, as also did Misses McCarthy and Mulligan and Messrs. Miller and Egan.

As a whole the concert was undoubtedly a success, both financially and from a musical standpoint. Dr. Verrinder intends taking up the "Creation" at once and giving it as soon as efficiency is reached by the large chorus. Such efforts are deserving of the greatest encouragement from the music-loving people.
