ALL TRAINS WERE CROWDED

C. P. R. and Other Lines Also Report a Tremendous Traffic for Christmas.

Yesterday's traffic on the local rail roads has, according to all official reports, never been surpassed in any previous year.

All day long the depots presented a busy scene. Early in the morning crowds of shoppers began to arrive, and every succeeding train brought in its loads. Hundreds of former Londoners are in the city spending the holiday with friends and relatives. The Grand Trunk reports that traffic on the branch lines has been exceptionally heavy.

An official stated to The Advertiser last night that fully 6,000 persons had been carried locally during the day. In addition to this there was a very beavy through traffic.

At 7 o'clock last evening the Grand Trunk depot presented a scene similar to that on a busy day of the Western Fair, and for a time it was difficult to was wet through as a result of his force one's way through the crowds.
