LOCAL ATHLETIC CLUB PROJECT TO BE REVIVED

Merchant Says More Small Industries Are Essential To Town's Growth

DEFINITE STEPS WILL BE TAKEN IN SPORT MOVEMENT WITHIN THE NEXT WEEK

Investigation Will Be Made and Some Course of Action Decided Upon Without Delay.

Local patrons of sport and the young people of Campbellton particularly will not doubt learn with interest that the project launched last year in an endeavor to establish an all-round athletic association in this town will shortly be revived according to a statement made today by the secretary of the club which was organized during the summer of last year.

Just what plan of procedure will be adopted to revive this splendid movement and what means will be employed to arouse interest and support in its behalf has not been announced but definite steps will be taken in the near future to re-organize the Campbellton Amateur Athletic Club which is, owing to the severe recession met with, a club in name only.

It will be remembered by all those interested in good clean sport among the young that an athletic club was duly organized here last summer.

Officers were elected, the necessary working committee appointed, rules and regulations drawn up, extensive plans formulated and even a board of trustees appointed. Every provision was made for the success of the undertaking. As a mere matter of evolution the project should have gone ahead without a halt. But every good movement has its obstacles and those that confronted the Campbellton Athletic Club, still in its infancy, proved too great a barrier for it to conquer. The past months show no record that any of the promoters have reason to be proud of. The intervening period has been one of complete inertia so far as any progress is concerned.

According to present indications, however, this period of inactivity is at an end. The summer season is rapidly drawing to a close but that should make no difference. Now is as opportune a time as any to revive this worth while undertaking. Within the next week certain investigations will be made and as soon as a course of action is determined upon definite steps will be taken without delay.

A TREAT FOR ALL SPORT FANS

Dempsey-Gibbons Fight Pictures to be Shown at Opera House Saturday Night

The Dempsey-Gibbons Fight Pictures which are to be shown on Saturday evening next, after the regular shows, at the OPERA HOUSE indicate very clearly that Tommy Gibbons is still the most capable fighter that has ever appeared in a match with Jack Dempsey.

The entire fifteen rounds are given in detail and the audience will have the opportunity of forming their own conclusions as to whether the coming return match is likely to terminate. Richard, the New York promoter, has come to a preliminary understanding with Kearns, Jack Dempsey's manager and while the moving picture contract with Dempsey will necessitate some delay, there are possibilities of the fight between the two heavyweights in September.

Many fight fans believe that Gibbons is getting better every day, whereas Jack Dempsey, they are convinced, is standing still. In any event, by September there is every indication that the pugilists will be very evenly matched.

The pictures of the fight at Shelby were taken on a very bright day and are perfect in photography. One site and every blow struck during the fifteen rounds for which the fight fans visited Shelby paid fifty dollars to see Crowded houses are being given this picture everywhere it is exhibited.

FINE PROGRAMS AT CHAUTAUQUA

Many Noted Artists Present Entertainment of Splendid Educational Value

Although there is evidently a difference of opinion as to whether the Chautauqua program is as good this year as it was last, there is no doubt but what the past week of entertainment furnished by these distinguished visitors placed before local audiences amusement which has a distinct educational and cultural value and which can safely be classed with the best entertainment of the kind available in Campbellton.

One or two of the programs were disappointing to some but on the whole Chautauqua this year has been greatly enjoyed by a large majority of the patrons. The lectures were all particularly good, all being characterized by a fine moral tone and of undoubted educational value.

The opening exercises on Thursday afternoon last, conducted by the Superintendent were much enjoyed by all and started Chautauqua Week off in earnest. The concerts during the afternoon and evening by the Blue and White Marimba Band drew much applause and were keenly enjoyed by large gatherings. The Character Impersonations on Thursday evening by Noah Beilhart were particularly well done and won prolonged showers of applause from the audience.

Friday the second day of the Chautauqua program presented a larger range of talent. The audiences also were larger. The Kennedy-Johns Recital Company proved a most popular, as well as most talented musical trio and their fine selections added much to the program. "The Inexorable Lie," a spirited lecture by Private Harold Post was much enjoyed and widely discussed. This well-known soldier and lecturer dealt some length with the grave possibilities of future world catastrophes and made a stirring appeal for international understanding, the curbing of national egotism and of the promotion of greater peace and harmony among the nations of the world. The speaker, a young Canadian who served with the C. E. F. during the late war was thoroughly familiar with his subject and his pleasing personality and admirable force as an orator made a stirring appeal for international understanding, the curbing of national egotism and of the promotion of greater peace and harmony among the nations of the world.

The Chautauqua program for Saturday was voted a very entertaining one. A lecture by the Chautauqua Superintendent, Mr. Dickson, was well presented and very much enjoyed by all. A concert by the Swarthmore Trio was very pleasingly rendered and won much well-merited applause.

A full program of magic was given. Eugene Powell billed as the Dean of American Magicians was the performer and by his skill as an illusionist kept the attention of a large audience.

With Monday the Chautauqua program improved perceptibly and seemed to get better with each successive performance. A concert by the Smith-Spring Holmes Orchestra Quintet was a most pleasing and well presented and very much enjoyed by all. A large audience attended and these talented players won much hearty applause.

A concert by these popular musicians opened the evening program and this enjoyable musical program was followed by a Lecture Forum conducted by the Hon. Quin O'Brien of Chicago. This was obviously one of the best things on the program.

Mr. O'Brien's addresses which was all too brief was one of much local interest. This captivating speaker, who is regarded as one of the most

"CONTINUED PROGRESS DEPENDS LARGELY ON PROMOTION OF MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISES"

With the Coming of Hydro Electric Power Campbellton Has A New Opportunity in This Respect.

"What Campbellton needs most now, in my opinion, to stimulate her progress, is more small industries," a prominent local merchant said yesterday in conversation with the Graphic. "With the coming of hydro electric power we will be able to supply a good number of small industrial establishments of one kind and another with all the power they would require. Large interests seeking to locate here should not be discouraged but the real opportunity for the town at present lies in promoting smaller industries which would greatly help to make Campbellton a busier commercial centre and yet not require more electric power for operation than we are in position to provide." As to the success of such enterprises here there is no doubt. We have at least one example on the north shore. A few years ago a man started the manufacture of marmalade on a small scale up-country here and now there is a great demand for that commodity. It is not only the "best seller" in Campbellton by a big lead but is known and demanded by scores of retailers all over the province. And what started it. Merely the instinctive of one man who believed that others had accomplished in other places could be done here just as well. There is nothing phenomenal about the success of this particular undertaking. It is a very natural result and there is no doubt that if other manufacturing enterprises were started here on a small scale, they would enjoy an equal measure of success.

Campbellton is crowded with stores it has too many. There is probably no line now in which there are real opportunities for any considerable profit through retailing but the few are undoubtedly big opportunities for those who are in a position to promote manufacturing projects. All we have here in this respect is the lumber business which fluctuates according to the foreign market. Just now it looks anything but promising. Moreover whether conditions in the lumber industry are good or not it provides very little local employment in winter time and local trade suffers as a result. Until this condition is overcome through the establishment of year round industries Campbellton will not go very far. This is a mighty important matter and should be given serious consideration.

Death in a horrible form came to two sons of Maxine Albert, of St. Hillside at an early hour yesterday morning. The elder, Antoine, and his brother, whose name is not known, but who was fourteen years old, were engaged Monday in haying on a farm at Baker Brook, along with two other men. Being some distance from home they retired for the night to a small barn nearby, the Albert brothers on the ground floor, the other two on the floor above.

Tragedy broke in. About 1 o'clock in the morning one of the latter, Soney by name, awoke to find the barn afire. He aroused his companion and together they leaped to the ground.

They broke a ground floor window, reached the window, and when the fire had burned out the two bodies were found to be charred.
