

MAYOR AND ALDERMANIC CANDIDATE IN TILT OVER "PURSE STRINGS" OF CITY

V. P. Cronyn Charges Mayor To Pledge Self To Support Any Policy 100 Per Cent. In Interests of City—Electorals Hear Civic Problems Discussed At Two Meetings.

A passage at arms between V. P. Cronyn, one of the aldermanic candidates, and Mayor Wenige at Halo Street School last evening provided the first bit of "pep" that has been injected into the campaign meetings thus far. This was a discussion with reference to the statement made by the mayor at a Rotary Club meeting this year where he intimated that a saving of $500,000 could have been made in the city in the last three years under a commission form of government.

Pointing out that he was not attacking the mayor in any way, Mr. Cronyn asked his worship one question: "If you and I are elected to the Council next year, Mr. Mayor, I will support you in any policy you may bring forward that is 100 per cent. in the interests of the city and I want to know if you will make the same promise for me?" Mr. Cronyn queried.

"When my recommendations were made by the mayor in the last three years they were in the interests of the city," the mayor declared.

MR. CRONYN INSISTS "One hundred per cent." Mr. Cronyn asked.

"Yes, 100 per cent., so far as my ability would permit," the mayor replied.

"But that does not answer my question," Mr. Cronyn insisted, while the mayor insisted that it was answered.

Mr. Cronyn suggested that the electors should choose their representatives carefully. They should not vote for one candidate whom they would be afraid to let hold their purse strings.

The mayor, referring to an advertisement inserted in the press by Mr. Cronyn, stated he "never cared a hoot for any newspaper, but he wanted to know how Mr. Cronyn would go about it to save $500,000 if he were elected, particularly when this amount is lost in three years through the present form of government."

"How is Mr. Cronyn going to reduce the amount of machinery?" the mayor asked.

"The city has taken one vote on the commission form of government, but we have had five votes on the new city hall," Mr. Cronyn pointed out.

"The chairman of this discussion out of order," the mayor declared.

MAYOR SPEAKS. The mayor, who was the first speaker on the program at this school, repeated his former address on a large extent with reference to his policy, etc.

He also declared that he was opposed to the entrance of politics into civic affairs. He had no political aspirations. There were a few "outlaws" going around from house to house with poisoned tongues and dyspeptic stomachs. He had got rid of some of the results of mixing politics with civic affairs when he was instrumental in relieved of pain in time to go to party.

BACKACHE GIVEN QUICK RELIEF

Tried simple home treatment and pain stops

An aching back is often the result of tired, over-strained muscles, and can be given quick and complete relief with a very simple home treatment.

"I had such a backache I didn't know what to do," writes a New York woman. "I looked through my medicine cabinet to see if I could find something to help me—and there was a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. I used it, and in half an hour I was better. The next day I went to a big engagement party. Now, when anyone has a pain, I say 'use Sloan's.'"

The marvelous effectiveness of Sloan's is due to the stimulating effect that it has upon the circulation. Straight to the sick, aching tissues, it sends a healing tide of fresh new blood—clears out the trouble—kills the pain.

So pleasant and clean to use, too. You don't even have to rub. Just put it on gently and you will get immediate results. All druggists—35 cents.

Take a Person Wearing Glasses—

ADD acknowledged skill and thoroughness in examination.

ADD correctly ground and fitted glasses.

ADD constant effort to please every customer.

TOTAL A SATISFIED EYEGLASS WEARER

F. STEELE London's Leading Optometrists Opp. Loew's Theater

CALLED TO THE BAR

ROLAND CARCELLAN, eldest son of Magistrate and Mrs. Carcellan, who was recently called to the bar in Toronto. He will start his law practice in partnership with his father.

ing 400,000 gallons. The utilities board was too automatic. It was time for a change.

Commissioner Pocock asked Mr. Smith about his claim that the rates had increased. Mr. Smith replied that "your own bills show it," he retorted.

Mr. Smith then declared with emphasis that the statement that money had been paid over for the purpose of reducing the tax rate was untrue. He had called the city treasurer and been informed that no such payment had been made.

"Do you refer to last year?" queried Mr. Pocock. Mr. Smith admitted that this was what he referred to.

Trusting Mr. Copeland asked the support of the audience for another term. He was then questioned as to his own opinion on the matter of the schools closing the schools and going to Detroit. He replied that it might not be a good plan, but it was a departmental regulation.

"A sort of sightseeing trip that he made in the summer holidays," suggested the questioner. Mr. Copeland admitted with a smile that a day during the summer might be just as good.

Mr. Rose declared that she almost felt as if she should be among the aldermanic candidates. She would have more company if defeated. She was making no promises for the future, but was seeking re-election on her past record and she declared with emphasis that she had never attempted to obtain any privileges at any time that were not accorded to her.

A man in the audience arose to ask what Mrs. Rose had to say about the Technical School. He stated that his daughter was asked to bring 30 cents for a magazine subscription necessary to her school work. She had not received the magazine and could not get her money back.

Mrs. Rose promised to look into the matter immediately.

Trustee B. N. Campbell stated that there was work on the Board of Education for lady members and he urged for their election. He referred to the Frazer and Empson venues, erected during his tenure of office, and declared both to be economical samples of construction. He stated that a body that had little or no revenue, yet it spent a good deal of money. His job during his term of office had been to look after the financial affairs and protect the citizens against possible losses.

Frank H. Curran, local barrister, another candidate for the Board of Education, asked for election to that body on his record of public success. He proposed to give the citizens a financial administration, with the citizens' interests always first in mind.

ALD. BOTTRILL. Ald. Bottrill stated that he was in attendance for the purpose of giving himself to the audience. He was spending his own money just as much as the other fellows who were elected to the Council and the job was an important one. If his record had been satisfactory they would be re-elected. He urged the electors to elect him.

Trustee A. R. Cairncross, in his initial appearance at the public meeting, declared that he was out for election because there was still some work to be done. He stated that the Board of Education, this was especially in connection with the East Collegiate.

Mr. Cairncross stated that he had been a member of the Board of Education for several years and he had been successful in his term of office. He urged the electors to elect him.

W. J. Kilpatrick stated that he had been urged to run for Council by a large number of citizens and he had accepted the nomination. He stated that he would be glad to take his part in Council matters if the electors saw fit to give him their vote.

To Stop a Cold in One Day. Take laxative BROWNE'S TABLETS. The Safe and Proven Remedy. (The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablets) Signature of E. W. Browne, the box 30c. Made in Canada.—Adv.

MAYOR AT FACTORIES. Mayor Wenige addressed meetings yesterday in the McCormick Manufacturing Company and Kellogg Company plants. The mayor explained his platform and outlined the local improvements, etc., that have been constructed in the city during the current year.

Don't Cough Your Head Off Don't Cough All Night Long. Mrs. Thos. Gilbert, Welland, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I took a very severe cold, and it settled on my lungs. I coughed day and night, and had such severe pains, in my chest I could hardly bear them, but finally I sent and got a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Pine Syrup. After I had taken a couple of doses I found that my cough was relieved and the pains were gone, and by the time I had finished taking the whole bottle I was completely rid of my trouble.

Now, I will never be without a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's' in my home." Put up only by T. T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FOUR INCHES OF SNOWFALL IN CITY DURING NOVEMBER. There was a total of four inches of snowfall in London for the month of November, which is the lowest for the month in 22 years, according to the local official weather statistics. This compares with six inches of snowfall during November, of 1924, and a rainfall of 0.83 inches for the same month. The lowest temperature registered during the month just closed was on the 20th when the thermometer dropped to 14 and the highest temperature of the month was 54 on the 11th. During November of last year the lowest registration was 14 on the 17th and the highest 57 on the 6th.

I. O. O. F. DISTRICT RALLY ON FEBRUARY

Degrees To Be Conferred At Ritz Gardens BANQUET IN EVENING

Seven Hundred Brethren From Outside City Expected To Attend

The annual district rally of the London district, No. 14, I. O. O. F., will be held in the Ritz Pleasure Gardens on Friday of this week. This year the visiting degree team will come from Hamilton, and Victoria Lodge, No. 64, of that city, will confer the initiatory degree on district members who will be candidates for the honor.

The degree team from this lodge is considered one of the best in the Hamilton district and is capable of presenting the ritualistic work in a very impressive manner.

After the lodge of instruction is completed a banquet will be served in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Alma block, at which a number of prominent speakers will be heard.

The list of speakers for the evening will include A. S. Rennie, P. G., of Tillsonburg; Rev. A. C. Cummer, P. G., of Thorndale; Rev. J. W. Hibbert, G. S. W. of this city; S. P. Reycraft, G. D. G. M., of Strathroy, district No. 6, I. O. O. F., and George Haylock, D. D. G. M., of London district, No. 14, I. O. O. F.

The following lodges will be represented at the gathering: Zureksa, No. 234, Forest City, No. 183; Dominion, No. 48; Chorazin, No. 190, of this city; Lily, No. 211, of Dorchester, and Ilerton, No. 234, of George, H. G. M., of H. Harrison, P. G., will have charge of the affair.

Fellow members from over 700 Odd Fellows from district lodges will attend the rally.

DIAMONDS ARE INCREASING RAPIDLY

There is quite an increase in the price of diamonds, and the tendency is on the upgrade. The first of the year will see quite an advance again. Buy now at the old price. Pay cash and save 20 per cent. from the new price.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

There is a fine supply of pretty, girly, whose business is solely that of marrying rich men. "The Necessary Evil" is a plausible story told in a plausible way.

AT THE THEATERS

Patricia. Solomon had many wives, if history he didn't know anything about. It is unlikely anyone living then would have been able to appreciate the funny side of a man of the present having a wife he didn't know anything about.

Excellent Cast Presents Favorite Opera, "The Mikado". Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few moments by the sights and sounds of a strange city. He made his hotel, he bathed. He breakfasted. He started for the baths and the promenade. He was almost happy, when suddenly a German band collapsed and he ordered away for a rest.

BRANDON COMPANY SCORES AT GRAND

Excellent Cast Presents Favorite Opera, "The Mikado". Running out of London, so the singing comedian told us, the wheels of the train to Dover kept on turning and turning out of the air and the measure of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." Crossing the Channel waves, with one accord, iterated and reiterated the single refrain "Tra la! Tra la!" The singer rushed by night to Hamburg, but the maddening music mocked him all the way. Arrived at the famous health resort early in the morning he was distracted for a few