It seems impossible to suppress rivalries between pulpits which are neighbors. We read of a case lately. A pastor in a large town started a series of sermons to young men. The sermons drew large audiences, when a pastor not far off started a series to young women. Very soon it was found that the young men were going where the girls were, and the first series was speedily brought to a close.

In the days when the Clyde was navigable to Glasgow for only very small vessels, a steamer stuck in the mud near Renfrew; and, as was often the case, the skipper was not sparing in strong language at the delay thus occasioned. While waiting for the rising tide, he saw a little girl approaching the river with a bucket to fetch some water. This was too much for the poor captain; and leaning over the side, he thus addressed her: "If you tak' ae drap o' water oot here till I get afloat, I'll warm yer ear for't."

THE HEART OF BARLEY.

The heart of the barley grain was long ago discovered to be rich in all the elements that go to make blood, bone and muscle, and only the fact that every preparation of the nutritious grain contained much that was indigestible prevented its being generally used. Messrs. Farwell & Rhines of Watertown, N. Y., have put in operation a process by which the nutritious part alone of barley is put in attractive form to tempt alike the appetites of sick and well. Barley Crystals, as the preparation is called, is a most delightful breakfast dish, besides being capable of transformation into many delicious desserts, and is sold in sealed tins, thus insuring perfect purity. Its sanitary value as an emollient and diuretic is well understood by physicians. The manufacturers will send a cooking sample of Barley Crystals free to anyone sending name and address.

The visit of Lord Russell to America recalls the fact that on a former visit, as he walked with Hon. W. M. Evarts alongside a wide stream across which George Washington is said to have hurled a silver dollar, Mr. Evarts told the tale recounting the physical prowess of the Father of His Country. The width of the stream and the proportions of the story caused Lord Russell to elevate his eyebrows as Mr. Evarts repeated the assertion. "You know a dollar went further in those days than it goes now," said Mr. Evarts blandly. "Ah," replied Lord Russell, not to be outdone, "and it must have been easy enough to Washington who threw a sovereign over across the Atlantic."
