of the human fingers. Thoroughly perfect art is that which proceeds from the heart, which involves all the nobler emotions; associates with these the head, yet is inferior to the heart and head; and thus brings out the whole man. Hence, it follows that since manufacture is simply the operation of the hand of man in producing that which is useful to him, it essentially separates itself from the emotions; when emotions interfere with machinery, they spoil it; machinery must go evenly without emotion. But the Fine Arts cannot go evenly; they always must have emotion ruling their mechanism, and until the pupil begins to feel, and until all he does associates itself with the current of his feelings, he is not an artist."

In Boston.

Little Tommy—"Can I eat another bit of pie?"

Mamma (witheringly)—"I suppose you can."

Tommy—"Well may I."

Mamma—"No dear, you may not"

Tommy—"Darn grammar, anyway!"
