POPRIGE SECRETARY (CIRT):

Therefore, I think there is a contradiction between the comcept of open akies and saying: "Oh but it can only be done by agreed aeroplanes or agreed equipment". Provided it is unarrand, provided it is quite clear that it is an unarrand process, there is no threat of attack involved in it, I think it should be open and as technology develops, those who develop it should be enabled to use it.

OURST 103:

(Insudible).

POREIGE SECRETARY:

You are rushing ahead with things which we have not discussed and are not being discussed here at Ottawn. So, we are satisfied, the comprehensive concept sets out the sequence of ways in which this should be discussed. And as I say, no-one has respond that, indeed Herr Genecher has reaffirmed it, not here but previously.

COESTIGE (LIP):

You meationed the problem of Polish borders, how do you address the concerns of the Poles with a 2 + 4 or 4 +2 framework?
