

I am grateful for the opportunity to speak to you today. It is always gratifying to speak to a group of Canadians, such as yourselves, for whom Canadian foreign policy, and in particular our international security policy, is an abiding interest.