Dear Sir Arthur, I have made several attempts to write you a line of sympathy since the death of your dear mother, but words seem so inadequate. You and Lady Currie were so kind to me, in my own bereavement, that I feel I must say my thoughts and prayers are with you in your irreparable loss.

Yours gratefully and sincerely,
Dorothy Sproule.
