The Solar Plexus a Great Nerve Centre

With the single exception of the brain itself, the solar plexus is the most important nerve centre in the human body. Situated just back of the stomach and close to the spinal cord, the solar plexus supplies the motor nerves to the vital organs. Injury to or weakness of the solar plexus consequently means inactivity of the vital organs of the body. This explains why a blow which reaches the solar plexus means helplessness to the person receiving it. These nerve centres all demand an enormous quantity of good, rich blood, and failing to get this, the nerve cells are starved and die, and fail to supply vital energy to the digestive and eliminatory organs.

SIGNS OF SPRING IN NORTH TORONTO

Files of brick and groups of workmen digging cellars and laying foundations are sure auguries of the approach of warm weather. A score of such indications mark the commencement of the building season in Gleebe Manor.

Proposed To Electrify The Grand Trunk Belt Line

While attending the meeting of the Railway Committee of the Ontario Legislature on March 19th, Controller Church stated that the city had applied to the Railway Board for a steam-electric line on the old G.T.R. Belt Line. Perhaps this explains why there has been so much activity in Belt Line territory of late. Shrewd real estate investors have had reason to believe that the quiet way in which the old Belt Line was being improved was significant.

The electrification of the G. T. R. Belt Line would mean a great increase in property values in the Belt Line territory, and lots in which is located at the junction of the Belt Line and Bathurst Street, would easily double in value. Those who have invested in ELMWOOD are wise. They can consider themselves fortunate. Those who haven't done so should do so at once. It's a money-maker, and the lots are going fast. Some good selections are still available.

ELMWOOD prices have not been advanced, though recent events would justify an increase. In fact, ELMWOOD lots are selling at about the same price per foot as acreage is bringing in surrounding properties. For further particulars call or phone

Real Estate Market Will Now Open Up Fast

A decidedly better feeling prevails in real estate. While very few people felt the tightness acutely, the tightness was there, and it put a damper on large transactions, although not holding back smaller deals. Even the loan companies, whose business it is to get as high rates as possible, expect things to ease up within a month. In the meantime more houses, more factories, and more warehouses than ever before are being erected, and the purchase of land for them is providing a solid and active market.

Building figures so far this year are more than a million ahead of last, and the city architect's office is rushed with plans.

The men whose business it is to participate in big central transactions in big central transactions from the south, the Easter holidays are over with, and there is nothing ahead but a smooth and very busy market.
