Though Doherty Is Acting Premier, Rowell Has Been Mouthpiece.

OTTAWA. Sept. 17.—If Premier Borden does not get back to the House September of Manager the Borden does not get back to the House very soon he may find hat we was intended to inquire into all matters affecting the soldiers, including the granuities, and certainly that was the impression which the vectorance was intended to inquire into all matters affecting the soldiers, including the granuities, and certainly that was the impression which the vectorance with the public was premier to be premier of finance, undertook to plume himself for the job, and was getting along nicely when Sir Robert inseard of his aspirations such circles without waiting to sign the peace where he had left off. He came back without waiting to sign the peace where he had left grippe. Now there is another aspirant for his job. Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the privy council, has apparently decided that he would like to preside in reality at the round table. Day after day, since the premier's absence, it has been Mr. Rowell who has risen and spoken for the Government when important questions have been discussed, and that despite the fact that Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice is acting prime minister.

cells are starving, and when they give out entirely complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old-time "pep" back in your system, and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless, contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive, and Standard Drug Company and other leading drugsists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.—Advt.

"My baby brother had eczema which began when he was about four days old. It came in little primples and then a rash, and he was covered. He was so cross gered. He was so cross that he could not sleep, and he cried.

"This lasted about two months before we used Cuticura. It helped him, so we bought more, and he was all healed after we had used two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment." (Signed) Miss Almeda Williams, Youngs Cove, N. B., May 22, 1918.

peace delegates which was done. It was he who, after Hon. Arthur Sifton, a signatory to the treaty, had sat down without having explained anything, brought the real old Tories of the Union party to their feet by acclaiming to all the world that Canada had reached the rank of nationhood through the efforts of the delegates. And it was he who, after the tumult and the shouting had died, stood for ten minutes receiving the handshakes and congratulations of these same old Tories who a year ago considered him only a Grit gone astray. It was he again who, last Friday, delivered the Government's ultimatum on the gratuity proposition and who gave the veterans to believe that the premier had receded from his former position and had now granted a committee of Parliament. Perhaps Hon. C. J. Doherty was not without intent when last night he announced on behalf of the Government that the committee would have nothing whatever to do with the question of gratuity. He prefaced his remarks by an eloquent tribute to Sir Joseph Wesley Flavelle and by a defence against the rude remarks of Joseph Archambault, who had spoken before. He declared that the world would yet thank Sir Joseph for what he had done for the empire and the world at large, and thereafter he turned to consideration of himself. Hon. Charles Murphy was not in the House. Mr. Rowell gave a blanket denial to all the charges which the member for Russell had made. To prepare the way for the new leadership he proclaimed that during his leadership of the Liberal party in Ontario he had not taken a cent for his services as such; in fact he had handed into his firm of partners as compensation for the loss of his services his sessional indemnity and $5,000 a year in addition of the profits of the firm which were coming to him. He had got along all right on the remainder. Campaign Fund. So far as the secretarial fund was concerned it was designed to pay the expenses of organizers for the "abolish the bar" campaign. He denied that he had ever aspired for the position of Sir Willfrid Laurier, and called F. F. Pardee (who was not in the House) to witness that this was so. BUMPER FAIR CROWD.

The fall exhibition had another bumper crowd today. There was a fine showing of horses and stock. All live stock was paraded in front of the grandstand. One of the features of the day was the drawing contest put on by the G. W. V. A. of town for a Chevrolet touring car, which was won by Miss Gladys Saults, daughter of Walter Saults.

The horse racing was another big attraction and some good horses were entered.

The Jury was out three-quarters of an hour and brought a verdict of guilty on the indictment of having carnal knowledge of the young woman.

The judge then asked Jardine if he had anything to say why sentences should not be passed on him, and he replied that he would not let it occur again if sentence were not passed. The judge replied that if the jury had found him guilty of rape that the sentence would have been much heavier, but that he would sentence him to the limit on the indictment of which he was found guilty, four years in the Portsmouth penitentiary at Kingston.

The prisoner felt his position very keenly and broke down crying as he was leaving the prisoners' box. M. G. Cameron, K.C., acted for the prisoner, and Dudley Holmes of Wingham prosecuted.

"A league of nations was never more needed," declared Mr. Lloyd George. "I fear the welter of warring nations will continue unless there is a strong hand like that of the federated powers to insist upon peace. I see no hope for the world except in such a strong league."

Concluding with an appeal for fair play among all clases, he exclaimed: "It is not sufficient to say that we have won the war. We want to reclaim the wilderness of the world and redress wrongs. That is due to the immortal dead. They died for the redemption of the world."

THE Globe was founded for a cause—that cause was Responsible Government, the Abolition of Clergy Reserves. the overthrowing of the Family Compact. It fought for Ecclesiastical Reform, for Representation by Population, for Confederation. All through the bitter controversies of those early days, The Globe stood conscientiously to its task. It helped lead the country through many dangers and pitfalls to great nationhood.

This was George Brown's ideal. He fought for it by his personal service in public life as well as through The Globe, which he founded in 1844. He lived to see Canada emerge from the struggle a fully confederated Dominion, stepping on to the highway of great national progress and prosperity.

What The Globe Stands For

as a nation within the British Empire, entitled to share in the settlement of great Imperial issues-such as peace and war; for the arbitration of all disputes between nations; for the equality of all Canadian citizens-regardless of race or creed-before the law-for the right of women to vote in all elections and sit in Parliament and the Provincial Legislatures; for the national ownership and operation of railways and telegraphs; for the development under Provincial or municipal control of all available water powers and the extension of public power lines wherever practicable to the farms as well as the cities and the towns-for the prohibition by Federal law of the importation, manufacture or retail sale in Canada of intoxicating liquor for a reform in the land laws and in the system of land taxation throughout the Dominion which shall encourage use and discourage speculation; for the strengthening and enforcement of the law against combinations in restraint of trade-for a tariff based on revenue requirements; for a more equitable division between Capital and Labor of the wealth produced by their co-operation in industry; for old-age pensions and the insurance of wage workers against unemployment and sickness; for the simplification of Court procedure and the lessening of appeals so that the poor shall not remain at a disadvantage; for an educa-tional system in all the Provinces that shall promote citizenship by the abolition of illiteracy.—Stewart Lyon—Editor, The Globe, in the 75th Anniversary edition of The Robert Jaffray received his inspiration from George Brown, whose guide, counsellor and friend he was. The management of The Globe by Robert Jaffray, was characterized by an ambition to maintain the George Brown traditions, and The Globe's position as the Great Family Newspaper George Brown made it.

"I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true" declared Lincoln during the darkest hours of the Civil War. As an advocate of reform and an organ of public opinion, this has been The Globe's principle. Strict adherence to and the continuance of its traditions have realized the George Brown ideal, and fulfilled the Robert Jaffray ambition.

Says the Orillia "Times": "The Globe is to-day in point of influence the foremost newspaper in Canada, and has won for itself the proud place it occupies by sheer merit. Its remarkable strength was shown during the war, no other Canadian paper approaching the excellence and detail of its cable service. The Globe was founded as a defender and exponent of the rights of the common people, and so long as it remains true to its honorable traditions, it deserves to, and will succeed."

The Globe still stands for and advocates unity, Democratic Progress and British Connection. Its present publishers are actuated by the traditions laid down by the two great personalities that directed The Globe during its early days and later development. Nothing is spared to make The Globe the paper these leaders would have it be.

It is the organ of no political party. It has always been conducted with an independence that knows no master. It submits to no outside dictation.

Like Lincoln. The Globe has staved with its friends when it has deemed them right, and parted from them when it has thought them wrong. It has stood, and still stands, by what it considers the interests and rights of the people.

From its very inception, The Globe fought for a prohibitory liquor law, for nation-wide education, for freedom of trade and commerce, for uniform and equitable legislation, for cheap postage, for the curtailment of arbitrary execu-

To-day The Globe is still the servant of the people. Its association with the piece, but of an ally in the promotion of all good causes, and of an honest critic when leaders of Liberalism lag in the advance.

The country is facing big problems that are vital to every Canadian. The Globe will consistently and persistently press its viewpoint. The discussions on these big questions and the news of passing events during the coming months should be followed very closely
