CLOVER, if cut early when just coming into blossom, and given a light dressing of plaster, or of any fine compost, will, if the stools are strong, make a vigorous second growth, and ripen a paying crop of seed. Every Farmer might raise his own clover seed in most parts of the country.

WEEDS.—Suffer none to go to seed, is easily written, but very hard to carry out. Still, the nearer we can live up to this injunction, the easier will it be to carry it out, year after year. Many weeds, pulled or cut up in blossom, will ripen and seed while dying, but few, the seeds of which are not fully mature, will survive the hog pen, in root or seed. It is never too late to pull docks in the mowing. Canada thistles, cut a few times below the surface, will disappear.

SHEEP are distressed by the gad fly this month and next, and should be protected by tarring their noses, extending up, where they will not rub it off in feeding. The fly lays eggs in the nostrils, which hatch, and, the worms ascending, cause the "grub in the head."

The little tax of one cent on every box of matches netted the government of the United States $15,000,000 in 1866.

An author has easy times in the world; whenever he gets out of money all he has to do is to write for more.
