INVICTUS shoes

Putting your "best foot forward" requires that you be well shod.

Almost any shoe looks well in the dealer's window, but it is only a quality shoe, such as Invictus, that keeps its trim appearance during months of hard wear.

No shoe can give you more foot-comfort, style assurance and pocket economy than

Jackson Has Nervous Collapse.

Columbus, Ohio, April 15.—Joe Jackson, Cleveland's great slugger, has suffered a nervous collapse as the result of his family troubles. Within the last ten days he has lost fifteen or twenty pounds in weight as the result of not eating and brooding over his troubles. In an effort to get in shape after his left field fence to capture his long drives. He got a single and a triple, his other two times up, and stole third base. As soon as the game was over, though, he went to bed, being unable to eat. Jackson recently led a run-in with a sheriff, who tried to arrest him on account of his mortal troubles.

May Warm Up.

New York, April 15.—John K. Tener, president of the National League, held a meeting with his official staff of umpires today. The following umpires were in attendance: Robert Egan, William Klein, Charles Rigler, Albert Orth, William Byron, William Hart and George Cockhill. The latter has just been appointed to the staff.

Maritime Championships.

Gloucester, N. B., April 15.—Application has been made for a permit to hold the amateur boxing championships of the maritime provinces here on May 17, and as it is several years since those championships events have been held in Cape Breton it is more than likely that M. P. B. C. A. U. will give their sanction to holding the tournament here next month.

There will be six classes, as follows:

118, 122, 126, 142, 158 lb., and heavy weight, and each class should be well filled. Among the local boxers who would take part are Davy Nolan, Charlie Guthrie, Freddy Lewis, Jake Kipling, Frankie Morrison, Dannie McDonald, Lauchie McLean, Hughie Murphy, Charlie Campbell, Alex McNoll, John Alex McIntyre (Nicky's brother), Jackson, a colored welterweight from New Aberdeen, Roddie Gillis, Jimmy Nichol, Tommy Allan McDonald, and others. Besides these, there are some clever amateurs at New & Reserve, Bridgeport, Dominion, Waterford, Sydney and North Sydney. Entries would also come from provincial clubs.

Suitable prizes will be hung up for the winners of each class.

Los Angeles, April 15.—Jess Willard undoubtedly has a clear claim to the title of world's champion, but he must share the title with another, for he did not win the battle in Havana alone. He was aided as much as though there was a third fighter in the ring helping him, and when he sent that crashing blow to Jack Johnson's jaw, knocking the big black out, his victory was due as much to the unseen presence as to his own efforts.

Mrs. Jess Willard made her husband champion of the world.

In a letter she received from him today he told her that during every minute of that terrific battle he was thinking of her and the plans they made for their children. He gave her credit for having prepared him for the triumph.

"Jess gives me too much credit for his success, but I am glad to share the championship with him if he wants it that way," said Mrs. Willard.

"I am glad that I have been able to help him, but just remember that Jess is a good, clean-living man, and it has not taken any effort on my part to keep him in the right path."

"He says I was with him in his thoughts every minute during the battle; well, I was with him in spirit, too, and I am a mighty happy woman to think that he has worked his way to the championship."

"I do not object to his being a fighter. I have always been confident that he would one day win the championship and he says it was my confidence in him that has helped him attain the object of his ambition. Both Jess and I were sure that he would win. We never made any plans in the event of his losing. All our plans were made with a view to his winning that fight. We have four children and Jess wanted to win that fight, not only for the championship, but to give our children every advantage."

Very Much in Love.

Pete was a colored gentleman, and very much in love. But, greatly as he desired Miss Johnson for his wife, he was so bashful that he dared not ask for her in person, so he had to seek recourse to the telephone to make known his love. He rung her up at the house of her employer, and inquired, "Is dat you, Miss Johnson?" "Yass," was the reply. "Well, Miss Johnson, I've got a most important question to ask you?" "Yass?" "Will you marry me, Miss Johnson?" and the answer came, "Yass; who is it, please?" The foundations of character are laid in the home.

FIVE PART SPECIAL LUBIN PRODUCTION

It's a tense, overpowering drama that just escapes tragedy by a happy twist, teeming with thrilling and unexpected situations, brimful of action; it embraces a strong love story, containing many scenes that are intense and gripping. It shows the mental and physical strife between a Jewish and a Gentile family both imbued with honor and fair dealing, but opposite in interest. The mesh of love woven by the children, however, draws the families together. Truly a remarkable and worthy production.
