

SUNDERLAND KEEPS LEAD BY CLOSE MARGIN

At Upton Park a curious game was witnessed when West Ham adopted the "No-back game." In the first half no fewer than fourteen off-side decisions were given against Blackburn Rovers, most of them near the centre-line. Blackburn retaliated in the second frame, but they were not so successful as the Hammers and had to accept their defeat.

The aspect of the league has undergone a slight alteration, but Sunderland has narrowed the gap between them, reducing the margin to one point only, instead of three as heretofore. Aston Villa has moved up into third place, while Huddersfield Town has dropped to seventh.

IN SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, Nov. 16.—The playing grounds of the Scottish League teams Saturday were soggy, due to a mixture of fog and frost that was experienced everywhere in the British Isles. There were plenty of surprises with respect to the games themselves, and on of them was the defeat of St. Mirren, the league leaders, by St. Johnstone, the tail-enders at Perth. The margin was only one goal, but it was nevertheless enough to bring St. Mirren's crown again into contention.

COMMUNITY PLATE WEEK

Introducing The New HAMPTON COURT DESIGN

A Masterpiece of Craftsmanship

A decorative panel of rare beauty found in the famous Palace at Hampton Court, England, built by Cardinal Wolsey in 1516, furnished the motif from which COMMUNITY craftsmen created the regally magnificent Hampton Court Design.

On your table, its beauty will never fail to re-awaken the admiration which inspired its purchase. It will become your treasured "family plate" in which pride of ownership will increase with time—the years of service and pleasure which it gives you.
