YALE AND HARVARD CREWS

IN SPLENDID SHAPE

Both Eight Sailed to be the Best That Have Carried the University Colors for Years

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 21.—

The hard work of the Yale and Harvard rowing squad, which are in quarters up river four miles ended last night, and the warm wave which is passing over this section will give the men a rest. There is little chance for the men until Thursday can take matters easily. There will be short daily rows when conditions are favorable but no grueling spurs for long distances. The variety of the eight is in excellent condition physically and full of courage over the prospect. There is little chance between the two eights, in spite of the change made last week in the Harvard crew when Cutler was moved from the bow seat to take the place of Fish, recalled to Cambridge. Individually both eights are made up of the best men who have filled seats in crews sent to the Thames in recent years.

Scrutiny of the rival eights covering the period of practice here, shows that Yale has a very strong, smooth rowing boat. Expert oarsmen say that beyond question this year the crew looks to be the best in a good many years.

The Harvard eight is recognized as the best seen on the river for years, and it is with this strength, keeps the boat going all the time and has great smoothness in its blade work and any crimson crew ever seen here. The Yale crew finished its stroke cleaner, but aside from the both crews seem at their best very much alike. Cutler's absence in the boat has not made any noticeable difference.

ANNUAL COMMUNION

Smallness of the Head Church the Reason Given for Communion—Branch Churches Will Continue

BOSTON, June 20.—

The annual communion of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, which for some years have been the occasion of the gathering in Boston of vast multitudes of Christian Scientists from all parts of the world, bringing over 5,000 to Boston last week, were to be discontinued. The great membership of the Boston church and its limited seating capacity is given as the principal reason for abolishing the communion season in the mother church in a communication sent out today by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, head of the church, which provides, however, that the branch churches shall continue the custom of the communion season.

ROOSEVELT ON VOCATION

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 21.—

In a suit of white duck, wearing tan shoes and a Panama hat at a looking as well and happy on the second day of his vacation, President Roosevelt with Mrs. Roosevelt drove out today by Sagamore Hill. Mr. Roosevelt attended the morning session in Christ Church, of which Mrs. Roosevelt is a member.

Less than 150 persons were in attendance at the service. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt were the only ones of the president's family here came to the church in the family carriage.

Captain Baker was born at Round Brook Island, in Wellfleet, March 15, 1840.

NEW YORK, June 21.—James Cantillon, of Marlott, Wis., who was totally blind, regained his sight at Bellevue Hospital today during a fit of hysterics which followed the surgeons' announcement to him that his case was considered hopeless and that he would probably remain blind for the remainder of his life.

PARIS, June 21.—A despatch received by a news agency here from Rome says that all the French deputies and senators who voted for the separation law have been communicated "inter sententiae" and that the French bishops must refuse them Christian burial unless they repent before they die.

PARIS, June 22.—The Echo de Paris states that Prince De Sagan and Mme. Goulbroux have been crossed the Channel to Folkestone.

OTHELLO ENACTS

A BLOODLESS ROLE

Tries to Win Back His Erring Wife by Volleys of Blank Cartridges

PARIS, June 21.—

An Othello of Passy has turned out less tragic than he seemed. He is an honest publican of middle age, and his young wife, lent too willing an ear to a dashing book-keeper of 24. He swore that he would be horribly revenged, and compelled her to assign an appointment to her lover while he lay in wait behind a curtain. When the barkeeper was there the husband revealed himself with a large revolver in his hand. He fired off all six chambers, three at the lover, who bolted, and three at the wife, who screamed "murder" and fell back, not dead, but in a faint.

The jealous husband had shot all six times with blank cartridges. Why, under the circumstances, he took the trouble to fire at all is an interesting problem in psychology. At any rate, having blazed away, he seemed satisfied. All the neighbors rushed in, gave myrrid in charges" and the wronged husband, and he insisted that his wife, who was upset but unharmed, should see that she was sufficiently demonstrative part in the general drama, she threatened to take a cutting knife and stab herself repeatedly in the left side over the heart. But luckily, she had the forethought to keep her ways on, and to strike the ribs of the corset, and it did not even prick her. All dramatics ended when the police arrived, and the husband and wife finally this time made it up, and will live happily reunited by tragic-comedy.

HEAT RESULTS IN

MANY DEATHS

BOSTON, June 21.—One death and a number of prostrations was the result of a hot Sunday in Boston today. Edward Brown, aged 72 years, was overcome and died in church.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The warm weather around this city today drove numbers to the beaches for relief and as a result eight drownings were reported. It is believed that there were several others, but the police simply state that they are missing. Five prostrations were reported. The maximum temperature for the day was 87.0.

NEED AND NEEDS.

Perhaps many persons have wondered why they are taught to say "I need not do that," instead of "I need not do that," as the singular pronoun, he, requires under ordinary conditions the singular form of the verb. The reason is that in a sentence of that kind, a negative sentence, expressing requirement or obligation, "need" becomes an auxiliary and takes no change of termination in the third person singular. This exception is laid down in the grammar.

TWO PAIN STORIES.

Mr. James Payn, was one of the kindest-hearted of men, yet he was sometimes cruel in his remarks. One night he had been playing whist at his club having as one of his opponents, a man he had just dined. After winning his ruben Mr. Payn threw back his head and gave vent to one of his great laughs. "Payn," said his opponent angrily, "you laugh like a cannibal." "Well, if I do," said the novelist, "at least I can't swallow you."

Upon another occasion he was met by a man of his acquaintance, at whose rough and uncouth manner he often joked. "It's all very well, Payn," said the personage, "but I don't run about like you. I live all my life on one floor" (meaning thereby that he stayed in his office all day). "Really," said Mr. Payn, "and not the first floor either, I should imagine!" The late St. Fletcher Robinson, in the Windsor Magazine.

NOSE WAS LONG

Troubles of an Everyday Cyano Culminate in Astonishing Attack

PARIS, June 21.—

Charles Bertrand, a mechanic, aged 25 years, yesterday lost an eye and is now lying in a hospital because nature has bestowed on him a nose of phenomenal dimensions. He was walking along the Rue Croix-Nivert when a man approached him, and, walking by his side, continued to take an offensive interest in his social appearance. Bertrand is accustomed to annoyance of this sort, but in this case it was so pronounced that he turned into a cafe to escape it.

But the man followed him, and, accosting him promptly, demanded what he meant by going about with such a monument on his face. The owner replied sadly that he was irremediable, but the man declared that he would remove it, and would not stand in the street at the object of his hatred. He thereupon drew a revolver aimed at the nose of the unfortunate Bertrand through the side of the cafe. He was at once arrested, and his victim was removed to the hospital.

A TEMPERANCE TATTOO.

Kim Kyong Gyoop, a big, strapping fellow energetic in body and zealous in spirit, who is engaged in selling the scriptures in Korea, has a tattoo on his arm, which is a warning to him to keep away from alcohol. For three years he has been a member of the Christian church. When Kim became a Christian he was told that he should not drink. He has been twenty-seven "devil's nests," made of paper and old rags.

On the back of each thumb Kim has a black spot and the missionary asked him if they were tattooed.

"Yes," said Kim. "I did that when I vowed to give up strong drink, so that if ever again I raised a glass of liquor to my mouth in either hand I should see that spot and remember my vow."—London Quiver.

AS GOOD AS A PORTER.

It is curious how many people are in ignorance of simple little facts in connection with every day life, which would save them a large amount of unnecessary labor and fatigue. Take the case of carrying a heavy bag of portmanteau for instance. We all know that carrying a bag is a laborious task, but few of us know that the most laborious task is the carrying of a bag against the arm that is supporting the bag. By folding a couple of newspapers and putting them under one's armpit a large amount of the strain and inconvenience is immediately removed. Try it next time you are hurrying to catch a train.
