Rev. Father Berube Tells of his Plans to Found French Canadian Colony On West-

Montreal, March 31.—Rev. Father Berube, the much-discussed parish priest of Vonda, Saskatchewan, who has been the subject of much criticism amongst French-Canadians for his defence of the school system of the province of Saskatchewan, while in this city recently proclaimed the complete success of his efforts to induce his compatriots to settle in the West. He went even further. "I will succeed," he stated, "in planting a little province of Quebec in Saskatchewan and others will do the same thing in Alberta; yet we will not tread on other people's toes for we all live happily and harmoniously together on the western plains." Abbe Berube, whose writings have been criticized in the columns of L'Action Sociale was a former member of the teaching staff of the Seminary of Rimouski, and was a vicar at the cathedral of that episcopal town. He admitted that he had travelled much since those days, and had changed—his opinions in certain matters, although he never sacrificed a principle in matters of religion or nationality. He had come to look upon the province of Saskatchewan as the finest country in the world, and for four years he had striven to attract his fellow countrymen towards the West, with the result that five parishes had been created containing a population of from two to three thousand and all were well satisfied with the outlook. On Wednesday he would direct one hundred families to the western land and on April 8th from four to five hundred additional families will follow the parish priest of Vonda to the promised land of Saskatchewan.
