

- Fiske, John, on the Eskimos, 28-9; on the Norsemen having visited America, 65.
- Five Nations, 36, 39.
- Francis I of France, his reasons for sending out explorers, 97-8.
- Geology, its evidence as to mankind's early presence in America, 22-3.
- Glacial drift, its path, extent, and where its stones are found, 7-8.
- Gomez, Stephen, his voyage of exploration, 101-2.
- Great Lakes, early area, 6.
- Greenland, first settlement, 51-3.
- Gunnbjorn, 50-1.
- Henry VII, his interest in the voyages of the Cabots, 72-3, 77, 78; other voyages under him, 82, 83-4.
- Henry VIII, his interest in western exploration, 82, 85.
- Hurons, when Cartier discovered the St Lawrence, 35; their abode in western Ontario, 37; degradation of their women, 39-40; gluttony, 40.
- Ice Age, effect of on the climate and soil of Canada, 7-8; evidences showing that men lived in, 23-4.
- Indians, origin of the name, 12; theories as to origin, 13-19; their languages, 20-1; writing and tools, 25-6; canoe their one great invention, 27; treatment of their women, 39; tribes of the Pacific Coast, 42; estimated numbers, 43-4.
- Iroquoian Family, 35; tribes, 36; physical and mental characteristics, 37-8; agriculture and settlements, 38-9; influence of their women, 39.
- Karlsevne, Thorfinn, his colony in Vineland, 63; his son Snorre, first white child born in America, 63.
- Legends concerning America, among the Greeks and Romans, 45; among the Irish, 46; the Chinese, 46-7; the Norse, 48-9, 55-65.
- Leif, son of Eric the Red, his voyage, 57-9; discovery of Vineland, 59-61.
- Livery Companies of London, 85.
- Mankind, races in Old World and New, 19; languages, 19-21; evidences as to how long in America, 22-4.
- Mayas of Central America, 25.
- Nachvak, sea-beach at, 10.
- Nansen, Fridtjof, his opinion ancient stories of Norsemen having reached America, 65.
- 'National Name-Book of Iceland,' 50.
- Nebular Theory, 1.
- Niagara, possible origin of, 10.
- Nicaragua, evidence of pre-historic man in, 22.
- Norsemen, reputation as mariners, 48; story of their voyages, 49-65.