THE CYCLIST'S CHANCE

The mass meeting of citizens to be held in the Old Town Hall this evening to consider the question of wheelmen's rights offers the city cyclist a chance to place his position properly before the Council and public.

It is to be hoped that there will be a good representation of business men and mechanics for co-operative action will add strength to their just cause.

Doesn't it seem strange that by-laws prohibiting profanity and obscene language on the streets can be violated with impunity, but that every effort is strenuously put forth to worry and punish the law-abiding citizen who seeks to save himself from an untimely death by riding cautiously upon the residential sidewalk?

BEST SIDE OF SPORT.

Chatham ought to encourage all its sporting organizations, especially when they are attempting to conduct games along clean and manly lines.

Athletics have a lot to do with the building up of the young manhood of this country, points out the St. Thomas Journal.

The Canadian boys who went out to South Africa and fought for their Queen and country, first became acquainted with warfare on the lacrosse and football fields of their native land. These contests at home developed their body and mind that the battles with the Boers seemed like the sporting contests of the days gone by.

All our games should be played for the benefit they give the body and the mind.

Young men who go into sport for the money that is in it make a mistake. Invariably complete devotion to sport means a loss of the best years in a trade or profession.

Thy young man who acts wisely, distributes his energy between his calling in life and his amusements. It is all right to draw a good salary as a golf, hockey, football or lacrosse player for a few years, but in sport a man's usefulness is soon at an end, and younger fellows have to take his place. Often times at thirty the best ball player, we quote baseball advisedly, because it is the most professional game in existence, is forced to retire from the game, and finds himself unfitted for any of the trades or professions of life, and he is compelled to do odd jobs here and there.

There are two sides to sport, as well as to many other things in life.

Rev. Mr. Fallis, of Woodstock, thinks women would look better in church without hats. We venture the assertion that Mr. Fallis is venturing on dangerous grounds? In the first place, what would Paul say? In the second place, what will the women say? It may be that the wicked men do the poor women a grave injustice by harboring the suspicion; but the fact is, there is a suspicion among the men, that if it were not for the hats there would not be so many women at church. With the protest of Mr. Fallis against the use of birds, either in whole, or part, in the decoration of hats, we have the heartiest sympathy.

THE WORM TURNS.
London News.

Man may be a beast, may smoke, may manure in public, may lean against things in the parlor and knock them askew, but despite all these infirmities of nature, it is not within the province of womankind to heave mud at him. Man does not squeeze himself to look like a wasp and then go out on the street and criticize all comers; man does not require an hour and a half to travel a city block, the store windows of which can be converted into mirrors; and when man goes to church he sees more than his neighbor's hat and how much his neighbor puts on the plate. And, in conclusion, we might add that men do not make themselves look fat when they're not fat, nor do they fall back on the hairdresser to increase the thatch on their heads!

HOT WEATHER CLOTHES AND DIET.
New York Herald.

It is generally agreed that thin, woolen undergarments are least affected by heat rays, while at the same time they more readily absorb the body exhalations. For such as work in the sun with a single covering for the back and chest, the old-fashioned red flannel shirt is, on account of color and texture, an excellent garment. For the outer clothing loose meshed, light-colored woolen or cotton fabrics serve a good purpose. The instinct for coolness is thus well explained on the scientific basis of our knowledge of the pentrating power of the chemical, or heat, rays of the sun.

The diet in hot weather should be sufficient for good nutrition of digestible quality and of plain character. Food tea is generally voted to be the most refreshing and safest of the cooling drinks. This sounds strangely enough, in view of the many alluring concoctions of the soda fountain and public bar. In spite of the prejudices to the contrary, the cooling effects of the beverage are most lasting and beneficial, and there are the extra advantages in its favor of promoting perspiration, stimulating heart action and eliminating respiratory products.

LOUBET IN LONDON.

Makes a Friendly Speech at the Guildhall.

London, July 8.—President Loubet called at the French Hospital and visited the Home for French Governnesses. Passing through the accident ward of the hospital, he stopped to console with a corporal of a detachment of Life Guards forming his escort, who was injured by falling from his horse outside the hospital. The President returned to St. James' Palace at about 10 o'clock. He was everywhere greeted with great cordiality, and cries of "Vive Loubet," in response to which he continually raised his hat.

A reception was accorded a deputation from the Diplomatic Corps, and shortly after noon the President, accompanied by Ambassador Cambon and Foreign Minister Delcasse, started in semi-state to visit the city. Shortly before 1 o'clock the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, preceded by Life Guards, drove up to the Guildhall, where the royal party joined the Lord Mayor, Sir Marcus Samuel, Premier Balfour, the Judges, Aldermen and others awaiting the President. Another detachment of Life Guards and outriders then rode up and amidst a good volley of cheers President Loubet drove in. The President jumped out of the carriage, shook hands all around, and after an address from the corporation had been presented to him, proceeded to luncheon.

After luncheon the Lord Mayor toasted the President of the French Republic. In reply M. Loubet said he was happy to bring to the heart of the city of London a cordial greeting from the French people. "The presence at my side of the Minister for Foreign Affairs of the republic," he said, "is a pledge to you of the value which the whole French Government attaches to the development of these happy relations of friendship between our two countries."

BLENHEIM

July 9.—On Monday evening a number of the members of Pandora Rebekah Lodge, No. 42, met in the I. O. O. F. Hall and presented Mrs. E. T. Coburn, who is leaving Blenheim to make her home in Detroit, with the following address, accompanied by a Rebekah pin, which was read and presented by Miss Anna Bacon:—

Dear Sister,—The members of Pandora Lodge, No. 42, Degree of Rebekah, I. O. O. F., take this opportunity of expressing their regret at your removal from the fair town of Blenheim.

We have learned to deeply appreciate your high character, and as a sister of our lodge, as a friend and as a neighbor, have found in you those virtues and graces first exemplified in the beautiful character of Ruth, which are known to command the respect and affection of all who have the pleasure of associating with their possessor.

We wish to convey to you our heartfelt good wishes for your future happiness and pleasure in your new home, and feel sure, that it will be but a short time till your new friends and neighbors will learn to esteem you highly.

In presenting to you this pin as a slight token of our regard we trust it may keep warm in your memory the members of this lodge, who so deeply regret your departure.

We trust that in your relations as a wife and mother all happiness may be yours.

We wish for your loved ones, as well as for yourself, all the blessings of health, happiness and prosperity, and we commend you confidently to the care of Him who has promised never to leave or forsake those who trust Him.

Signed on behalf of the lodge, Emma Wardie, N. G.; Anna Bacon, Sec.

CANADA'S PRIDE
New innovation on Grand Trunk's Famous International Limited

The dining room of the Cafe Parlor Car leaving Montreal this morning on the "International Limited" from Bonaventure Station was visited by a number of people to inspect a new innovation that the Grand Trunk are experimenting with in the way of an artistic curtain for the windows.

This morning, for the first time, the curtains that have been formerly used were taken out and substituted by a new curtain made of pantosote, with an insertion of white silk in the centre, on a view of a scene on the Grand Trunk Railway System. This process of printing was so executed that it gave the appearance of a transparency, and the picture could be seen both from the inside and exterior of the car. Among the subjects that were used was noticed the celebrated picture of "Rabbits Bay—Lake of Bays" in the "Highlands of Ontario," and one which has been so favorably compared to Loch Lomond, in Scotland. Another view was the Grand Trunk Double-Track Steel-Arch Bridge across Niagara's Gorge, and a view taken among the New England Hills.

This device in railroad equipment is entirely new, and the value of the curtains as an artistic adjunct to a railway car will be demonstrated in the next few days.

The Free Library Service, which was installed in the Cafe Parlor Cars on the Grand Trunk through trains, has been a source of much favorable comment by the travelling public, and the pictures have been made good use of, not only by the passengers, who are non-subscribers to the Book-lover's Library, but a great convenience and accommodation to the subscribers, who are allowed the privilege of exchanging their books on the Grand Trunk trains.

The "International Limited" left this morning with her usual large number of passengers.

Binder Twine Test

J. L. Haycock, ex-M. L. A. and now employed as government inspector of binder twine, visited the M. J. Wilson Cordage Company last week and made a careful test of the twine being manufactured by this company. It will be gratifying to the firm's many customers to state that in point of length, tensile strength, and uniformity of size, the twine was found to exceed the government requirements, and running in all cases nearly five per cent. over standard length.

It is said that owing to the large prospective crop this season binder twine will be a scarce commodity and it is well known that the large dealers in the United States are seeking twine at higher prices.
