YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look. Mothers! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowls are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowls and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full particulars for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

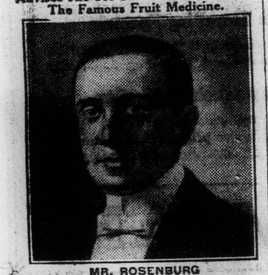
NOTED MUSICIAN OF MONTREAL

Advises The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES", The Famous Fruit Medicine.



MR. ROSENBURG

589 Casgrain St., Montreal.

April 20th, 1915.

"In my opinion, no other medicine in the world is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as "Fruit-a-tives". I was a sufferer from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis—with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and Pain in the Back. I tried pills and medicines of physicians, but nothing helped me. Then I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives", and now for six months I have been entirely well.

I advise any one who suffers from that horrible trouble—Chronic Constipation with the resultant indigestion, to try "Fruit-a-tives", and you will be agreeably surprised at the great benefit you will receive". A. ROSENBURG.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A HARD WORKER.

"Tay-Pay" O'Connor Has an Amazing Capacity for Labor.

There is one characteristic which must have impressed those who have seen "Tay-Pay" at his London flat near the House of Commons, and that is his amazing energy and capacity for work. Call in the early morning and you will invariably find Mr. O'Connor tapping the keyboard of his typewriter, for, if the Irishism may be excused, he writes everything with his own hand on the machine, turning out in prodigious numbers those brilliant articles which are read by millions of people every week.

"T.P." writes as brilliantly as he speaks—on almost any topic. Few men have so wide a knowledge, although he once told the writer that the one thing he dreads most are after-dinner speeches.

Mr. O'Connor's energy is all the more remarkable when one considers that he is sixty-eight. It is close on fifty years ago since he entered journalism as a junior reporter for Saunders Newsletter, a Dublin Conservative journal.

In 1870 he migrated to London in search of a situation, and quickly established himself as one of the most brilliant writers and editors who ever went to the British metropolis.

After being sub-editor of The Daily Telegraph, he founded The Star, The Sun, The Weekly Sun, M. A. P., and T. P.'s Weekly. He also wrote many books, notably the Life of Disraeli, while it was just like him to make, as he did, a record for time with his Life of Parnell, for the book appeared within a week of his former chief's death.

Few people know how Mr. O'Connor was christened "Tay-Pay." Years ago he used to be known in Fleet street as plain "Tom O'Connor," although he had always used the initials "T.P." One night in the roaring 'eighties, Mr. O'Connor delivered a rattling speech in the Commons, and as he finished a fellow-countryman in the Strangers' Gallery, carried away by his feelings, shouted out: "Good for you, Tay-Pay! Shure it's you that's the grand man!"

And "Tay-Pay" he has remained ever since.

ROUMANIAN QUEEN HAS HOBBY.

She Has a Collection of Some 8,000 Scent Bottles.

The Queen of Roumania is a daughter of the late Duke of Edinburgh, favorite niece of King Edward, and a first cousin to King George, and it is only natural that her sympathies are with the English. As a child, Queen Marie was the pet of Queen Victoria, who had her portrait painted by Millais when she was about five or six.

Queen Marie introduced a distinctly English tone into court circles when she arrived in Bucharest as Crown Princess, and so strong has been her influence in the Roumanian capital that English is now practically the language of the aristocracy. It has become almost a proverb in Bucharest that it is only the "women who wear kerchiefs"—that is, the laboring classes—who cannot speak English.

There is a story told of Princess Ileana, the third and seven-year-old daughter of Queen Marie and King Ferdinand, which illustrates the feeling of the Roumanian Royal Family. When teased by a foreign diplomat about her nationality, the little girl replied with dignity: "I am a little Roumanian, a little German, but mostly English."

Queen Marie, by the way, has a queer hobby. It is the collection of scent bottles, and she now has some 8,000. I hear, too, that she is head of the Society of Goddesses of Roumania, not because of her beauty, which is remarkable, but because she has promised to play fairy godmother to at least one poor child. The society, I understand, has done much good work in this fanciful way.

A Good Weapon.

Scottish Lord Young was more than a lawyer; he was a wit. The circumstance gives us a neat little passage in words:

On one occasion, at Grand Day dinner, the Poet Laureate, Alfred Austin, was one of the guests, and walked up the hall with and sat beside Lord Young. When they were seated at the table above the dais, Lord Young said to the small man:

"You'll be a lawyer like the rest of us?"

"No," said Alfred Austin, "I am a poet."

"A poet?" said Lord Young. "Do you make a living by it?"

"Yes," said the Laureate, "I keep the wolf from the door."

"What! by reading your poems to him?" said Young.

Getting Even.

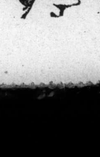
"Now, what do you want?" asked the sharp-tempered woman.

"I called to see if I could sell you some bakin' powder, ma'am," said the seedy gentleman with the staggering whiskers.

"Well, you can't sell no bakin' powder here, and I ain't got no time to waste on peddlers, anyway."

"Come to think of it, ma'am," said the seedy gentleman, as he fastened his bag, "I wouldn't care to sell you any powder. This poky little kitchen of yours is so low in the ceilin' that the bread wouldn't have no chance to rise."

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.



A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1. No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)
