The General is very anxious that the Canadian contingent shall have a part in the docisive battles of the campaign, and Col. Foster's letter is very reassuring to the General on this point. Speaking of the matter General Hutton expressed his opinion that it was most important in the interests of the Empire's and its unity that all the colonies should take part in what may be tormed the Waterloo of the campaign. Referring to the Canadian contingent being sent up on the De Aar and Belmont line, he said it was just what he expected would happen.
