Impressive Scene when Teachers and Pupils of McKeough School Paid Tribute to Departing Esteemed Colleague

On Thursday afternoon the pupils and teachers of McKeough School paid a farewell tribute to Miss Minnie Samson, the esteemed and popular young lady who is resigning her position on the teaching staff prior to her departure for Toronto.

Few members of her profession have met with the exceptional success that has throughout characterized the efforts of this accomplished young lady. Possessed of much talent and ability, Miss Samson has also the happy faculty of winning the confidence, affection and loyalty of the students—which has been evidenced from year to year in the striking results achieved.

It was exceedingly fitting and appropriate that the young folks of Miss Samson's graduation class should, on the eve of the holidays, desire to give some expression to their feelings of love and gratitude, and the last afternoon of school was chosen for this occasion.

On behalf of the class Miss Samson was presented with a beautiful fountain pen and the following expressive message:—

"Dear Miss Samson:—We are sorry to know that you are leaving our school, but we hope that the change will be for your advancement, and we know that, wherever you are, you will still take an interest in us.

Please accept the pen to remind you of your last class in McKeough School.

"MABEL HANDYSIDE. "BAROLD NORTON. "McKeough School, Chatham, Ont."

Miss Samson was completely taken by surprise, and in a few feeling and appropriate words acknowledged the remembrance.

A few moments later the principal, Miss Esther Abram, placed in Miss Samson's hands an envelope containing a little jewelled pin, a memento from her staff of teaching colleagues, including ex-Principal Jas. Brackin, with whom she co-operated so successfully when he presided over the school.

It was intended that there should have been a few short addresses in connection with the occasion, expressive of the esteem and affection in which the young lady was held, but, after all, it was a greater tribute to Miss Samson that, when the time came, no one felt able to express the feelings of the gathering and the silent hand-clasp was more eloquently expressive.

The departure of Miss Samson will be a distinct loss to the Maple City, where she is held in such universal high regard and deserved popularity, and she will be accompanied in her departure by the best wishes and hearty God-speed of scores of loyal friends.
