WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 27, 1801.

Unjust Assessment.

The course adopted by the assessors of this country is not calculated to encourage persons to buy property or creet dwellings within its borders. We are told of an instance in this town where a gentleman this autumn bought a lot of land for $3500, and began to make preparations for the countraction of a dwelling thereon. The assessors made up their list before the work was begun, or at least before the building of the contractor and assessed the gentleman $1000 fb, and been handed over by the contractor, and assessed the gentleman $1000 fb, and the support of the same. This looks to us like sharp practice, and one calculated to impede the progress of the place. With equal the work has been assessed to the contractor. If the busic make the same. This looks to mode up the work was been the same. This looks to mode the progress of the place. With equal the work has been assessed to the contractor. What s to be done now? town is rapidly growing, and every year the need of better drainage becomes more apparent. Our water service is one of the best in the Dominion and has proved a much greater envenience than anyone supposed, but it too makes sewerage more necessary. We have never heard of any estimate of the cost of providing a system of drainage for the place, and have no drainage for the place, and have no seheme to suggest; but we beg to remind the people that the time is soon coming when it will not only be desirable but very necessary. The public health is too important a matter to be neglected, and the reputation of our projected, and the reputation of our projected in the people that the time is soon on that has been made upon rapid transit, Mrs Burton Harrison begins and another southern article is by a gentleman who was a Confederate officer, the first matter to the interval of the control of the contr

A Coming Question.

There is a question looming up in the not far distant future, which the people of Wolfville will be called upon to meet and decide upon.
