Make Home and The Town Attractive

Why is it the average man of twenty has an intense longing for life in the big cities?

Why is it that millions of men of maturity in the cities have an equally intense longing for peace and quietness of the rural districts they left in their younger days?

The country town does not blaze with the bright lights of life as do the great cities. It is small, but it is solid, substantial and inclined to be subdued. Its citizen's words are as good as their bonds, and their reputations stand high in the sight of their fellow men, but the variety and excitement that appeals to youth is too often missing. Hence youth becomes fretful and impatient of restraint, and finally breaks the home ties and rushes in to the maelstrom of metropolitan existence.

Once in the great city, possibly one in ten succeed, and a few forge gradually to the front. In time these few are known to the world as self made men. The other nine are not so fortunate.

Opportunities are numerous, it is true, but where there is one opportunity there are many young men of varied experience to grasp it.

Thus the great majority of young men from the country who invade the cities expecting to set the world afire find that about the best they can do is to burn the candle at both ends.

Too proud to go back to the home town and confess failure, they just plug along and do the best they can, disillusioned and wiser, but not better off.

They are the millions who, later on in life, long for the peace and quietude of the home towns they left in their younger days.

The remedy is simple. Pull the home town out of the rut and the boys won't want to rush out of the town.

Loosen up on the purse strings and introduce some spice and variety into our community life.

Make the country town and the farm so attractive to our young people the city will no longer appeal to them.

Don't expect our boys and girls with red blood in their veins to be content with spending their lives in a cemetery.

Begin to live yourself, and you won't be opposed to allowing the rising generation to do the same.

Life is full of changes, and there is only one end for the person who is not willing to change with the times.

BECAME PRINCESS BY HER MARRIAGE

From Buckingham Palace the following official announcement was issued: "In accordance with the settled general rule that a wife takes the status of her husband, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon on her marriage has become Her Royal Highness the Duchess of York, with the status of a princess."

This has set at rest a question which has caused considerable discussion during the last few days. It was evident that the marriage made Lady Elizabeth a duchess but there were no clear precedents as to her accession to the rank of princess, and title of Royal Highness. It was, of course, evident that as in the event of the Prince of Wales not marrying she might be the mother of heirs presumptive to the Throne of Britain, and that she would receive the full status of a wife of a royal prince, but there was some doubt as to whether she had already attained it or whether it would be conferred on her by special grant.

The King's ruling established a precedent which undoubtedly will be applied in the event of his other sons marrying outside the royal circle, and as changes made during the war in regard to other members of the royal family opened the way

There are thirteen new paper making machines being installed in Canadian paper mills this year. In 1922 Canada produced 2,418 tons of salt cake, valued at $54,804, and 1,329 tons of Glauber salts valued at $42,719, according to government figures. There are a number of immense deposits of Glauber salts in the province of Saskatchewan, which are at the present time only in the initial stages of development, but it is anticipated that the next few years will see a considerable increase in production.

The Canadian exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition, to be held in London from April 20th to October 31st, 1924, is to be financed, controlled and directed by the Federal Government. The Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of Russia," upon her last sailing, carried a shipment of Canadian frogs for Japan. Cool space was reserved in the hold of the liner and the travellers were well packed in ice. On being taken ashore at Yokohama these frogs will be gradually warmed until they are ready to be let loose, when they will be liberated on the lawns of Japanese importers, with the idea of giving the Japanese a new industry in the production of frogs legs.

Fourteen Bridges Gone

Fourteen highway bridges were included amongst the number which have been swept away or seriously damaged during the flood in central and southern New Brunswick, according to a survey made. Scanty details of the damage sustained by a number of these together with a lack of reports from many sections of the province make it impossible to complete an estimate of the damage sustained in this respect as yet.

Among the bridges which have been carried away and which have been reported to the chief Engineer of the department of public works are the Upper International Bridge above Milltown over the St. Croix River, known as the Baring Bridge; the Meduxnekeag Mouth Bridge at Woodstock and the Nashwaak, Durham and Pennic bridges over the Nashwaak river. In addition to these the reports show serious damage to the Red Bank Bridge over the Miramichi river, a seven span structure which was severely damaged by ice and is now impassable; Clinche's bridge at Musquash, an old wooden structure; River De-
