King George the Fifth Seamen's Institute.

We understand the Superintendent (Mr. Jones) has thoughtfully decided, and is arranging to give a series of entertainments in the Grenfell Hall in the Institute, during next and the following week, for the enjoyment of the seafarers. Particulars will be advertised in our next issue. Volunteers have kindly come forward which will enable him to arrange attractive programmes.

The Northern Mail Service.

The little "Know All" of the "Herald" and editor of that abolition "Newfoundland in 1911," is, as usual, out airing his ignorance and incidentally earning his wages from the Picnic Party. In yesterday's issue of that paper, he tells us the news that the whole north coast is blocked with ice and gives us all the names of the southern ports to illustrate his geographical profundity. Talking about

The Best Bread is Ayre's Surprise Party.

"John O'Neill, the Inman Square druggist, was pleasantly surprised at his store, Thursday night about 9 o'clock, by thirty or more of his friends, including a number of physicians, and presented with a beautiful clock, suitably inscribed. Augustus Aylward made the presentation speech. Mr. O'Neill was summoned from his home on Springfield street, on a "hurry call," and found his friends in possession of the store. He managed to respond gracefully, and later entertained at his home. Mr. O'Neill for many years was manager for the A. Cunningham Drug Co. in Inman square, and lately entered business for himself. He is a member of the Loyal Order of the Moose and a member of the Heptasophis, and is well known throughout the city." The above was clipped from the Chronicle of East Cambridge, Mass., and has reference to a young man of this city who has made good in the domains of Uncle Sam. Mr. O'Neill is a son of Mr. Mogue O'Neill, of Cabot Street, and served his apprenticeship at McMurdo's, this city. John is one of the most popular druggists in Cambridge.

A Serious Operation.

Mr. Albert Horwood, surveyor of Barter's Hill, underwent a serious operation at the hands of Drs. Anderson and Coperthwaite at his residence yesterday afternoon. A large tumour which it was feared would seriously affect his health was removed from his face, and the operation was most successfully performed. The physicians hope to have Mr. Horwood around in another couple of weeks.

Bruce at Sydney.

The Bruce batted her way into Sydney Harbour and berthed at 9.30 last night. The wind is eastwardly to-day at that place, the Bruce is coaling and will likely leave for Port aux Basques this afternoon.

Here and There.

GOES NORTH.—The s.s. Bellaventure sails for the different northern outports next week to bring along the sealing crews for Harvey's ships.
Hockey Match, this evening, Prince of Wales' Rink, at 7.30—Fellidians vs. Victorias.—ad.11

OLINDA LOADING.—The Olinda is to-day loading codfish at Monroe & Co's for Brazil. She will sail next week.

MILD ACROSS COUNTRY.—To-day it is mild across country with an east wind blowing. The railroad is now clear right through to Port aux Basques.

PORTS BLOCKED WITH ICE.—The s.s. Portia left Marytown at 3.21 a.m. to-day. She did not call at Placentia, St. Mary's or St. Joseph's as these ports are blocked with heavy ice.

GETTING BETTER.—Mr. James Vey, Photographer, who has been afflicted with heart trouble, the past couple of weeks, was able to be out to-day and we are glad to hear he rapidly getting better.

SUMMONED FOR COASTING.—Yesterday a number of young lads were summoned by the police for coasting on the streets of the city. Oathers will be summoned to-day and all will appear in Court to-morrow.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. James Breen, wishes to express his sincere thanks to the Committee of the S.U.F. for their token of respect to his late son; and also to others who sent flowers or in any way helped, and sympathized with him in his trouble.—advt.

REFUSED TO SAIL.—When the Eskasoni was ready for sea yesterday the three engineers on board refused to go in her unless a fourth were shipped. The chief engineer as a result had to come ashore and after much difficulty succeeded in getting another engineer.

GREATLY IMPROVED.—Mr. John Rice who became paralysed some weeks ago is now so much improved that he can get about his house. With the advent of fine weather Mr. Rice will be able to be out. John's many friends in the city will gladly learn of his improved condition.

"MERRY WIDOW" SAFE.—The anxiety felt for the schr. "Merry Widow," which was reported missing, may be dispelled, as the Minister of Marine and Fisheries has received a message from the operator at Point Amour saying the craft was still frozen in the ice at Red Bay.

CONGRATULATIONS.—Congratulations to our fellow townsman, Inspector General Sullivan, who to-day has reached the 57th milestone on the journey of life. Mr. Sullivan was born on this date in 1846, the year of the great fire in St. John's. We wish Mr. Sullivan ad multos annos.

SURPRISING OLD LADY.—Mrs. Thomas Fowlow, of Barter's Hill, though 98 years old, is doing the mission at St. Patrick's Church, and attending the 5.30 mass each morning. She is still in good health, has all her faculties and hopes to make another mission before she dies.

Dr. Lloyd Improving.

Dr. Lloyd is somewhat better to-day and his condition is such as to warrant the hope that he has passed the most critical point in his illness, and that a few days may see him on the road to complete recovery.

Died at Salmonier.

On February 16th, Alice, wife of George Furey, died at her home in St. Joseph's, Salmonier. Deceased was 62 years of age. During her life she was never known to be ill of any disease, nor is it known to what disease her death is due. Just three weeks previously she contracted a heavy cold, which seemed to get worse as time went by. The parish priest was called several times. She was reconciled to die from the beginning. Mrs. Furey had no family, but she and her husband lived with her aged mother, Mrs. Carroll, who died just two months before. The funeral took place on the 18th inst., and was attended by a large number of friends and relatives. The funeral service was performed by Rev. Fr. O'Flaherty. To the sorrowing relatives we extend our heartfelt sympathy.—Com.

City Team Invited To Bell Island.

Mr. J. M. Tobin, Secretary of the Hockey League, has received an invitation from the Hockey Association at Bell Island, asking if our city team could arrange to visit the island and play a series of games with a picked team there. The matter is so far under consideration although we understand, that the request of the Islanders will be acceded to, and that the city representatives will leave for the island on Wednesday or Thursday of next week and will play Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights; expenses have been guaranteed. Amongst the hockeyists at Bell Island there is some good material and no doubt, an interesting series of matches is sure to follow.

Not Satisfied.

The friends of James McDonald, of the West End, to whom the Telegram has already made exclusive reference, are not satisfied that he is at Port au Port, nor have those who have been there and who know the man seen him in the place. Near the body found in the engine room of the Carthaginian was picked up two Newfoundland 5 cent pieces, and the boots he wore were of this country make. Many in the West End yet hold to the belief that it was McDonald who was burned to death on the ship.

Train Notes.

A local express went from here at 6 p.m. yesterday.
A local express left Port aux Basques at 8 a.m. to-day.
To-day's shore train did not arrive here till 1.30, being delayed on the Broad Cove Branch.

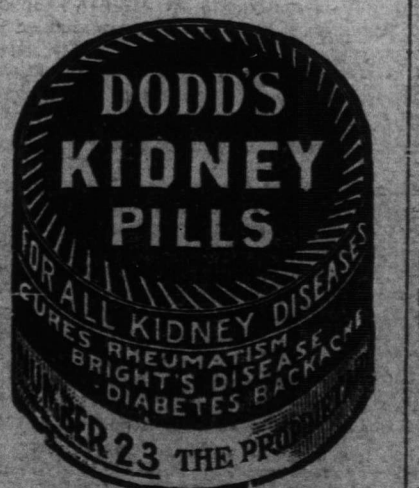

Here and There.

Mr. Wm. Walsh, Insurance agent, arrived here by the express yesterday from the West Coast.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cook wishes to thank Drs. Anderson and Knight, also the Matron and Nurses Sheppard, Moore, Walsh, and Edgar of the General Hospital, for their kind attention to their daughter Laura, during her stay in the institution.—advt.

KITE AT CATALINA.—The sealing steamer Kite is now at Catalina, having arrived there from Trinity, at which port she was detained a week by ice. She will next endeavour to get to Seldom Come Bay, but owing to the heavy Arctic ice it is questionable if she will get to Conche, her terminus, for some time yet.

BADLY CUT.—Yesterday two young men in an uptown office were practising wrestling when one got a head lock on the other, and as he pressed the head down his face came in contact with a sharp pencil clip, which he had in his vest pocket and the flesh was deeply cut. He had to go to a doctor for treatment.

THIS WEEK AT

HOSPITAL FILLED.
Mr. Ell Whiteway had the following removed to the General Hospital for treatment yesterday: Agnes Finlay, Tropasey, for an affection of the ear; Madeline King, Battery Rd., defective sight; Jas. Sullivan, city, tumour in abdomen; W. Saunders, Spaniard's Bay, kidney disease. There never were so many patients in the Hospital before. The institution, both in the male and female wards, is crowded, and some for want of better accommodation are lying on mattresses on the floor. Besides this, increasing numbers coming along by train and steamer are in boarding houses or hotels waiting an opportunity to be admitted to Hospital.
