PARIS, March 20.
Rumors reaching here from Rome, yesterday, regarding the serious illness of the Pope, started gossip as to his possible successor. The name most frequently mentioned is that of Cardinal Diomedeo Falconio.

LONDON, March 20.
The London taxicab strike is ended. All firms belonging to the motor cab proprietors' Association have acceded to the men's terms. The strike began on January 1st, when the proprietors sought to make the men pay 13 pence a gallon for oil instead of 8 pence.

LONDON, March 20.
The Arson scandal was out again last night, and burned down the fine country residence of Lady Amy White, widow of Field Marshal Sir George White, the hero of Ladysmith; also the building on the West-ern Super Mare golf links. Lady White's house was a big mansion, standing on spacious grounds at Bagfield Green in Surrey, near the Thames. The fire was discovered at 10 a.m. when the flames had made such headway that it was entirely gutted. Traces of oil and inflammable materials were found while in prominent spots outside the grounds were papers inscribed, "Stop torturing our comrades in prison," "Votes for Women," "By kind permission of Charles Hobhouse," the last referring to an utterance by Hobhouse, who is Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, uttered some time ago, when he said women lacked the real revolutionary spirit of men, who burned and sacked to support their cause. Two women on bicycles were seen in the neighborhood half an hour before the fire was discovered. The criminals at Weston Super Mare also escaped. There are many suffragettes there, where Viscount Haldane is scheduled to deliver an address before the National Teachers' Conference.

GRANDHAVEN, Mich.
March 20.

Nineteen fishermen, suffering the horrors of hunger, cold and ice reached port 16-day in the fish tug Anna, Dorn, and Box and Cox. They had been fast in the ice for three days and nights until rescued yesterday by the Pere Marquette car ferry, No. 18. The boats left Grandhaven at dawn on Monday. Ice closed in on them when two miles out of Grandhaven, said Capt. Fisher, of the Anna, to-day. We tried to break through, but it was of no use. A gale came up and started huge cakes running and crushing. Finally the Anna was lifted clear of the water and thrown upon great icefields. The steering gear was smashed and the steam pipe cracked. When the steam shot out of the boilers, the cabin was filled and the men were driven out on the ice. They thought they were gone, but repairs were made in time, and the ice opened and splashed the Anna back into the water. Early on Tuesday they ran out of food and tobacco. On Wednesday the Dorn broke her shaft backing the ice. That night the ferry came alone, and supplied them with provisions, which were much needed, as the men were suffering greatly from hunger.

The Police Court.

A drunk, who was up for the second time, was fined $1 or 3 days; another drunk was fined a similar sum. A drunk who was also charged with assaulting a girl, was fined $5 or 14 days.

A man, convicted for the fourth time of being drunk and disorderly, in his mother-in-law's house, was fined $25 or one month.

A fireman charged with being drunk and using threatening language toward a shipmate, was fined $5 or 14 days.

A driver convicted of driving without lights was fined $1, or three days.

A Possibility.

The public news message of yesterday, conveying the rumor that in the event of the death of His Holiness Pius X, there is a possibility of Cardinal Diomedeo Falconio being elected to the Chair of Peter. Such an event would be most pleasing to all Catholics here, but especially so to the people of Harbor Grace, where "Father Falconio" as he was familiarly called, was a priest of the Cathedral Diocese for several years under Bishop Caraginnini and endeared himself to all. Many now in middle life will remember him.

Father And Son Both Speak Out.

TELL WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR THEM.

Old and Young Are Alike Liable to Kidney Disease But Both Can Find New Health and Renewed Vigor in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Faustine Station, Terrebonne Co., Que., March 21. (Special).—That kidney disease is liable to strike the young as well as the old and in either case is surely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills is shown in one family resident here. The father, aged fifty-two, and the son, aged eighteen, have both made statements for publication.

Pierre Berton, the father, says: "I suffered much from kidney disease. I urinated very little at a time and it was very thick. I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and they cured me."

Eugene Berton, the son, says: "Those who suffer from kidney disease should use Dodd's Kidney Pills, as they cured me."

Kidney disease is not hereditary but weak kidneys undoubtedly are. Weak kidneys are liable to break down under the constant strain put on them. To prevent a breakdown and the bad health all over the body that is sure to result you must use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Narrow Escape

After leaving here for Oporto last December Capt. Wilson, of the bark "Lake Shallow" had a narrow escape from drowning. The vessel shipped a heavy sea, and Capt. Wilson, who was on the deck, was washed overboard and carried back again with a receding wave. He had an experience he will not soon forget.

Easter Fifty Years Ago.

It is little more than fifty years ago that I, as a young minister of a suburban church, was invited to preach, one Sunday morning in April, at the Broadway Tabernacle Church, then standing at the corner of Broadway and Thirty-Fourth Street in New York City. It happened to be Easter Sunday, as I knew; and although almost no notice of the day was taken at that time by the non-Episcopal Protestant Churches, it had been my custom to preach an Easter sermon, and I ventured to bring one with me for that service. There were no Easter flowers, and there was no Easter music. I doubt if it had occurred to the minister or to any member of the congregation that it was Easter Sunday. I thought it prudent therefore to make a virtual apology for preaching a sermon on the Resurrection, to the Puritans, had little to do with sacred days, it might not be unfitting for us, on the day when many Christians were celebrating the resurrection of our Lord, to turn our thoughts in that direction.

After the sermon my good and great friend, then pastor of that church, had just one word of commendation, and that referred to the sentence in which I said that we as Congregationalists, had little use for sacred days. "I am glad," he said, "that you emphasized that fact." The incident will illustrate the change which has taken place in the attitude toward the Easter festival of the Protestant churches during the last half century. It is now the day of the Christian year most generally observed in all the churches.

The message of the Easter Day to you and me, and to all new-what is it? In what words shall we phrase it? We might get some idea of the message from the conduct of those who hear it.

See that man sitting solitary and dejected within his home. There is a knock at the door, and a messenger enters. Now he is delivering his message. The downcast look has gone from the face of the listener; he is all attention; watch him. He springs to his feet; his hands smite each other with a ringing blow; his face is all ablaze with joyful emotion; his voice is pitched in a high key; his movements are full of energy. You have not heard a word that the messenger has spoken, but you know that he must have brought a joyful message.—Washington Glad-deny, D.D., L.L.D.

Pope's Health.

Special to Evening Telegram.

ROME, March 20.
Professor Marchisavva, consulting physician to His Holiness, to-day absolutely refused to allow the Pontiff to receive General Forth's Diaz, considering it dangerous to his weakened condition after his recent illness. During the past two days the Pope has suffered from insomnia and loss of appetite. The liquid diet which he has been taking failed to overcome the weakness resulting from his illness. Yesterday, on his name day, St. Joseph, he was compelled to remain in bed, and for the first time since he was ordained priest he was unable to celebrate mass on the occasion. The Pope's physician, called to-night. He was afraid the Pope would not last long. In any case he will not resume audiences for a month.
