forward policy of the Government had been successfully carried out. HON. MR. MORINE said the sum of $700,000 was specified in the Bill more as a rough and ready measure of the class of hotel that was required than as a condition. In fact the amount would be better out of the Bill altogether. Owing to the contractors being in a hurry to go on with their work and the Government being anxious to have the hotel erected as quickly as possible more details could not be gone into. It was only necessary to place confidence in the Government that the rights of the people would be protected. In the present Bill the Government was assuming more responsibility than ordinarily, and if they did not see that the contract was properly carried out there would be no one but the Government to blame. He felt that left with the Government every detail re ferred to would be safeguarded. fect in any prejudical way the sur The Committee rose and reported the Bill with some amendments.
