CARPITAL PROPERTY OF STARTON.

A great deal was said leaty year about the roughness of the play of the Unateder and the Torontons, and crokener freely pre-placed that now has a sublitition would hill blacroses. Judging from the turnseat of Starrody the Growton and the Growton and the Starrody the Growton and the Growton and the Starrody the Growton and the Starrody the Growton and the Growton an victor on this occasion, amid the wildest delight of the Ontario partisans. But the stay of the rubber at any point was of short duration, so warm and active were its handlers. Again the Ontario flags were in danger, but Ted Smith was not himself, and the ball went wide. To the centre once more, and amid ories of "good boy, Mary," Blight, the Toronto centre, sent in a capital drop. It was Ryan, the son of Peter, who distinguished himself this time, as he did frequently. Irving dodging eleverly was the next to come in prominence, but the Toronto home just then were scattered, and Hull, playing like a hero of Sparts, returned the missive whence it came, and a face was necessary. After that the play was brisk but short. Sam Martin stopped one beauty from the same player was treacherous and accomplished its purpose by winning the game for the Ontarios in 20 minutes. Hubbell, who had received a blow on the right hand that almost incapacitated him, made a miss and a serimmage followed, out of which Martin deftly secured the ball, passed in front of the flags, towards which he turned his back and made a quick shot over his shoulder. It told and wild huzzas rent the air.

Like the first the second game opened with a sexalt on the Ontario diedely.

shoulder. It told and wild huzzas rent the air.

Like the first the second game opened with an assault on the Ontario citadel. Once more Wilson proved himself the expert and accomplished goal-keeper that he is. Not only did he stop a well-directed throw, but by clever dodging got a good run down the field and completely for the moment changed the aspect of the game. A second attack on the same flags was brought to a summary ending by Eckhardt receiving the ball on the nose. On the face that ensued between Small and Smith the latter proved successful, but he held the ball too long and Burns clevely relieved him of his charge. Up the rubber bounded and another hitch occurred. Some in the audience became impatient and shouted "Go on and play lacrosse," "Go on, Tommy, you can thrash them," presumably meaning a plucky Ontario home man. Once more the ball was in rapid flight, Hubbell and Garvin at the one end and Hull and McGovern at the other helping it in its hasty despatch. At length "Mary" Blight, whose plucky consistency, and not contrariness, in good play wasmost marked, sent in a dairy from the rubber high in air from the ground. It was a clever piece of work, but the direction was towards Darby Hull, who threw towards the stand. Bonnell, O'Neil and Martin ran for the ball, the first named secured it and the last named were foiled, but "Pipels" get in one on the heat.

secured it and the last named were foiled, but "Pluck" got in one on the head and was hissed. Blight, again to the fore, threw on the flags, Eckard received the shot and with one of the eleverest pieces of manceuving of the day, captured the third game of the match and the second for the Torontos in three minutes.

"We've got em," joyfully exclaimed the Toronto admirers ranged along the east fence. The Torontos were playing down in the fourth game. A flurry in centre field and Captain Major Hamilton hastily claimed a foul. Almost before the words were out of his mouth the ball had passed the Ontario goal-keeper and Toronto backers saw the money won in their pockets. But "foul" had been claimed and had to be allowed. From the face the ball traveled upward and the hopes of Ontario admirers were raised. Bonnell and Morrison came into collision and engaged in an improvised wrestling match

Lacrosse and Athletics at Montreal, MONTREAL, June 7 .- The intermediat champsonship lacrosse match vesterday between the Young Shamrocks, Montreal and the Metropolitans, Ottawa, drew a good crowd to the grounds. The Young Shamrocks had a poor team, but good enough to beat the Ottawas 3 to 1 in 3, 15, and 4 minutes. The Mets won the first game in 3 minutes when playing with the wind. J. Smart of Brockville was referee. The day was fine and the field in good order.

At length in Mary" Blight, whose plucky consistency, and not contrariness, in good play was most marked, sent in a daisy from the right centra, which reached Joe Irving at the right time and spot. With remarkable precision he made his shot, which caromed against Eckhardt's stick, deceived for their first game, won in fifteen minutes.

The boys in blue, who were somewhat nervous at starting in, were now all cockawhoop, but the lads in grey were not discouraged. They knew they were playing a cracking good game and the score only stood one each. With a vim the third game was entered upon. The play was short and sharp. Blight from the face scratched the ball to Dixon, who lost no time in sending it on its mission. Clarke was equally prempt on the return, and Garvin out of a tough tussle whirled the rubber high in air from the ground. It was a clever piece of work, but the direction.

An interesting athletic Contest.

An interesting competition took place [in front of the Hotel Hanlan at the island on Saturday for a handsome prize given by the enterprising lesse, J. H. Mackie. E. S. Tisdale of Simcoe and Wm. Boyd of Woodstock, Ont., were the competitors. The events were decided as follows:

Immediately the ball was in motion every faculty not only of the players, but of the spectators, was strained to its utmost to watch its progress. Its first directions was northward towards the Ontario flags, but its stay was not long and like a thing of life it flew down the field from a capital shot of McGovern, only to be returned in the vicinity of Fred Dixon, who made the first throw for goal. Wilson, with the perversity of his race called "Shorty" on account of his height, was on the alert and checked the ball in its well-meaning flight, and a race ensued between Bonnell and Crown, the little fellow proving the victor on this occasion, amid the wildest delight of the Ontario partisans.
