NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.

Drummond & Brown quote the following fluctuations in the New York Cotton Exchange fluctuati oversold and prices in near future depend mainly on movement of actual farm products.

Drummond & Brown received the following today over their private wire from Schwartz, Dupee & McCormick of Chicago: After several days of dull scaiping trade, the market for the week closes with rather more activity, but decided weakness. Prime and other crop experts are unanimous us saying that, the condition of both winter and spring wheat has been much improved during the past week, and numerous advices from the southwest spealy of an early beginning of harvest, which has induced free selling from that section. It is evident that our weakness is communicating itself to foreign markets, and although they have not yet shown a material decline in price, exhibit less elasticity and decided weakness in tone. Paris showed a decline on wheat and flour, Berlin and Liverpool were lower and London was quoted easier. A singular difference was shown in receipts of New York clearances. The official report for the day made them 126,000 bushels, while private despatches reported over 400,000. The close of the market was decidedly weak, and unless we get a marked improvement in cables next week we expect lower prices. Corn has been very active and showed great strength early, although the buying was mostly by outsiders and the selling by local longs. The strength was imparted to the market by very light receipts, which were estimated at only 200 cars for Monday next and by fears that the present cold weather would damage the growing corn and the heavy rains delay planting. Prime reports a marked improvement in-the corn condition during the past week. Oats were dull and had but little independent movement. Reports from experts claim that the rain of the last week has been very beneficial to this crop. Receipts of hogs were over the estimates and prices lower, cusing a very weak market on provisions. There was a little reaction in sympathy swith the strength in corn, but it soon died out and market closes very weak at bottom prices. There ar PGGS FIRM AT 12c.; BUTTER NOT SO plentiful at 12c to 15c; Dried Apples, 8c to 9c. Beans, 31.50 to $1.80. Potatoes, $1 to $1.10 per bag. Consignments of above solicited. Reflections upon its origin, its constitution to the great Republic. BY O. A. HOWLAND

Of Osgoode Hall, Barrister at Law. The author is not an "Imperial Federationist," but he is a believer in a United The aim of the work is to show that the Empire actually possesses a Federal Contution, requiring rather to be declared than created, and easily susceptible of such tendments as seem to be required. The author suggests what these amendments are, also traces the growth of the spirit, upon which the modern Constitution rests, to its ginnings in the struggle with the old Colonies, and shows how the modern Empire dizes the dreams not only of the U. E. Loyalists, but of the best of the American volutionists.

The work is intended to draw attention to some great questions before the Canadian Handsome 8vo Volume, 630 Pages, with fac-simile production of Proclamation of George III.; also Map of North America in 1782.

"By a thorough knowledge of the naterfal laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfrast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of suble maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a week point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
