Law Reform.

Editor World: With regard to your editorial in The World of August 9, I desire as a lawyer to make the following comments: You say, "The legal machinery of to-day is burdened with hundreds of useless wheels and traps. . . . It is time a legal Edison came forward and simplified the mechanism. Instead of simplifying the machine our lawyers and legislators are all the time making it more cumbersome. . . . The lawyer and legislator look at the machine as it is, and if they try to simplify it at all they do so by adding on a pulley here or putting on a belt there. The idea of giving us an entirely new machine hasn't yet entered their heads. But it is a new machine that is needed, and a new machine we must have."

There is no doubt but that the legal machinery is entirely too complicated, and it is getting more so every day. There is entirely too much law and not enough equity and common sense. The former is supposed to prevail, and should prevail but ign. does not prevail in practise. I will quote from the Judicature Act and also the Division Courts Acts: "Any equity and the rules of the common law with reference to the same matter the rules of equity shall prevail. See chapter 44, R.S.O., 1887, sec. 53, subsection 12, last part. "And except in cases in which a jury is legally demanded by a party as hereinafter provided, the judge shall hear and determine in a summary way all questions of law and fact, and may make such orders or judgments as appear to him just and agreeable to equity and good conscience, which shall be final and conclusive between the parties, except as herein otherwise provided. See chapter 51, R. S. O., 1887, sec. 70, sub-sec. 1 (C). From these extracts you will see that the rules of equity are recognized as a part of our legal system, and it was for the purpose of fusing law and equity with the Judicature Act was passed, but what has been the result? I do not hesitate to say that at present the rules of equity are almost entirely disregarded, and the law is more technical and complicated than ever. I maintain that any case can be solved, and solved easily, by applying, as the case may be, some one or more of the rules of equity and the maxims of the common law, always inclining, however, to the rules of equity. Unfortunately these rules and maxims are no longer looked upon as guides, and in place of the same we have as authorities a contradictory mass of "case law," from which you can get any kind of a decision you like. Another consequence is that neither lawyers nor judges can agree amongst themselves, to the great detriment of law as a science, at enormous loss of time to all parties concerned and to the great pecuniary loss of paries who have to go to court to assert their rights. This contradictory "case law" accounts for the phenomenon that two lawyers can seldom agree as to the law in any given case. Instead of cases illustrating principles and rules and maxims as they ought to do, the rules—I won't say principles, because there are none in practice—are taken from the cases, and as the cases scarcely ever agree, the rules are in a hopeless state of confusion. Of course we might employ common-sense in deciding or helping to decide cases, but then common-sense seems to have departed out of the courts. This may be a bold assertion, but it is nevertheless true, and the sooner common-sense is applied the better it will be for our legal system. I trust that the above will be inserted in your paper and that it may catch the eye of someone interested in law reform who has the opportunity to administer justice in accordance with equity and good conscience and common-sense.

What's the Matter With the Town?

Editor World: I was much interested in reading an article in The World under the heading, "What's the Matter With the Town?" and it is a pity the facts contained therein could not be impressed upon the minds of our moneyed men, and instead of giving Toronto the go-by with their capital and building up outside towns they would invest it at home. Are there no chances for investments in this city? We lost the smelting works, and Hamilton is the gainer by several hundred thousand dollars. Ald. Hallam was too faint-hearted to push his meat-canning scheme, and the little town of Collingwood has taken hold of the enterprise, and is erecting a large factory, which, of course, means employment to a large number of men. And what about car shops? No rolling stock for railways are built here, but St. Catharines and Cobourg have them. There are a great number of industries that could be carried on here with profit. We are sending immense sums of money out of our city and country each year for that which we could produce at home. What Toronto needs is more industries.

Factories have converted the sleepy, dilapidated village of Cornwall into a busy, thriving town. The enterprise of the Rathbuns has changed what was, I might almost say, a wilderness, into the beautiful and go-ahead Town of Deseronto. I might also mention Galt and other places. And we are certainly going to see the immense freight from the great country lying to the north and west of us pass our doors and be carried to Montreal. And who are to blame? It would seem as if our moneyed men are content to invest their surplus in electric railways, bank and other stocks, and allow our city to go moping along as if the world was asleep, with hundreds of good mechanics and others walking our streets unable to get work.

Coal Oil in the Territories.

[From The Edmonton, N. W. T. Times, July 26.] Mr. W. A. Fraser of Toronto, who has charge of the Dominion Petroleum borings in the Athabasca region, is in town. By the next train will come four car loads of machinery and Dr. Selwyn, the chief of the geological survey. The test wil lbe thorough, and will be made in accordance with the results of the geological surveys, but for the general good, and not to boom private speculation. Mr. Fraser seems to be a wide-awake energetic man and is losing no time in acquiring the fullest possible information. The Board of Trade have wired to Ottawa asking to have a test made at Egg Lake. It is doubtful if their request will be granted.

WORKING UP A CORNER IN CHEESE.

A Montreal Syndicate Buying to Hold, Expecting a Rise.

Watertown, N.Y., Aug. 13.—According to the authoritative statement of a salesman at Ogdensburg, Montreal cheese buyers are making a united effort to produce a corner in the cheese market for their own special benefit. The news has created intense interest in this big dairy country.

Warrington Ayres and the wealthy cheese buyers of Montreal, it is said, have already filled their large cold storages and have commenced renting cold storages about the country. They have agents scouring Canada and Northern New York.

Derbyshire and Smart of Brockville have men in Jefferson and Lewis Counties instructing makers as to the kind of cheese they want. The syndicate are buying to hold, expecting a rise in the market.

Hogs for Toronto.

Messrs. Mullins and Wilson, cattle and hog exporters, are in town, staying at the Seymour. They have just been through the province on a purchasing tour for hogs and cattle for Toronto. The hogs will be slaughtered in Toronto for the English market, which is just now looking to Canada for its supplies of bacon. They have so far purchased about a thousand hogs and nearly 200 cattle. They say they are open for 2000 more hogs, and to-day Mr. Mullins went to the Portage and Mr. Wilson to Stonewall in an endeavor to secure more in these districts. They are paying as high as 4 cents per pound live weight for good hogs.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Steamship Stewards and Cooks Strike.

Havre, Aug. 13.—The stewards, cooks and attendants of all classes working for the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique struck on Saturday. One hudred left the steamship La Touraine. The company filled their places, however, and she was not delayed. The strikers protest against being served with meals in the dock canteen while in port. The stewards demand that their pay be equalized and that their watch duties be abolished while in dock. The company is willing to grant the latter demand.

Tips From Wall-Street.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Ladenburg, Thalman & Co., New York: The absolute surrender of the House of Representatives to the Senate in respect to the Tariff bill has brought in a flood of buying orders for both the long and short accounts. This fact accounts for the strong tone of the whole market. The feature, however, has been Distillers, which stock has naturally responded to prospect of a higher tax in place of the present impost. Rains in West supported the Grangers, though all influences have been subordinated to those which come from Washington. Large covering of shorts continued up to the very close, and the whole market exhibited a corresponding degree of strength.

John J. Dixon & Co. received the following from Charles Minzesheimer & Co., New York: The market to-day has been strong throughout from several causes. London came in strong, and was a large buyer of stocks. The adoption of the Senate bill by the House was also a bull card, and started good buying of the general market, and the shorts becoming scared helped the advance. Distillers was the main feature of the market, as the tax under the Senate bill will be an increase of 20c. We look for a broader and more active market. The public understand the bill, and the industries again working on a sound basis a general revival of business must surely follow.

Schwartz, Dupee & Co., Chicago, wired Dixon: The local showers through Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois, with predictions of continuance of similar conditions, caused a break of nearly 2c at the opening on May corn. At the decline buying for country account started an up turn, resulting in a recovery of all the market lost. The principal buying of Sept. option was by a shipping house. The visible supply showed nearly 600,000 bushels decrease. Receipts of corn are likely to continue light. Any improvement in the business outlook through New York, New England or Pennsylvania means a better demand for cash corn than we have had for some time. Receipts of wheat to-day were much in excess of the estimates. The news was pretty much all bearish. Cables lower. Official estimates of the Russian crop reported preliminary threshings 20 per cent. in excess of an average. The local stock in store here increased 1,700,000 bushels, and the visible increased 2,300,000 bushels. Reports from most reliable sources place the Northwestern spring wheat crop above 100,000,000 bushels. The early selling was in liquidation and for short account by local traders, who created a rally before the close by covering on reported large export business at New York and at other seaboard markets. With favorable weather conditions abroad we see no sustaining influence to wheat except the relative high price of corn. Provisions opened weak, but soon rallied on covering of Sept. ribs, but packers and buying of Jan. deliveries by both local and outside traders. The closing was at the best prices of the day, and the outlook is still higher.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Logan & Co., Chicago, to-day: Wheat market to-day, Sept. opened from 54 3-4c to 54 7-8c; sold as low as 54c. Cables are lower and receipts were quite up to the demand. Some little stuff has changed hands for export, particulars of which have not transpired. We must have a better export demand to advance or sustain price. The low price may force it into consumption for feed. If it does we should have some improvement in value. Corn active and lower on some rains in corn country and almost general rains predicted. Liquidation goes on, but few are bold enough to sell it short. Market will right itself and come to a buying point in due time. Actual supplies decreasing each week.
