

THE NEWMAN OF AMERICA.

A Memoir of the Life of the Second Superior of the Paulist Institute.

An interesting memoir of the life of the late Very Rev. Augustine F. Hewitt, D. D., Superior of the Paulist Fathers...

Nathaniel Augustus Hewitt, which given name on becoming a Catholic he changed to Augustine Francis...

Dr. Hewitt, his father, was one of the most prominent divines of the Congregationalist denomination in the United States during the earlier part of this century...

The future Father Hewitt's childish years were not so happy and joyous as his affectionate disposition craved. He was wont to speak of the gloom, the prohibition from play on Sundays, some day parties...

He began with and in Calvinism—the principles of which came to him by early training, and were afterwards mastered by more systematic study in the Congregational Seminary at East Windsor...

When in February, 1846, young Mr. Hewitt applied for admission to the Church, Dr. Reynolds ruled the diocese. How kindly welcomed the young neophyte and put him in the care of Dr. Lynch...

The brief of Pius IX., separating Father Hecker and companions from the Redemptorist Congregation, was issued the 4th of March, 1848. The new Institution of St. Paul the Apostle was begun at once...

In recognition of his labors and merits he was honored, in 1884, with the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Rome. However, before this time his Alma Mater, Amherst College...

He was unanimously elected second Superior of the Paulist Institute in succession to Father Hecker, despite his own protest on the score of years and increasing infirmity...

St. Joseph's Court No. 370 held their meeting in Digraugh's Hall on Thursday evening, 22nd inst. The attendance was large considering the hot weather...

Bro. Wm. Mitchell, D.H.C.R., Chairman of the Executive Committee, read a lengthy statement showing a very encouraging report for the members of the large increase in membership during the past quarter...

St. Helen's Commandery, Knights of St. John, will hold a meeting for the installation of officers on the evening of August 6th, in Mallon's Hall, cor. Dundas St. and Sheridan Ave...

St. Joseph's Church Picnic. An event to which people are accustomed to look forward from year to year is St. Joseph's Church picnic...

The Queen's Bad-Advisers. LONDON, July 26.—Lord Charles Bessborough, writing in the press in reference to the forthcoming visit of the Duke and Duchess of York to Ireland...

Fireside Fun.

Why is a pig in a parlor like a house on fire? Because the sooner it is put out the better.

To secure a contented spirit, measure your desires by your fortunes, and not your fortunes by your desires.

Edith: "Do you have much difficulty in talking German?" Bertha: "Oh, dear, no; it's so much like gargling you can hardly tell the difference."

Griggs: "Strange thing, Miranda; every time you draw a breath someone dies." Mrs. Griggs: "Well, I ain't going to stop breathing on that account."

Shookitt: "Does learning the bicycle require any particular application?" Sprockitt: "No; none in particular. But arnica is about as good as anything."

"Well, Mollie," said the little girl's father, "what have you been doing all day?" "Doing nothing," said Mollie, pouting. "I've been don'ting most of the time."

Who wrote the most, Dickens, Warren or Bulwer? Warren wrote "Now and Then," Bulwer wrote "Night and Morning," and Dickens wrote "All the Year Round."

"Some folks," said Uncle Eben, "is so tricky that when they done across er man dat's shuff' nuff honest, dey gets skaynt an' shus he must be playin' a powful deep game."

Frances (four years old): "Mamma! Mamma! What is it, dear?" "You never saw me before I was born did you?" "No, love." "Then how did you know it was me?"

Boy: "Say, mister, please give me a penn'orth of castor oil, and give me very short measure, too." Chemist: "Short measure? Why?" Boy: "'Cos I've got to take it myself."

A Frenchman, having often heard the expression "I've either fish to fry," astonished an English friend by saying: "I've no time to talk to you now; I must go and fry some fish."

"It's pretty tough," sighed the small, sleeky Frenchman. "There are ten girls in this lock learning to ride the bicycle, and I'm absolutely the only object they can run into. If there was only a hydrant or something!"

Callor: "I have a little bill here which I want Hardup (interrupting): "The cashier is out." Callor: "Very well, I'll call round some other day and pay it. Good-day," and Hardup requested the fellow boy to kick him six times.

Husband: "I can't make out what is wrong with my mescaluna pipe. There is a very peculiar taste with it, and it won't draw." Wife: "That's odd. It seemed to draw all right when Johann was blowing bubbles with it."

Papa: "Yes, my son, you will realize some time, when you are old, that your school-days have been your happiest ones." Tommy: "Oh, pap, why can't I wait, then, until I grow up before I go to school, so that I can appreciate it?"

Miss Daquobay: "I had such a pretty compliment from my optician to-day." Miss Fenway: "What was it, dear?" Miss Daquobay: "He told me that I had the best nose for eyeglasses that ever came under his professional treatment."

He (tremblingly): "I have one last request to make before we part in anger for ever." She (sobbingly): "What's that, Geo-George?" He: "Will you meet me next Thursday, as usual?" She: "I will, George."

In childhood one has tears without grief.

Intercourse with good women is the element of good manners.

Behaviour is a mirror in which everyone displays his own image.

The individual can only be properly made prominent through good manners.

It would be better to prove ungrateful than to commit a crime to oblige your benefactor.

The self-denial which seeks to avoid being servile to others is but a part of brotherly love.

Moral perfection is unattainable if the heart cannot be touched with the love of what is good.

Nothing in the world can be more pleasing than a mind under the guidance of reason and conscience.
