GRAND MASTER'S ADDRESS.

The Grand Master's annual address was, as usual, listened to with earnest attention and its sentiments rapturously applied In it he says :- " From the reports was will be laid before you by your Grand Treasurer and Grand Secretary, as well as by the various county masters, you will learn that the year has been one of substantial progress, there having been a marked increase in attendance at the various primary districts and county lodge meetings, and in added membership, and several new warrants have been issued." Touching reference is made to the death of the Imperial Grand Master, the Earl of Enniskillen, at Florence Court, Ireland, on the 12th of November last. Of the visit of the Irish Loyalist delegates, Rev. Dr. Kane and Mr. George Hill Smith, the Grand Master, says :- "Friends, by their encomiums, and enemies, by their abuse, have both admitted that when the Uleter Loyalist anti-Repeal Union sent these gentlemen to this continent to represent Irish loyalty and patriotism they sent men worthy of a great cause, and who more than sustained Ireland's claim to still having sons as eloquent as those whose power of oratory has been sung by bards and immortalized by historians." He further says :- " Our attitude on the question of .

has been so often stated that it seems unnecessary to reiterate it. and vet our oppon ents so persistently misre present us that I feel we must again state that we believe in Home Rule, that is, that England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales-if it be necessary for one it is for all-should each have one or more local parliaments or councils for the management of local affairs, such as each of our provinces have, in which all legislation of a municipal character would be transacted, and the Imperial Parliament legislate on all other questions, as our Federal Parliament does. our brethren in Ireland we opposed Mr. Parnell's scheme, fathered by Mr. Gladstone, because it gave Ireland no re-presentation in the Imperial Parliament, made no provision for protecting the Protestant minority, and placed the questions of education, the control of the police, etc., under the jurisdiction of an Irish Parliament in Dublin. The tendency and effect of such legislation would damage the material interests of Ireland, weaken British influence, and place the loyalists of that country in the power of those who are in our opinion her greatest enemies." The address concludes: -"The great lesson which we in Canada need to learn from the recent political upheaval in Great Britain is, that when great questions arise in which vital principles are involved, the good of our country and the maintenance of

and our political party nowhere. The examples of the Hartingtons, Brights, Goschens and Chamberlains are worthy the highest praise and closest imitation, and to us should be a stimulus to a more rigid adherence to our principles and to be less influenced by the ever changing cries and policy of expediency adopted by party politicians. That questions will arise in this Dominion in a few years, probably sooner, which will try us as the politicians of England have been tried, is apand season. In view of what I believe is coming, I rejoice at a growing and powerful independent press, which advocates measures and not men. I believe with all my heart in the platform of the Terento Mail :- Loyalty to Britain and yet loyalty to Canada; ecclesinstical privilege for none, religious equality throughout the Dominion ; manhood suffrage for all who can read and write; Senate re form. These are principles worth contending for, and the party that adopts that platform will yet sweep the Dominion."

"HOW IS OLD IRELAND !"

Ireland is passing through the great crisis which must end in national freedom. The population of Ireland at the present time is a little over 5,160,000 of whom, in round numbers, 4,060,000 are Catholics, and about 1,000. 000 Protestants, Presby erians, Methodists, etc, The island contains about 20,000,000 acres of land, of which one half is owned by less than land, of which one-half is owned by less than 750 proprietors, each holding upward of 5,000 acres, three proprietors holding over 100,000 ocres, fourteen over 50,000 acres, and ninety aver 20,000 each. One hundred and ten landloids hold among them 4,000,000 acres, or one-fifth of the soil of the whole country. The work of eviction, of which we read so much in the press, is the same policy of extermination as of old. What do Americans think of the fact that between the years 1849 and 1880, 91,106 evictions took place, reducing 180 509 individuals or opening the of the whole 1880, 91,106 evictions took place, reducing 460,509 individuals, or one-eighth of the who population, to destitution. Ireland is as cruelly population, as described was, but she is better prepared for her enemy. The plan of campaign will force the landlords to act with some degree of justice, and enable old Ireland to fight her enemy with the weapons of the law and the law's delays. The British Government may do its best to coerce the Irish, but Irish landlordism is doomed. It must go, and with it will go alien

UPHOLDING DR. McGLYNN.

Dr. Thomas O'Reilly, of St. Louis, State Delegate of the Irish National League of America, has published his reply to a letter lately received from John Fitzgerald, President of the Irish National League, in which the latter sharply calls him to account for seconding certain resolutions which were offered at a meeting of the branch of the League held in that city a few days ago. After stating that he does not think Mr. Fitzgerald had seen a correct copy of the resolutions referred to when he wrote his letter, and quoting the resolutions for his information, the doctor says:

"There is nothing in the resolution condemn-

"There is nothing in the resolution condemning the action of the Roman Catholic Church as a Church, in its treatment of the Rev. Dr. McGlynn, but there is a strong protest against the conduct of certain Italian priests who have made themselves conspicuous in thwarting the Irish people in their efforts toward social and political advancement. For advocating this policy the general opinion is that Dr. McGlynn has been sacrificed, but if a doubt existed on this point the letter of Cardinal Simeoni of Even this Cardinal Simeoni, in the letter referred to above, considered the punishment excessive, and left it discretionary with the late Cardinal McCloskey to execute. This prelate most likely regarded it in the same way, for during his lifetime he did not interfere with the Rev. Dr. McGlynn, but his successor felt that it was his duty to carry it into effect. It is not always an indication of good judgment or humanity, even though we have the power of a giant, that we should use it as a giant, but Archbishop Corrigan in dealing with Dr. McGlynn was not guided by the human moral

"In the resolution there is nothing acctarian or nothing to interfere with American parties, or nothing to interfere with American parties, and in no way does it violate the constitution of the Irish National League of America. While seconding the resolution I simply exercised the privileges of a member of the League, strictly acting within its laws, and actuated by the justness of its purport. It was this same Cardinal Simeoni, acting under the advice of Mr. Errington, the English Minister at the Vatican who attempted to stay the collections. Vat can, who attempted to stop the collections for the Parnell fund. Such being the case I, as an individual Irish Roman Catholic, will not regret how soon they learn at Rome that some Irishmen protest against this interference. BEAUTIFUL AND WEALTHY.

The most beautiful woman in New Yorkwho is she, what is she, and what is she like? Laying aside the often disputed question as to whether beauty is purely or in part subjective or objective, this title is said to belong now to the beautiful widow of Louis C. Hammersley, who has just reappeared in New York society. after the conventional period of mourning. The records show her to be a daughter of Commodore Price, of the United States navy, and locate her birth in Troy, N.Y., a little over twenty-six years ago. She is tail, erect and slender, and has a face of unusual sweetness. Her costumes are wonders of artistic construction, and she has not this season wern one of them twice. Her jewels, too, have been changed every night. When still quit; young she married the eccentric Mr. Hammersley, who was as rich as Croesus and estatic as Edgar A. Poc. If ever a woman was wildly leved it is said that Mrs. Hammersley was that woman. The tattlers tell that the was won by her husband's money and not by her intrinsic worth, but her quiet devotion to him during her five years of married life is an argument they can neve t uch. Not many women, in moneyed New York, can boast of having $2,000,000 in her own for all; prohibition of the liquor traffic right, and yet Mrs. Hammersley has more than that in addition to her own physical charms.

THE IRISH RENTS.

SIR WM. V. HARCOURT SHOWS HOW THE GOV ERNMENT FAILED TO DRAL WITH JUDICIOUS RENTS-A CABINET DISCUSSION OF THE IRISH QUESTION.

LONDON, March 3.—A special cabinet meeting to consider the Irish situation was held to day. The session lasted an hour and a half.
London, March 3.—Sir Wm. Vernon Har court writes to the Times to show that the troubles in Ireland arise from the attempt of the Government to enforce the juyment of rents which their own land commission has declared the people are unable to pay. He quotes from the speeches of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and other Conservatives, made last year, in which it was admitted that if Parnell was able to prove all the premises of his Tenant's Bill the Government would be bound to attempt to supply a remedy. The Land Commission says the writer proved Parnell to be in the right, yet the Government, instead of bringing a bill to deal with judicial rents, proposed fresh coercive measures.

IS THIS 80!

A few years ago a little book fell into our hands, recounting the experience of a certain prominent business man, from which it appeared that, as with most Americans, too close attention to business had broken his health. The doctor said he could not live. He then stated that he used a certain article which effectually oured him, and "out of gratitude for his own recovery he determined to devote a portion of his fortune to spreading its merits before the world."

As we read it we said : This is evidently shrewd expression of a commercial motive; it sounds well: it reads well: but many people will not believe it.

In a few years, however, that man got famous the world over. He gave several hundred thousand dollars to astronomical research, and his name became a household word in nearly every home in the United States,

Joseph Cook, while lecturing at Boston on "Low Morals in High Places," declared that even within the social area over which the Prince of Wales reigns an preme, accusations of gross immorality had fallen, and no reply had been made, except that the dignity of respectable portions of society had been outraged. Mr. Cook went on to say, "I hope the day will come when some pure American actress will refuse to take dinner with the Prince of Wales." The audience applicated vigorous-The audience applauded vigorously; but in the midst of their cheers a hiss made itself heard. Thereupon Mr. Cook bridled up and, turning upon the hisser, asked, "Who is here that assumes the position of a spaniel of the aristocracy? Who is here that expresses himself in language belonging to one of the shallowest creatures, and opposes an effort to pluck innocent maidenhood out of the jaws of that Minotaur of lawless self-styled respectability, which is Act, and that we mean to join hands with all trac triends of genuine reform in putting the laws concerning person and property on the same level."

BOSTON IRISHMEM INDIGNANT.

The relations between the British and Irish charitable societies of Boston, both strong organizations, have hitherto been of the friendliest character, and an exchange of courtesies has been common. They are so no longer. At a meeting of the Irish Charitable society, of Boston, at Parker's on the evening of February 21, a communication was received from the British Charitable society inviting their Irish computriots to participate with them in the coming celebra-tion of the fiftieth anniversary of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne. As soon as the society could recover from the shock of the invitation, W. W. Doherty, a prominent lawyer, rose and offered a resolution, which was a curt declination of the invitation. Thereupon Thomas Flatly, one of Col lector Fitzgerald's deputies, took the floor and said that he would vote with pleasure for the resolution if it only were worded that the society indignantly and scornfully re jected the invitation. He offered a substi-tute empowering the Directors of the society to investigate the 50 years of Victoria's reign and report whether they had found one act of her's which entitled her to the gratitude of an Irishman. Mr. Doherty opposed this as ailly. Every Irishman already knew that "that woman never done anything for Ireland. There was, however, a vehement cell for something stronger than Doherty's resolution, and the result was a compromise, and the resolutions were made to devetail and coalesce in a manner which received the unanimous and hearty sanction of the society. The British Charitable Society will probably feel that it has been sat upon.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy acctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built and research and the second selections. may be gradually built up strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette."
