

New degree listings1. GraduateCarleton University

An M.A. in Soviet and East European Studies is now offered by the Committee of Soviet and East European Studies. It is interdisciplinary.

Memorial University of Newfoundland

An M. A. in Political Science is now available, including several courses pertaining to the study of International Relations.

Université du Québec (Constituante de Montréal)

Le Département de science politique offre une M.A. avec concentration en Relations internationales.

2. LawQueen's University

An LL.M. degree is offered by the Faculty of Law, with a concentration available in International Legal Studies.

3. UndergraduateUniversity of Lethbridge

A B.A. degree is available with a major in Comparative Politics or in International Relations.

Université du Québec (Constituante de Montréal)

Le Département de science politique offre un B.A. spécialisé avec concentration en Relations internationales.

Waterloo University

Renison College offers a B.A. degree in International Studies, in both honours and general courses. It is organized around offerings of the History, Economics, Geography, and Political Science Departments, and is available for Western and non-Western countries, but is primarily aimed at the study of Asia, Africa, and Latin America.