CZAR'S WIDOW IS SUING NEW YORKER

Lawyer's Fee Too High, She Thinks, and She Would Collect.

NEW YORK, March 10. (Can. Press.)—Princess Yurievskaya of Paris, widow of Alexander II, of czar of all the Russias, who was killed by nihilists in 1881, made application in the supreme court here today for an order directing Victor E. Garitz, a New York lawyer, to pay her $20,000 as a fee for collecting $22,500, and she considered $1000 ample. The court took the matter under advisement.

The princess is now 69 years old. She was the second wife of Alexander II, whom she married morganatically in 1880, a few weeks after the death of his first wife, who was empress and dowager, Duchess of Hesse-Darmstadt. The princess has lived many years in Paris, and is bringing her action thru a local attorney.

BUILT FOR SMALL-SIZED PARLORS.
The Heintzman & Co. Miniature Grand Peculiarly Adapted for the Average Modern Home.

A grand and only a grand piano is the choice of many home-builders. But size has been the barrier because of the trend in house-building to the small parlor. The old firm of Heintzman & Co., Ltd., 133-135-137 Yonge street, have overcome this difficulty by the manufacture of their miniature grand piano. This is a complete grand piano, possessing all the musical features of a single grand piano—tone, power, touch, and so on. It is only five feet four inches in length, a size convenient and appropriate to a small parlor. The Heintzman & Co. patent agraffé bridge, duplex scale, sustentano pedal, patent double repetition action and improved non-friction chest are all features of this very perfect and beautiful piano, the whole embodied in a beautiful art case. One of the choicest of these instruments is at present on exhibition in the firm's warehouses.

NURSERY

CONDUCTED BY E. CLINE MURRAY

Question and Answer.

I have a baby, a year old on the 8th. He is on the bottle and I would like to wean him. Could you tell me how to go about it? His present diet is: 7 a.m. a bottle of milk; 10.30, a rusk and three ounces of milk; 2 p.m., soup one day and egg the next; 6 p.m., a rusk; 10 p.m., bottle of milk. He won't let his bottle go whether there is anything in it or not, so I thought you would advise me what to do.

You are wise to discourage the bottle habit so early, because it is a habit that grows, and is very hard to break up after two years. But if you take away the bottle, you must substitute half solid food. Your baby is evidently ready for more food, or will make no so anxious to hold on to his bottle. I am glad you fed him regularly, and so exactly how much food he requires. I will give you a diet list that will do him during this second year.

When he is eighteen months old or older, you can begin to increase the amount of food, but you must make it a mistake if you keep strictly to these foods until he is two years old, then we can give another list for the third year.

6.30 a.m., 8 ounces warm milk or 6 ounces of milk and 2 ounces of well-cooked oatmeal or porridge, 8.00 a.m., 2 or 3 tablespoonfuls orange or prune juice, strained, 10.00 a.m., a rather more generous meal may be given, a tablespoonful of well-cooked farina or oatmeal. Give this from a cup with a dry toast complete this meal, 2.00 p.m., 2 tablespoonfuls of beef or chicken broth, a jellied egg, or a little scraped beef. Begin with a teaspoonful of beef and increase to a tablespoonful gradually. For dessert you may give a little rice, cooked three or four hours and a piece of dried oat bread, 4.00 p.m., oatmeal and milk, as at 8 o'clock in the morning, or rice and milk, or bread and milk, and a cupful of milk to drink, 10 p.m., a bottle of milk.

You will be careful, I know, in starting this new diet. Do not begin it all at once, but introduce each new food by degrees. It is necessary to give a young baby a large quantity of solid food. A great care must be taken in this respect, and careful consideration given to the cooking of oatmeal and rice, and the like.

I have no room today to add recipes for this diet list, but I shall do so tomorrow. I am glad, indeed, that you have been helped by the column, and I assure you, it is a very great pleasure to answer these questions. Never hesitate a minute to ask for help if you think I can give it. As to what to call me—that doesn't matter; but the baby at our house says it's "muddle."

Only tender, budding leaves grown at an elevation of 5000 feet are used in "Salada." The rest of the growth is done by ingenious, cleanly machines, hence the purity and strength of "Salada" Tea.

WASHINGTON PARADE

Mrs. L. A. Hamilton Told Equal Franchise League of Big Demonstration.

The Margaret Eaton Studio was all too small to accommodate those anxious to hear Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, president of the Equal Franchise League, relate her account of the suffrage congress and parade at Washington. Preceding her address, Mrs. Hamilton told of a letter she had received from Miss Wylie, the English suffragette, asking that the Canadian women be urged to get a declaration from Mr. Borden respecting their cause. Mrs. Hamilton then told of the Sunday meeting at Columbia Hall, Washington, where in less than half an hour $3000 was pledged to help defray the expenses of the pageant and for the work of suffrage. Men in Irish and Scotch kilts, and women, young and old, worked together for what they called freedom and liberty, rather than the vote for women.

During the meetings Mrs. Denison and Dr. Stowe Gullen spoke delightfully for Canada.

The great parade, far as organization was concerned, was absolutely without a hitch, and a man spectator described the appearance of the different beautiful groups as "beds of sweet peas," so dainty and attractive were the delightful pink, blue, white, brown and the rest. The marchers were in Irish and Scotch kilts, and were the delightful pink, blue, white, brown and the rest. Police protection was quite inadequate on the day of the parade, and which things were in readiness for the women and their children, well-instrumental in some discourtesy to the traveling suffragettes, and to show their repudiation of the act, asked permission to escort the procession thru their district.

MRS. CAMPBELL SPOKE ON WOMAN'S PARADE

At the meeting last night of the Beaches Progressive Club at her home on Balmsea avenue, Balmsea Beach, Mrs. F. J. Campbell, who has just returned from Washington, greatly interested the members of the club with a graphic description of the suffragette parade and riot in that city.

GIBSON SENTENCE WAS POSTPONED

No Judgment Given at Osgoode Hall on the Appeal Case.

Yesterday was to have been a day of activity in the courts, but for various reasons little was done. Charles Gibson, found guilty of murder, was to have been sentenced to death by Mr. Justice Middleton in the jury as an "ext-actory" employee, and Mrs. Hamilton described the dignity of the women as marvelous, and the conduct of a little group of young girls in Irish kilts, and the rest. The marchers were in Irish and Scotch kilts, and were the delightful pink, blue, white, brown and the rest.

WIFE WOULD NOT GIVE EVIDENCE

Prisoner Was Freed on Charge of Abusing His Baby.

JUDGE'S STERN REBUKE

"Man is the Only Creature That is Brutal to His Young."

In the dock in Judge Morgan's court yesterday sat a reckless man with a very low brow. On the witness stand stood a very small frightened man, nervously smiling at the rough-looking man in the dock. He was her husband and she would not give evidence against him, the gossip of the alley alleges that he deals with his wife and child as well as with their women. He was being tried on a charge of having branded her five-months-old child with a hot iron, and was charged with having hit and covered his body with bruises. The white-haired judge told the prisoner that he would have to find his wife and child well in future. If not—and there was a threat in the grim voice.

"If you are among those who think the onion is the rose of plants, boil a few small silver skins and arrange them with the broiled pepper garnish. If you like peppers at all, you will enjoy eating them fried. Have butter very hot in a frying pan and cook the peppers in it until each piece is a crisp, golden brown. Serve fried or baked tomatoes with this."

THE MINISTER'S REPORT

Hon. Dr. Pyne is Most Optimistic on Future of Schools.

The report of Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, for the year 1912, is the most optimistic in the history of the province and records a substantial increase in salary schedules as well as an increasing supply of teachers for all classes of educational institutions.

During the year 1912 there was expended $9,066,394 on the public schools of Ontario; $897,890 on separate schools, and $1,248,000 on high schools, with $252,080 expended on continuation classes, making a total expenditure for education by the province last year of $11,474,274.

The total population of the province in 1911 was 2,528,353. The pupils in elementary and secondary schools numbered 502,255, an increase of 7810. The daily average attendance was 312,624, or an increase of 6687. The total average cost was $20.61, or an increase of $4.79 per pupil.

One noteworthy fact is that in the rural schools the attendance is still on the decrease, while that in the urban schools is on the increase. In 1911, for the first time, there was a larger enrollment of pupils in urban schools, namely, 50.29 per cent. of the whole.

Great Improvements.
"It is gratifying to be able to report that the position of the elementary school teacher shows distinct improvement, both in respect to the grade of certificate held and the salary paid. In general it may be said that the salary tends toward a satisfactory solution, and the supply of certificate teachers is approaching normal."

In 1911 the average salary paid in all the elementary schools to male teachers was $767, and to females $518, showing increases of $56 and $35 over the previous year. Some counties exhibit greater enterprise than others, and in the County of Wentworth the average salary for male teachers is the largest in the province, viz., $618. York comes third with $604. The average salary in urban schools is $1153, and in rural schools $536.

There are 521 public schools in Ontario, 495 Roman Catholic schools, an increase of 11 over the previous year, 148 high schools and colleges, an increase of two for the year, 129 schools where continuation work is taken up, an increase of 24, and his Protestant separate schools, an increase of five.

Foreigner Sentenced.
Michael Norck, a Russian, was sentenced to two months in jail by Judge Morgan yesterday for ill-treating a 13-year-old girl of his own race.

If Bad Water Causes Diarrhoea Use Some "Nerviline"
Prompt Relief is Instantly Assured, and Thousands Use Nerviline on This Account.

A Traveler's Experience Related.
The experience of Mr. Norman P. Hendricks is not an unusual one. Writing from Prince Albert, he says: "My business calls me from one place to another, and I am frequently up against the bad water problem of the Canadian Northwest. In so many places the water disagrees with me, and I used to keep very miserable on that account. An old settler told me one day that there was a place to newcomers as Nerviline is so useful to me how valuable it proved to him under similar circumstances. I bought a box of Nerviline and would have believed how happy and comfortable my trips are since I learned to use it. I look upon Nerviline as my trusty friend, and give it a place of honor in my hand bag. In fact, I stomach that of being without it in a stomach trouble or digestive disturbance. To cure Neuritis, Earache, Toothache, or pain in your muscles like Rheumatism, you simply can't beat Nerviline."

To cure little ills before they grow big and to relieve the aches and pains of the whole family, get Nerviline today. Family size, 50c; trial size, 25c; at all druggists and grocers, or The Cataract House Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

THERE are many species of peppers; we are just awakening to this fact, but we have heard it all our lives.

It is the sudden influx of foreign cookery with its different condiments that has brought the various sorts of peppers to our notice. As they are mostly tropical and cannot be grown in open culture, it is not strange that we are just becoming acquainted.

The pimento is the smallest of the pepper family and when it blossoms its fragrance scents the air for miles. It is from this variety that the pepper of commerce is ground.

The bell or bull-nosed pepper is the one our housewives know best and they use it for stinging and pickling, but its taste is too acid for the average palate when it is put in a salad or cooked.

The California sweet pepper is ideal for cooking, this is an heritage from old pioneer days, the first of these Spanish peppers being planted by the missionaries.

The flesh is sweet, mild and pleasant and much esteemed by those who cannot eat the sharper chili peppers. They may be bought in cans, but are not less in price than the fresh California ones, and, like so many tinned foods, taste as tho they needed more air.

It is this sweet, pleasantly flavored Spanish pepper from which paprika is made. This condiment, by the way, is not hot at all, as cooks who have never used it like to think. On the contrary, it is a rich, mild seasoning that improves any dish that is commonly flavored with pepper.

When the seeds are ground with the pepper pod it becomes cayenne pepper. Most of this latter is made from the pepper berries that are ground by the natives of Natal.

When peppers are cooked rightly they are not peppery and sharp, but a prized delicacy.

Insist on having the California article, three large ones will serve four persons. Cut them in half and remove all the seeds. Cut in fourths or eighths, and carefully strip out every particle of the white, fibrous lining. This is what bitters and gives the hot taste.

If you want the dish very mild, cook the strips for two minutes in boiling water; if you want them a trifle sharp soak them in several changes of cold water.

Each strip may now be dipped in melted butter, or olive oil, and all placed on a broiler and cooked over a quick fire. Serve with meat balls or fried spring chicken.

If you are among those who think the onion is the rose of plants, boil a few small silver skins and arrange them with the broiled pepper garnish. If you like peppers at all, you will enjoy eating them fried. Have butter very hot in a frying pan and cook the peppers in it until each piece is a crisp, golden brown.
