

Halifax. The backwardness of the present summer is a source of general complaint. Up to June 1st. we have had but two or three days of fair spring weather. The improvement in the streets are prosecuting with much spirit; the formation of sewers through the town is commenced, and the reduction of some inconvenient and unsightly hills.

To Correspondents. A Communication Box is attached to the door of the office. The favours of H are received. A continuation of Lecture on Magnetism, of Review of Publications in Nova-Scotia, and a contribution of Sophos will appear in next number.

To the Public. Names of Subscribers would be particularly acceptable at the commencement of the present volume. The Magazine aims at being a means of dispensing general information, of publishing original papers, of preserving elegant extracts, and of forwarding public taste in every manner. Offences against morality are strictly avoided; its terms are unprecedentedly low. Those who deem it worthy of encouragement, and who are not subscribers, are requested to honour the list with their names in the present month. We return grateful acknowledgments to our many and increasing friends. Literary contributions will be highly esteemed.
