Porcupines Strong on New York Curb---Rea Mine Closed Down

DOME EXTENSION BID UP ON THE NEW YORK CURB

udden Rise to 68 Took the Breath Out of Toronto Brokers -A "Window-Dressing" Campaign-General List Showed But Little Change.

World Office, Monday Evening, April 8. To-day being a bank holiday thruout Canada the stock exchanges were closed in accordance with their usual custom, consequently the only dealings in the Porcupine stocks were put thru on the New York curb. In that market the only feature was Dome Extension, which recorded a sharp advance of about seven points to 68, and closed bid around that price.

Toronto brokers followed the course of Dome Extension in New York with a good deal of interest, but there was an idea prevalent on "the street" that the big advance in the stock was due to window description than to a more to window-dressing than to a real public demand. New York generally takes its cue from Toronto, and with the influence of the local exchange removed, it was held that brokers interested in bringing about a vice change removed, it was held that brokers interested in bringing about a rise took advantage of the opportunity to bid the stock up. Since there was very little selling in sight, owing to the accomplished.

There was undoubtedly mount of second and opportunity to the accomplished.

There was undoubtedly a certain amount of short covering in Dome Extension during the rally, but this was not, of itself, sufficient to account for the bulge in the price of the shares, which, as cited above, was accepted as more manipulative than anything else.

Outside of the advance in Dome Ex-Outside of the advance in Dome Extension, there was very little of in-terest in the transaction in New York, the majority of the gold stocks moving along in a decided rut, with no price changes of any consequence,

BEAVER PROFITS WERE $223.098

The directors of the Beaver Consolidated Mines have issued a pamphlet report to shareholders, giving results of operation to Feb. 29, when the company's fiscal year ended. The balance at credit has been increased since 1911 from $145,212 to $178,105. Profits for the year totaled $223,008, out of which will be held in Montreal, on paid, and $50,293 was written off for depreciation and other allowances. The net value of ore shipped was $385,513.

Development work is reported as have issued a pamphlet to Porcupine last November, and consequently has not yet had an opportunity to view the surface rock, owing to the snow covering. A very significant result of the past SIGNS OF SPRING Year's operations was the saving of 74 per cent. of the total gross production for net profits.

Altho a smaller amount of development work than usual was accomplished high-grade ore reserves were in-creased by about $250,000, while total reserves of all grades were swelled by almost $1,500,990 to $4,500,000, the greatest in Nipissing's history.

Prospecting was cut down materially last year owing in part to the delay in delivering the hydraulic plant. fact, it did not amount to more than 28 per cent, of the previous twelve months' efforts in this direction. Of its 846 acres Nipissing has a virgin territory remaining of about 270 acres.

FIRST GOLD RUSH

PORCUPINE, April 6.—(From Our Man Up North)—Perhaps a hundred men all told have left the camp this week on the first spring gold rush. Two localities are marked as the destination for spring prospecting—west of Bourke Siding on the T. & N. O., just north of Swastika, and 170 miles to the west of Cochrane on the Trans-continental. Various reports of enor-mous value are being circulated. Diamonds discoveries even figure in the accounts of the new finds.

There were all kinds of reports to-day regarding the growing winter wheat crop, the consensus of the same from east of the river not showing as great deterioration. In fact, as the weather becomes more seasonable, under conditions conducive to growth, there seems to be a beterment in the outlook in this latter section. In the deferred futures, crop reports will continue to be the influence, and further growing weather, in our opinion, is necessary to determine accurately the real status of the crop.
