

GRANT MANY EXEMPTIONS ON GROUND OF DISABILITY

Local Tribunals Have Quiet Day, With Most of Claims Based on Medical Examination Sheet, But Decisions in Some Cases Show Wide Differences of Treatment.

With the second day of the hearing of claims for exemption from military service before the local tribunals, members of the different boards began to feel that if there are many slackers in Toronto few have appeared before them as yet, to claim exemption.

The number of men who are not fit for service is a surprise, not only to the tribunals, but to all who have followed the work of the medical boards. The vast majority of claims for exemption are based on the medical examination sheet of the applicant, and the work of the members has been largely a matter of examining, till called the men of B, C, D, and E classes.

Employers who have appeared on behalf of their employes have received little consideration from the military representatives. Almost any man they claim can be replaced, and the military representatives have been informed that they are more needed at the front than in their specialized work at home.

The representative of one company, applying for exemption of a cost accountant, stated that another man could not be trained for his work in less than six months.

"But you could train a woman in two months," said the chairman. Urging the public service nature of the business, the man was checked by the military representatives with: "Your company cares as much about the public as a pig cares about astrology."

There is a variance between the consideration given men who are the sole support of widowed mothers. Some of the tribunals hold that if a woman is under 50 and normally healthy she can be her own support, while others readily grant exemptions.

Harold S. Littlejohn provided the only real excitement at the tribunals, when he professed his claims for exemption by a few terse remarks directed towards the press.

"First, may I ask if these young ladies are from the papers?" said Mr. Littlejohn.

"Yes, they are," replied Mr. Smyth. "Is their presence necessary?" continued the applicant.

"No, but it is more advisable and their presence here is a matter for the tribunal to decide."

As Mr. Littlejohn only had his personal feelings and his views on the subject as a reason for his objection to publicity, the subject was waived and the facts of his case discussed. According to his own statement, Littlejohn did not believe in war, and least of all in the part he should play in effecting its successful termination.

"I consider an act of greater importance to my family than to my country," said he. "That is for the tribunal to decide," replied Mr. Smyth. "Littlejohn's father is alive, he is not at the home, 953 Ossington avenue, having lived for some years in Jamaica. He still contributes to the support of the family, but there is the snow to be shoveled and the furnace to take care of, and Littlejohn does not want either his mother or his 25-year-old sister to have any such work to do. The applicant, according to the tribunal, would need to remember that he was only one in thousands who would be called upon to make sacrifices of this nature before the final suppression of the Hun. Littlejohn's salary is $1700 a year, and he contributes $500 to his mother.

"I think your people are in pretty comfortable circumstances in comparison to some homes," said Mr. Ross. After some further discussion the case was left over, Littlejohn dismissed, and before the morning session was over it was decided to refuse his application for exemption.

HEALTHIEST ONE IN THE FAMILY

No Sign of Dropsy and Kidney Trouble Since Taking "Fruit-a-tives."

HATTIE WARREN.

Port Robinson, Ont., July 8, 1915. "We have used 'Fruit-a-tives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with kidney disease. The doctor said she was threatened with dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives.' She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We cannot say too much for 'Fruit-a-tives,' and would never be without them."

WILLIAM WARREN.
