The Liberals know that many things cannot be explained still less defended, and the government is confronted with the difficulties in the way of recovering the money of which the country has been defrauded and of punishing the grafters. The road as projected was a vast political scheme. Where Does Grand Trunk Stand? Will the revelations absolve the Grand Trunk Paacific from its obligation to take over and operate the road at a rental of $14,800 per day? Perhaps not because the Grand Trunk was one of the contractors upon the National Transcontinental, and over-classification and general waste were rampant on the portions of the work under their control. Indeed, there could have been no large amount of grafting if the Grand Trunk officials had set their faces against it. But it is notorious that the Grand Trunk gave no aid to the Conservatives when the Hodgins charges, and later on, the section of the foreign colony mapped off for occupancy. Two machine guns have been smuggled into the British legation. It is said that several European governments have secretly sent officers and troops to this city for possible duty. The troops are disguised as civilians and are sworn to secrecy concerning their mission. Instructions are being circulated among the most prominent members of each foreign colony. If the situation reaches an acute stage, the responsibility of notifying their neighbors and getting into the "barricaded" zone will devolve upon the leaders.
