

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the tonic upon the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

SACKVILLE.

[Progress is for sale in Sackville by W. J. Goodwin.]

Feb. 23.—Last Wednesday evening a very pleasant party was given by Mrs. McLeod at the Farm. Thursday afternoon there was another of Mrs. Hutton's delightful five o'clock teas. Those present were Mrs. Borden, Mrs. J. F. Allison, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. McDougal, Mrs. Charles Pickard, Mrs. Ryan, Miss Black, Miss McLeod, Miss Thomas, Miss Cook, Miss Elhi Ogden, Miss Keith, Miss Stewart, Miss Roberts, Miss Emma Treman and the Misses Cogwell. Those unable to accept were Mrs. Carruthers, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Miss Wood, Miss Pickard, Miss Lathern, Miss Webster. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Hutton's niece, Miss Planchette and two young ladies from the college to say nothing of the help afforded by little Miss Edith Hutton and Miss Master Jimmie. It was rather cold and disagreeable day which made the contrast all the stronger as one stepped into the warm rooms where the red shaded lamp lent a soft glow to the tastefully arranged flowers and the pretty winter costumes of the ladies.

Friday evening the great social event of the season, the Seniors at home, took place. The class of '98 is a large one and has enrolled the names of Miss Annie Sprague, Miss Margaret Graham, Miss Louise Palfrey, and Messrs. H. A. Allison, G. G. Ayard, A. M. Bigney, D. F. Glown, H. Gieg, W. F. Hale, M. Hale, F. A. Bart, Chas. H. Johnson, G. R. Johnson, H. H. McNeill, H. H. Palfrey, B. J. Porter, W. Pugsley, H. B. Steever.

Something like one thousand invitations were issued and included people in St. John, Halifax, Truro, Moncton, Amherst and many smaller places along the line. All the students were of course present from the three institutions and Upper, Middle and Lower Sackville were well represented, about seven hundred guests in all. There were not perhaps quite so many strangers or old students as usual but the building was well filled. For days past dressmakers had been busy preparing pretty toilettes and wherever you saw two or three ladies with their heads together, it was safe to conclude the topic was "what am I going to wear."

The hosts had been equally occupied with most excellent results. The decorations which were arranged entirely by the class were most effective. The main entrance was festooned with red and white bunting, the class colors, and arched with evergreen. At the head of the stairs in a bank of green were the figures of red and white electric light globes, which cast a brilliant light over all. The halls were draped with flags and at least six parlors were in festive array for the numerous guests. The cards announced the affair would begin at 6:30 and very promptly at that hour most of the guests arrived. Ample dressing rooms were provided the only drawback being, that in one or two cases the mirrors were hung at a height convenient for a girl and the ladies who were not tall had to stand on a chair to give that last fascinating touch to their bangs. Out of the nineteen Miss Annie Sprague and Mr. Harry Allison were selected as host and hostess and very well they filled a somewhat trying position. They received in the parlor to the right; Mr. Fred Hart standing near by to hand each one a programme, after the handshaking was over. The programmes were attractive little book-lets, tied with the class colors and containing pictures of "Dr. Allison, the Centennial hall and the residence and also the music to be given in the Excelsior hall which was soon crowded with guests anxious to hear the opening number, a composition of Prof. Chisholm's for the school orchestra. Hardly had the beautiful dreamy strains ceased when the Moncton orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Watts began to play. The orchestra was situated under the stairs where it could be heard to great advantage all over the building and furnished intervals most becoming music. Their rendering of one piece an intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" is deserving of special mention. The platform in the Excelsior hall was prettily decorated with green and pictures which made a good background for the fair performers. Miss Jewee kindly gave "A Summer Night" by Ger-log Thomas, a great favorite with the music. cal. Her voice, while not powerful is sweet and his cultured, some of her lower notes being particularly well taken. Miss Jean Bruce favored the audience with one of her always popular violin solos and Miss Butcher received a warm recall for her humorous recitation. The young ladies glee club were down for "In Old Madrid" but I did not have the pleasure of hearing it. All who could socket in while these pieces were given and though I believe in the liberty of the press I found the crowd too much, and came to the conclusion that the class motto, "Paraspara, ad astrum," which was seen in green letters at the landing, must refer to the difficulty in giving a seat to hear the star performers; it was truly "through difficulties to the stars." A very pleasant position was in the upper hall where chairs were placed about the railing and you could look down on the kaleidoscope scene, watch the promenaders, that ever and anon surged up and down the stairs and see and hear everything. Some of the remarks were amusing. A man was heard saying to his wife "Now keep your eye on Mamie!" but unless her eye was like a revolving search light it is safe to say she did nothing of the sort. It was a great pleasure to see the young folks enjoying themselves, some walking all the time, others occupying the many snug corners where the light was not so brilliant. The arrangements for supper were very conducive to comfort it being served in the dining room from eight to ten. Thus every one got a seat and a chance to enjoy the good fare which consisted of brown and white bread and butter, turkey salad, chocolate and vanilla ice cream, cake and coffee. The guests were served by deit waitresses but many of the young men looked after their friends themselves.

There were many pretty and handsome toilettes, but it is manifestly impossible to mention all even if I had seen each individual. The young ladies of the college were visitors of loveliness, nearly all being in white airy dresses with masses of natural flowers; here and there you saw a pale pink or blue gown which in just sufficient color to the scene. Probably the most choice costume worn was that of Miss Howland, Lady Tilley's niece. It was a plainly made dress that fit like a glove, the square cut corsage trimmed with other fur bands and silver lace. As the young lady possesses a gracefully curved and beautiful neck and arms, her appearance was striking. The dress of Miss Sprague, the hostess, was extremely dainty and pretty. It was a sheer, flowered organdie, trimmed with narrow ruffles edged with green velvet ribbon, and she carried a large bouquet of red and white carnations.

Miss Paisley the other lady recipient who was present, wore a becoming gown of white chink silk with a bunch of red roses. The young men were in faultless evening dress, and made a fine appearance. Mrs. Borden wore black silk skirt with red shot silk waist. Miss Vroom, grey silk with white lace. Miss Jewee, black brocade skirt, green velvet waist cut low with pink ribbon. Miss Harrington, pink silk. Miss Johnstone, rose colored satin with catrich lace. Miss Ethel Ogden, grey and red shot silk. Miss McLeod, white muslin. Miss Webb, white silk. Miss Chase, pale blue silk. Miss Williams, fawn dress with white silk sash. Miss Williams, creamy grey and blue chills. Miss Black, black silk skirt and red silk waist. Miss Butcher, white with white satin ribbon decorations. Miss Bruce, white satin with red trimmings and red puffs. Mrs. Humphrey, grey and brown shot silk. Mrs. Andrews, black brocade satin. Mrs. Wood, black silk with pale blue. Mrs. Palmer, grey corded silk with pearl trimmings and natural flowers. Mrs. Ryan, black silk with green chiffon. Mrs. Triles, red corded silk with violet trimmings and natural flowers. Mrs. Emmerson, black silk with blue chiffon. Mrs. Ann D. Dixon, black silk. Mrs. W. Turner, black and mauve. Miss Brittain, white over blue. Miss Hazen, black and white. Miss Jennie Estabrooks, white crepon. Miss G. Towse, pink with green velvet trimming. Miss Alice Anderson, black with pink silk waist handsomely trimmed with pearl lace. Miss Ryan, fawn and green with pink chiffon. Miss C. King, cream cashmere. Miss McHaffey, cream with yellow daisies. Miss Gallagher, poppy red silk. Miss Parlee, cream color. Miss Poole, fawn and green. Miss F. Harris, white and red. Miss G. Ogden, drab crepon with blue and silver chiffon. Miss Emmerson, green and white muslin.

Among the strangers present whose names have not been already mentioned were, Mrs. Paisley, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lopp, Miss Harper, Miss Tait, Miss Julia Keith, Miss Sayre, Miss Roach, Mr. F. Roach, Messrs. Pugsley, Rev. J. Sellers, Rev. Mr. Johnson, Mr. Fullerton, Miss Thompson, Miss Fullerton, Miss Davidson, Miss Troop, Mr. Walter Black, Messrs. Douglas and Jardine of class '97, Miss J. Blair. This is considered one of the most agreeable "at homes" given; the frequent remark is "what a good time we had Friday evening!" and it has been truly said that the music alone was well worth going to hear.

The funeral of the late James P. Daniels took place on Saturday afternoon and was largely attended. The pall bearers were Messrs. Fred, Henderson, Colpitts, Fraser, Mowbray, and Chandler. A service was held in St. Paul's church of which Mr. Daniels was a faithful member and the remains were interred in Capt. McHaffey's lot in the Rural cemetery. The death of this young man was a particularly sad one. He had only reached his majority a few days before. He was an exemplary citizen and dutiful son to a widowed mother, to whom everyone extends utmost sympathy. The young man with whom Mr. Daniels was a great favorite sent a handsome white wreath and other friends sent in flowers. Mrs. Daniels is at present in Amherst with friends resting after the long five months nursing of her son.

Miss Jennie Black returned Saturday from Chatham where she has been visiting Mrs. Bunting Snowball. Mr. B. E. Peterson has returned from New York and states that Mr. Peterson's health is much improved and he will shortly be able to come home. There is great excitement in curling and hockey circles just now. It is strange that in the Sackville's curlers encounter with the Thistles it should be the curlers that feel pained. Saturday evening there was a lively scene when the curlers were playing one of the "medal" games. The rinks are narrowing down fast. So the interest was intense. Dr. Borden being victorious on that occasion they "bounced" him and for the space of ten minutes he was the most rising man in town.

A successful and enjoyable five o'clock tea for the benefit of St. Paul's church was held at Mrs.

J. F. Allison's Monday evening. A number from the colleges and academy were present. A small at home was given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Stewart. Among the guests were Miss Thomas, Miss Howland, Miss McLeod, Miss Chase, Miss Harrington, Miss Ogden, Miss May, Miss Sayre, and Messrs. Tweedie, Sprague, L. Harrison, F. Harrison, L. Crane, Fraser and Mowbray. Mrs. James Fraser left Tuesday for Sussex. The same day Mr. and Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Thomas Fawcett went to Moncton for the assembly ball.

Lady Tilley returned today to St. John for the approaching wedding of her son. She hopes to resume her studies in art in the spring. Mrs. James Dixon gave a party Monday evening. Mrs. Baker of Amherst, has been the guest of Mrs. W. B. Fawcett, Upper Sackville. Miss Alice Anderson, Upper Sackville, spent Sunday with the Misses King, quiet street. Miss Emily Roach, Nappan; was the guest last week of Miss Lulu Ford. Miss Sayre is visiting Miss Mundy at the Residence. Mrs. Chisholm who sprained her ankle last Saturday. Miss Poole the guest of Mrs. Andrews left Saturday.

Mr. Aubrey Smith has been off on a short trip. Mrs. Fred Rynas expects to leave Thursday for North Sydney. Mrs. Elsie Harper was the guest of Miss Fanny Harris for the "At Home." Miss Keith is visiting Mrs. C. Pickard. Miss Black will be leaving this week. The Misses McLeod of Queens Co. N. B. have arrived at students at the ladies' college. Mr. and Mrs. Bell of Halifax and Mrs. F. Robb were in Sackville on Monday. Mr. Geo. Fuller, Berwick, a former Mt. Allison student who was at the Senior's At Home, was on his way to the North West where he joins the mounted police. LADY OF SHALOTT.

ST. STEPHEN AND CALAIS.

Progress is for sale in St. Stephen at the book stores of G. S. Wall, T. W. Atchison and J. Brown & Co. In Calais at O. P. Tremblay. Feb. 23.—The cantata "B'leazzin" was repeated last evening in Calais, in the vestry of the Congregational church, which was kindly lent to the ladies of the entertainment committee of the Public Library for that purpose. The ladies of the Harmony club with the assistance of Mr. Bernard McAdam and several other gentlemen presented the cantata. Colonel and Mrs. E. T. Lee accompanied by their sister Mrs. Tarr visited Houlton last week and attended the grand military ball given in that town. The marriage of Miss Edith King to Mr. Dickerman Bates of St. Johnsbury Vermont, is announced to take place early in June. Mr. James Vroom visited St. John on Tuesday while in the city was the guest of Rev. W. O. Raymond.

The Fete of Flora the Goddess of Flower, the gorgeous spectacle of an entertainment, given in St. Croix Hall on Friday evening, was the most brilliant and attractive entertainment ever given in Calais, and was greeted by a large and fashionable audience, who assembled to see their sons and daughters, who were to participate in the many beautiful and intricate figures of the various dances. At eight o'clock the entrancing strains of orchestral music was heard, the curtain arose, and disclosed to the view of the delighted audience, the stage, magnificent with its festoons of thousands of roses, and the soft light of hundreds of coloured electric bulbs. The scene was a brilliant one, and in an instant called forth a spontaneous applause.

Then came the Queen of flowers, Mrs. Frederic F. Pitt, whose beauty, carriage and manner so well suited the part. She was robed in pink, profusely decorated with diamonds, and wore a tiara of diamonds on her head. She was attended by two pages. Masters Fred and Kenneth Young. Courtiers and ladies in waiting, whose brilliancy of raiment was artistic and dazzling. Then came the first offering of huge bouquets of roses to the Queen, which was a lively sight, afterwards the scene terminated in a most attractive dance full of graceful and intricate figures and movements. A song entitled "Pretty Little Daisy," by Miss Helen Phelan, a sweet little maiden of four summers, was a happy effort and delighted the audience. Then came the dance "La Violette" by ten little boys and who took an interest in all good works. He was a member of the Presbyterian faith and a thoroughly consistent man in every walk of life. He leaves a widow and three young children and a daughter by a former marriage, Miss Rose Clark, and Mr. Harold Clark who is now in Trinidad as a missionary. The funeral services were held from his residence on Monday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Rodgers of the Presbyterian church of Milltown. The funeral was largely attended.

Feb. 23.—St. John's Presbyterian church was filled this morning with a large congregation, gathered to witness the marriage of Miss Mary E. Humphrey, youngest daughter of the late John A. Humphrey, M. P. to Mr. Richard F. Klinegar of this city an event which has been looked forward to with great interest for some weeks past. Both the contracting parties are members of Central Methodist Church, but in consequence of the recent destruction of the church by fire the ceremony took place in St. John's which was kindly loaned for the occasion. The church was prettily decorated with palms, ferns, white hydrangeas, and calla lilies, and the seats reserved for the wedding guests were separated from the rest of the church by a broad band of white satin ribbon past which the ushers, Messrs. Percy Dickson, and W. M. Black escorted the guests to their places. The time fixed for the ceremony was twelve o'clock, and shortly before that hour Professor Watts, organist of Central Methodist church took his place at the organ, his choir filed into the choir seats, and the sweet notes of the Swedish wedding march filled the church, changing rapidly to "The Violets that Breathe O' Eden" as the wedding party entered the church. The bridegroom entered accompanied by Mr. Percy F. Dickson, and was almost immediately followed by the bride leaning on the arm of her brother Mr. W. F. Humphrey, and looking remarkably well in an elegant travelling costume of heavy cloth with sable, and hat of brown velvet trimmed with fawn ostrich tips. She was unattended, while the groom was supported by Mr. Percy Dickson. The ceremony was most impressively performed by Rev. W. W. Lodge, pastor of Central Methodist church, the soft tones of the organ which Professor CONGRUOUS ON FORMER P.A.S.

On Saturday morning the friends of Mr. William Henry Clark, were shocked to hear of his death which occurred early that morning. Mr. Clark had been ill since December with a most painful disease, and his death was not unexpected. In his death, our town loses a good citizen, one with a high sense of what was moral, temperate and right, and who took an interest in all good works.
