STOCK MARKET EXTREMELY ACTIVE BUT UNSETTLED

Breaks, Recoveries and More Breaks Were Orders of the Trade Tuesday.

New York, Oct. 14—An irregular opening soon developing into weakness, a vigorous rally at midday and another violent reaction in the afternoon summarized the kaleidoscopic changes of today's extremely active and unsettled stock market.

The break of the first hour, when speculative issues declined three to twelve points, was attributed to events over the double holiday, which was intensified by local labor disturbances.

Rallies during the mid session, which largely reduced losses and established several noteworthy high records, accompanied the slight per cent and then to fourteen per cent.

The sweeping setback later began when call loans jumped to twelve per cent and then to fourteen per cent, according to report on all industrial collateral.

Reversals of the last half hour carried steel, equipments and various specialties to lowest levels and impaired rallies elsewhere to one half to two thirds. The market closed in considerable disorder, with a weak tone.

Sales amounted to 1,755,000 shares. United States Steel suffered an extreme loss of about 3 1/2 points as it worsened, rallying only a fraction, but allied shares offered less resistance. New Maximums by General Motors, Stutz, Pierce Arrow, Packard, Ford and others were noted.
