The report received here on Thursday night in a despatch from Penzaace that a Liverpool steamer had gone ashore on Breacker Island, one of the Scillys, was untrue. The blowing off of steam and whistling by a steamship which was passing during a fog, and the firing of gunboats which were practising in the vicinity, gave rise to the report.

A despatch from Peshawur, Afghanistan, reports that that place was visited by a very destructive conflagration. Half
