

ARCHDIOCESE OF TORONTO

The ceremony of the laying and blessing of the cornerstone of the new St. Margaret's church, Midland, took place in the presence of a large assemblage of priests and people, many of the latter belonging to other denominations.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough, who had administered the sacrament of Confirmation to over eighty children at the last Mass, officiated at the ceremony of the laying of the cornerstone at 3 p. m. The cornerstone, which was of white marble, was brought from Palestine and was donated by Mr. D. L. White, of Midland, to the pastor Rev. D. Barolo.

The ritual of the Church was faithfully carried out. His Lordship was assisted during the sacred function by the Very Rev. Dr. Kidd, and Rev. Father Neault, S. J., of Watkinson. Rev. M. O'Neil was master of ceremonies. Immediately after the ceremonies the Rev. Dr. Tracey preached on the sanctity imposed on the House of God by the Real Presence. Father Lamarche gave the French sermon. Amongst the priests present, with Rev. Dr. Barolo the pastor and Father France, were the Very Rev. D. S. Dean Moyn, Barrie; Father Trayling, N. York; S. J. Father Ruisan, Father Geatin, H. Brunet, J. Sheridan, T. Redmond and P. Brunelle. A large congregation was present composed of people from the town and adjoining district many of whom were Protestants.

A generous offering was given at the end of the ceremony. The new church when completed will be entirely of white stone quarried in the neighborhood. Gothic in design and character it will be 110 feet long and 64 feet wide and will have a seating capacity for 1,100 people. The height of the steeple will be 105 feet. When the work is finished it will certainly be a credit to the zeal of the pastor Rev. D. Barolo and to the skill of the architect Mr. Siddall, of Toronto.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS

Editor Ottawa Citizen: The editorial Tuesday's Morning Citizen, headed "Public and Separate Schools," is a very good one. It is fundamental and very wide difference between the Public school on one hand and the Separate school on the other, must be apparent to every fair minded student of the situation."

"But other schools were formed. There are private schools, where those who can afford it pay high charge for special tuition. There are church schools, where education is under the charge of ecclesiastical officials or institutions. There are all manner of special schools, where particular things are taught in a particular way. And all of these schools are Separate schools."

The impression conveyed in the article is that Catholic Separate schools have no legal standing. Had the writer consulted the British North America Act he would have noted that these latter schools are on a solid foundation. Section 93 of the Confederation Act in remitting the control of education to the Provincial Legislature attached to the following conditions:

(1) Nothing in any such law shall prejudicially affect any right or privilege with respect to denominational schools which any class of persons have by law in the province at the union.

(2) All the powers, privileges and duties at the union by law conferred and imposed in Upper Canada on the Separate schools and school trustees of the Queen's Catholic subjects shall be and the same way are hereby extended to the Protestant and Catholic subjects in Quebec.

Other sections safeguard the rights of the minority so that they cannot be interfered with by the legislature of the province. It is now fifty odd years since I first introduced the Separate school Bill in the Upper Canada Assembly, and while political and other difficulties intervened to prevent its passage before the year 1867, yet it is gratifying to recall the fact that it had the support of leading non-Catholic statesmen who in their day recognized that children who combined religious instruction with secular education were more likely to become God-fearing citizens than the doctrines of Christianity were ignored, during the years when their intellects were readily impressionable.

The second reading of the bill was carried by a majority of the non-Catholic members. The division list shows that, excluding French Canadians and Catholic members, there was a majority of ten in favor of the bill. It is to be thought that in recalling recent events, I am forced to the conclusion that the present generation is not as tolerant of the rights of minorities as were their forefathers. It is not yet one hundred years since the Public school system was adopted in the United States, and in that interval there has been a marked shrinkage in the moral and religious characteristics of its citizens. It is estimated that over thirty millions of the people never enter a house of worship. In the mad race for wealth, frauds and over reaching of one's neighbor are of common occurrence. While the criminal statistics are proportionately in excess of other enlightened countries, a large percentage of the criminals escape punishment owing to the law's delays; and Lynch law takes the place of the courts. In France the expulsion of religion from the schools is producing a nation of infidels. In the British Isles, while the opponents of religious instruction in the schools have been an influential body, they have so far failed to destroy the denominational system of education. While the Confederation Act granted to the Protestants of Quebec equal privileges in educational matters to those enjoyed by the Catholics of Upper Canada, the legislature of Quebec has dealt more liberally with the minority in the aid given to higher education than has Ontario. Grants are annually made to the University of Bishops and other colleges. A normal school has been established for the education of Protestant teachers. The high schools at Montreal and at other points, under the management of the minority, have received government aid. In proof of these facts, let me quote the testimony of Mr. S. F. R. B. L. D., when after thirty years service he retired from the control of the normal school, where Protestant teachers were educated:

"I should do less than justice to leading politicians of all shades in this province if I were not to state my admiration of the attitude which they maintain towards education. During an association of more than thirty years with the public education of Quebec, an association which has repeatedly brought me a tutor on behalf of education into contact with men of influence of all political parties, I have found a universal desire for the spread of popular education, a willingness to listen patiently to the views of practical educators, a wide love of fair play for the educational rights of the minority, and a determination to hold the precious interest of education aloof from the turbulent arena of political party strife."

While the Catholic Separate schools receive their proportional share of the money voted by the Ontario legislature for education, there are other sources that contribute to the Public school fund in which the separate schools do not participate, as, for instance, in the school rates paid by corporate and other public bodies; though in regard to salaries the Separate schools are fully up to the standard of the Public schools. In view of the generous treatment awarded the minority in the province of Quebec, it would be a gracious act on the part of the wealthier province of Ontario to deal more liberally with the Separate schools of this province, particularly the supporters of the latter do not embrace the richer element of the population.—R. W. Scott.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY LINDSAY

The closing exercises at St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, which have been looked forward to each year with pleasurable anticipations by the pupils and friends of this splendid institution, were held June 21st, and the ceremonies more than sustained the splendid reputation of the academy has achieved in years past, as an educational institution of the highest rank.

The programme presented last evening was of a high order of excellence. Every number was a classic, the rendition of which demonstrated the superb education imparted by the teaching staff as well as the natural ability possessed by the performers. Space will not permit an extended reference to the individual numbers on the programme, suffice to say that the young ladies charmed the audience by their brilliant work.

A feature of the evening's exercises was the presentation of an A. T. C. M. diploma to Miss Grace McNeill of Fort William, Ont., graduate in music and gold medalist. This young lady is undoubtedly the most finished pianist ever turned out by the local institution. She possesses a wonderful natural ability, and her playing is characterized by such purity and clarity as to make it inspiring. The talented young lady has a brilliant future in the world of music and well deserved the encomiums bestowed on her last night. Her numbers during the evening were gems.

AN EDUCATIONAL FUTURE FOR LONDON

BISHOP FALLON PREDICTS GREAT THINGS AHEAD FOR THE PEOPLE
London Free Press, July 15
Bishop Fallon, of the Catholic Diocese of London, returned on Saturday evening from the annual retreat of the clergy at Sandwich. To The Free Press His Lordship gave a detailed statement of the circumstances leading up to the purchase of the Sunshine Park property, in the north end of the city, as a site for a seminary, and of the reasons for creating such an institution in this city.

A most interesting feature is the fact that the site, comprising fifty acres, is the gift of a benefactor whose name is not disclosed, and comes free of cost to the episcopal corporation.

SANOL

The new German discovery will positively remove Gall Stones, Kidney Stones, Gravel in the Bladder and will effect a complete cure. It will dissolve and remove all stones, and there is no necessity for an operation in the future, as Sanol will cure in every case no matter how long standing the disease may be.

Sanol will be found particularly valuable in old cases of Kidney and Bladder trouble, (Lithaemia, Uric Acid Diathesis), Sand, a preparation of herbs and extracts from plants, and contains no poisonous ingredients. Its use, therefore, cannot possibly harm either the Stomach or the Intestines.

"The second is my profound conviction of the great educational future of the Western Ontario peninsula, and my desire to take a part in that, and as far as I may, aid it."

"In the furtherance of these ideas I have had several sites in view during the past year or year and a half. I think Sunshine Park is the best of all the sites I have had under consideration. The option has been taken up and the property purchased."

AN ABSOLUTE GIFT
"This property is an absolute gift from an undisclosed benefactor of the Diocese of London to the episcopal corporation for educational purposes."

"I am not prepared to say when, or to what extent development will take place in the matter of building. We do open here next September classes in dogmatic and moral theology, canon law, church history, liturgy and holy Scriptures. We shall also hold the Palace and St. Peter's Hall, and shall not have more than twenty students for the first year."

"I purpose organizing at an early date a campaign throughout the diocese, and the result of that will determine how soon we shall commence operations upon the property called Sunshine Park."

"This whole scheme was outlined to the clergy of the diocese last Wednesday during the annual retreat at Sandwich, and nothing could exceed the enthusiasm with which the proposal was received. Promises of very substantial assistance were made to me, and each priest in his parish is to prepare for the visit of the Bishop, when the subject of St. Peter's Seminary is to be taken up before the people."

REGARDING WESTERN
Questioned regarding possible affiliation of the Seminary with Western University, His Lordship said:

"I would like to help build up the City of London and district. I want to do everything I can to help Western University, because I believe this district needs an institution of the kind, and London is the natural centre. To what extent this new seminary will be an aid in the development of the Western I am not prepared to say. But it cannot, at any rate, be of some assistance. While the main purpose in mind is to take care of my own people and educate priests for them, I desire to take as large a part as I can in the general development of London district."

"You people who have lived all your lives in this district do not appreciate the advantages God has given you. I have gone by rail or road over every section of the nine counties here, and I become more and more enthusiastic the more I see of the country. Education is the great builder, and it is in this conviction on that point that leads me to begin in this way, with the hope of being able to develop something that will be a source of pride to the citizens at large."

Reference was made by the clergy in the Catholic churches of the city yesterday to the seminary proposal, following up the Bishop's announcement at Sandwich.

THE WESTERN FAIR
September 6th to 14th, 1912
The management of this popular Exhibition will spare neither trouble nor expense to make it the best that has ever been held. A new and Art Building is being erected near the entrance to the grounds which will be the show place of the Exhibition, and will be filled with beautiful and expensive paintings for which very liberal prizes are being offered. This will help very materially the co-operation of exhibitors of other years in the Main Building. It is a most interesting feature is the fact that the site, comprising fifty acres, is the gift of a benefactor whose name is not disclosed, and comes free of cost to the episcopal corporation.

"There are two ideas that have been in my mind, and prompted me to come to the conclusion indicated," said the Bishop. "One is that it is the direction of the Catholic Church to our Bishops that priests, whenever possible, should be trained, as largely as may be, under their immediate supervision."

Minds are sometimes more impressed by the example of a faithful soul than by words of doctrine.
