Millinery, Mantles, and General Dry Goods,

WILL TAKE PLACE ON WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 14.

YOUR INSPECTION REQUESTED.

HUMOROUS.

"Better late than hardly ever," is a new and rather neat proverb by the Rochester

"Jack, what relation to you is that old gentleman I saw you with this morning?"
"Oh! not much; he's married to my grand-parents' only daughter."

A Jerseyman tells us his wife was kicked in the jaw by a mule. "Did it hurf her?" "Bless you, no; but the mule broke his leg, and had to be shot."

Dr. Johnson once silenced a female back-biter, who was condemning some of her friends for painting their checks, by the remark that it is a far less harmful thing for a lady to redden her own complexion than to blacken her neighbor's. "My boys," said a kind Oil City teacher,
"if you would be President of the United States you must be good and studious."
"Who wants to be President?" yelled out a young chap from a back seat. "I'd rather be Buffler Bill, and shoot an injun."
And the boys all chorussed, "Them's our sentiments."

"Sir," roared a man out in Nebraska, striding up to a neighbor, "Sir, you are a liar." "I am?" exclaimed the astonished neighbor. "How do you know I am?" "Because I know it; because I have found it out." "How long have you been living here?" "Six weeks." Neighbor, tranquilly nodding his head, "Oh, well, probably you do know it, then. I didn't think you had been in town so long." There was no fight.

Candid, Anyhow.—Youny Lady—"Do you understand music, Mr. Jones?" Jones—"Well, no, I do not; but I remember my music teacher telling me when I was young, that I would make an excellent musician if I could learn." Young Lady, "Why didn't you learn?"—"Well I suppose because I—I was so doosed stupid." Young lady thinks there is no doubt about it.

A very little boy had one day done wrong, and he was sent, after paternal correction, to ask in secret the forgiveness of his Heavenly Father. His offence was passion. Anxious to hear what he would say, his mother follownd him to the door of his room. In lisping accents she heard him ask to be made better; never to be angry again; and then, with childlike simplicity, he added: "Lord make ma's temper better too."

Some personal correction with the design of the foreign accents the heard him ask to be made better; never to be angry again; and then, with childlike simplicity, he added: "Lord make ma's temper better too."

Canadian Diplomas also been awarded Medal and Diplomas the little international Exhibition in Sydney, New South Wales, Australia.

On one occasion, while journeying through the White Mountain region, Professor Agassiz and his scientific companion, seated on the top of the stage, it is also all the life of the stage and part of the companion of the companio panion, seated on the top of the stage, irritated the driver by repeatedly calling to him to stop when they noticed anything botanically interesting on the road, and jumping down from their seats in order to obtain it. Professor Felton, who was with them, kept his seat during the whole ride, and tole the driver in explanation of their co-dnet that they were naturalists. On the next day, when the coachman had another load of passengers, he narrated to those near him on the box the strange freaks of his companions of yesterday. 2 Wing Ploughs.

Oiling a Ventriloquist.

A physician says he was going down the Mississippi some time since on a steamer whose engines were upon the deck, and he sauntered in the vicinity to see the working of the machinery. Near by stood a man apparently bent on the same object. In a few moments a squeaking noise was working of the machinery. Near by stood a man apparently bent on the same object. In a few moments a squeaking noise was heard on the opposite side of the engine. Seizing the oil can, a gigantic one, by the way, the engineer sought out the dry spot and to prevent further noise of the kind, liberally applied the contents of his can to every joint. All went on well for a while, when squeaking was heard in another direction. The oiling process was repeated, and quiet restored; but as the engineer was coming quietly around toward the spot occupied by the doctor and stranger, he heard another squeak. This time he detected the true cause of the difficulty. The stranger was a ventriloquist. Walking directly up behind him, he seized the astonished joker by the back of the neck and emptitied the contents of the can down his spine. "There," said he; "I don't believe that engine will squeak again." squeak again."

The Philosophy of Economy.

"I hez accidently l'arned," began Brother Gardner, as the meeting opened, "dat de local members of our club am makin' up a shake purse to buy me an ile paintin' as a present. I hope the skeme will step short. Not dat I woulden't preciate de kind motive of de givers, but kase it would be money frown away. I lib in a humble cabin. We hez got some stuffed green chars in de parlor, an' some chromeos on de wall dat cost two shillin's apiece, but it am no place dar for an ile paintin'. It would be just as much outer place in my cabin, and wid my surround's, as lace curtains ober a smokehouse winder. My green chars now harmonize wid my ingrain carpet; my chromeos doan' look bad 'long-side of a plaster of paris bust of Shakespere; my three-dollar clock hain't any to gorgeous for de chintz lambrequins which de old woman made. We are only ole slave folks up dar, but we know better den to w'ar seben dollars' worf of hat wid two

TESTIMONIAL.

I have been an inveterate stammerer for 40 years. I am now 45 years old. I never saw a worse stammerer than I was. I have tried all sorts of cures, but without success, until Tuesday last, I placed myself under Professor Sutherland's treatment, and now, after only two days' treatment, I am entirely cured. I can now talk and read with perfect ease, and I know that I will never stammer again. My address is Delaware P. O., Ont. ANDREW COLVIN.
